PREFATORY REMARKS

ON THE

RETURNS OF AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE

FOR THE YEAR 1853.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY EDWARD GRANVILLE, EARL OF ST. GERMAN'S, LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

In obedience to your Excellency's commands, I beg to lay before you the Returns of Agricultural Produce in Ireland for the year 1853. On the 30th January last I had the honour to submit a preliminary Return showing the gross extent of land under crops in each county in Ireland in 1852 and 1853. The following tables exhibit in detail the classification of holdings in 1853, the extent of crops cultivated, and the quantity of stock in the possession of each class of landholders, according to the Returns received from the Constabulary and Metropolitan Police, who, as in former years, and with their usual zeal and ability, acted as enumerators.

PART I.—CROPS.

In reviewing the more prominent facts contained in these tables, the first point of interest which presents itself is the alterations in the number of holdings. Number of Holdings.

Between 1852 and 1853 the decrease has been much less than for several years past, being only 4,859, or 0·88 per cent. on holdings exceeding 1 acre in extent: the reduction between 1851 and 1852 was 2·79 per cent.; between 1850 and 1851 it was 3·8 per cent.; and between 1849 and 1850 it was 4·22 per cent. The number of holdings for the periods referred to is as follows:— In 1849, 619,027; in 1850, 592,896; in 1851, 570,338; in 1852, 554,413; in 1853, 549,554. The decrease between 1849 and 1850 was 26,131; between 1850 and 1851, 22,558; between 1851 and 1852, 15,925; and between 1852 and 1853, 4,859.

The following table shows the counties and the number of holdings in each, for the years 1852 and 1853, in which there has been a decrease :—

Counties.	No. of Holdings exceeding one Acre in extent.		Decrease.	Counties.	No. of Holdings exceeding one Acre in extent.		Decrease.
	1852.	1853.			1852.	1853.
Antrim, . . .	22,404	22,209	195	Limerick, . . .	15,291	15,101	190
Armagh, . . .	21,978	21,858	120	Londonderry, . . .	17,487	17,277	210
Carlow, . . .	5,250	5,170	80	Longford, . . .	8,269	8,172	97
Cavan, . . .	20,360	20,088	272	Louth, . . .	7,693	7,485	208
Clare, . . .	16,832	16,746	86	Meath, . . .	10,897	10,655	242
Cork, . . .	34,527	34,097	430	Monaghan, . . .	19,338	19,119	219
Donegal, . . .	31,607	31,139	468	Queen's, . . .	11,294	10,960	334
Down, . . .	29,595	29,289	306	Tipperary, . . .	24,786	24,065	721
Dublin, . . .	6,818	6,741	77	Tyrone, . . .	29,150	28,947	203
Fermanagh, . . .	14,226	14,128	98	Waterford, . . .	9,220	8,991	229
Kildare, . . .	8,557	8,542	15	Westmeath, . . .	10,157	10,120	37
Kilkenny, . . .	14,510	14,053	457	Wicklow, . . .	8,045	7,837	208
King's, . . .	10,649	10,460	189
Leitrim, . . .	14,206	14,175	31	Total, . . .	423,146	417,424	5,722

The counties in which the largest decrease has taken place between 1852 and 1853, in proportion to the total number of holdings, are Kilkenny, Tipperary, Louth, Wicklow, Meath, and Waterford.

It appears that in the counties of Carlow, Dublin, Kildare, Westmeath, Clare, Fermanagh, and Leitrim, the decrease has been small; whilst in the four Connaught counties of Galway, Mayo, Roscommon, and Sligo, and also in the counties of Kerry and Wexford a slight increase in the number of holdings has taken place, as is shown by the following table:—

Counties.	No. of Holdings exceeding one Acre.		Increase.	Counties.	No. of Holdings exceeding one Acre.		Increase.
	1852.	1853.			1852.	1853.
Galway, . . .	32,414	32,762	348	Kerry, . . .	16,604	16,776	172
Mayo, . . .	31,915	31,954	39	Wexford, . . .	16,732	16,897	165
Roscommon, . . .	19,610	19,678	68	Total, . . .	131,267	132,130	863
Sligo, . . .	13,992	14,063	71

Classification of Holdings.

The classes of holdings, in the numbers of which these changes have taken place, possess considerable interest. The following is a statement of the relative number in each class in 1851, 1852, and 1853,—holdings not exceeding one acre being included:—

Classes of Holdings.		1851.	1852.	1853.
Not exceeding 1 acre, . . .		37,728	35,058	35,795
Above 1 and not exceeding 5 acres, . . .		88,083	81,561	79,418
" 5 15 "		191,854	182,308	178,701
" 15 30 "		141,311	139,136	138,864
" 30 50 "		70,093	70,079	70,297
" 50 100 "		49,940	51,389	51,764
" 100 200 "		19,753	20,436	20,774
" 200 500 "		7,847	8,044	8,117
500 acres and upwards, . . .		1,457	1,460	1,619
Total, including Holdings "not exceeding one acre," . . .		609,066	589,471	585,349

Between the years 1852 and 1853, as between 1851 and 1852, there was a decrease in all the classes "above 1 and not exceeding 30 acres;" in the next class, "above 30 to 50 acres," there was a decrease of 14 holdings between 1851 and 1852, whilst between 1852 and 1853 there was an increase of 218 holdings; in all the higher classes, however, an increase is shown to have taken place, viz., in the holdings from "50 to 100" acres, 375; in those from "100 to 200" acres, 338; in those from "200 to 500" acres, 73; and 159 in holdings of "500 acres and upwards." The total number of cottier tenements or holdings which do not exceed one acre in extent, have increased by 737 between 1852 and 1853. This increase is principally owing to a more accurate classification of several tenements throughout the country, and particularly in or near to Newtownards, in the county of Down, which had been overlooked by the enumerators in former years, and are now for the first time included in these Returns. As this is a class of occupiers to which much interest has always been attached in this country, a county list, showing the changes in each of the following counties between 1852 and 1853, is given below:—

Counties in which the No. of Cottiers have increased.				Counties in which the No. of Cottiers have decreased.
Counties.	Increase.	Counties.	Increase.	Counties.	Decrease.	Counties.	Decrease.

This abstract, taken from the foregoing table, shows the extent of the alterations in the number of holdings in each class between 1852 and 1853 :—

In holdings above 1 and not exceeding 5 acres, the decrease was 2,143
 " above 5 " 15 " 3,607
 " above 15 " 30 " 272
 Decrease, . . . 6,022

In holdings not exceeding one acre the increase was . . . 737
 " above 30 and not exceeding 50 acres, the increase was 218
 " above 500 acres, . . . 159

Increase, . . . 1,900

Total Decrease, . . . 4,122

It may be necessary to remark that many of the farms now returned as "above 500 acres," have been raised to this class since 1852, not by the union of farms of a smaller class, but by the addition of tracts of land hitherto returned as untenanted "bog and waste;" and as this process of adding mountain tracts to farms goes forward,—encroaching on the present system of grazing in common,—the class of large farms may gradually increase without causing much diminution in the number of smaller holdings.

As this country seems to be approaching a period when the extraordinary changes in the division of land which have been in progress for several years past, are likely to cease to a large extent, it may be interesting to carry back our comparison, so far as the previous returns will admit,—the highest classification adopted previous to 1851 being "above 30 acres." The following returns show the number of holdings in each class from 1849 to 1853:—

1849,	31,989	98,179	213,897	150,120	156,960	651,145
1850,	35,326	91,618	203,331	145,380	152,567	628,222
1851,	37,728	88,083	191,854	141,311	149,090	608,066
1852,	35,058	81,561	182,308	139,136	151,408	589,471
1853,	35,795	79,418	178,701	138,864	152,571	585,349

Thus, since 1849, the holdings "above 1 and not exceeding 5 acres" in extent, have decreased 18,761; those "above 5 to 15 acres," 35,196; those "above 15 to 30 acres," 11,256; and those "above 30 acres," 4,389, making together a total decrease of 69,602 holdings within 5 years. In the class of "1 acre and under," there has been an increase within the same period of 3,806 holdings.

Extent of Crops.

The entire breadth of land under crops in 1853 was 5,696,951 acres, which is less by 42,263 acres than that in 1852; and the extent in 1852 was less by 119,737 acres than in 1851.

The following table gives the names of the counties in which a decrease has taken place in the quantity of land under crops, comparing the returns of 1852 with those of 1853:—

In 1852 the counties of Clare, Donegal, King's, and Londonderry, showed an increase in the extent of cultivation; in 1853 they exhibit a decrease. Clare between 1851 and 1852 increased 4 per cent., and decreased 3·3 per cent. between 1852 and 1853. Donegal showed an increase between 1851 and 1852 of 4·1 per cent; and between 1852 and 1853 a decrease of 0·3 per cent. In the King's County the extent of cultivation in 1851 and 1852 was very nearly the same; but in 1853 it was less by 5 per cent. than in 1852. The counties of Antrim and Londonderry show a singular steadiness of condition in this respect: in 1851 the extent of tillage in Londonderry was 175,134 acres; in 1852 it was 175,785; and in 1853 it was 174,837. In Antrim the extent in 1851 was 236,147 acres; in 1852 it was 236,377; and in 1853 it was 236,510.

The succeeding table shows the counties in which the extent of cultivation has increased:—

It is deserving of observation, that the table containing the counties in which cultivation has decreased, comprises every county in the province of Leinster, four out of the six counties in Munster, but not one of Connaught, and only three out of nine in Ulster. Subjoined is a summary of the two foregoing tables, by provinces:—

	Extent of Tillage in 1852.		Extent of Tillage in 1853.
	Acres.		Acres.		Acres.
Leinster, . .	1,747,632		1,683,599	Decrease,	64,033

Total, . .	5,739,214		5,696,951	Decrease,	42,263

On the next succeeding page a table is given which shows the different crops affected by these changes.

The following table shows the extent of each crop cultivated annually in Ireland since 1849:—

The general tendency since 1847 has been to reduce the extent of cereal crops, and to increase that of green crops. In 1847, when these agricultural inquiries commenced, and in which there were only 284,116 acres of potatoes cultivated in Ireland, the proportion of cereal to green crops was $4\frac{1}{2}$ acres to 1, whereas in 1853 it was, according to the Returns, about 2 to 1.

The succeeding table shows the extent of each class of crop cultivated in each county in 1852 and in 1853:—

Upon examining the foregoing table, it will be found that the extent of the corn crops was less in 1853 than in 1852 in all the counties, with the exception of Galway, Mayo, and Sligo; potatoes increased in every county with the exception of Down, Cork, and Waterford, and the counties of Carlow, Dublin, Kildare, Kilkenny, Louth, Meath, Queen's, Wexford, and Wicklow; it is remarkable, that the counties which show a diminished breadth of potatoes have all increased the extent of turnips; and the counties of Longford, Tipperary, Limerick, Armagh, Cavan, Donegal, Londonderry, Monaghan, Tyrone, Galway, Roscommon, and Mayo, have also extended the cultivation of turnips as well as potatoes. No change of importance has taken place in the extent of "Other Green Crops." The increase in the flax crop is principally confined to the province of Ulster. The figures in the last columns, "Meadow and Clover," present a singular uniformity; the total extent in 1852 was 1,270,713 acres, and in 1853 it was 1,270,742, the difference being an increase of only 29 acres.* The following table shows the changes in the principal crops in each province:—

The proportion of green crops to cereal crops on the whole of Ireland was, in 1853, one acre of the former to two of the latter; the following is the proportion in each province according to the Returns received:—

Leinster,	1 to 2·64
Munster,	1 to 1·67
Ulster,	1 to 2·16
Connaught,	1 to 1·46

* Although the total quantity of meadow in 1852 and 1853 so closely approximates, the extent in each province exhibits considerable differences; thus, in the province of Leinster there was a decrease of 4,161 acres—in Ulster, of 2,586—and in Connaught, of 1,608—making together a decrease of 8,355 acres, but in the province of Munster there was an increase of 8,384.

These tables, when compared with the corresponding tables in the Remarks on the Returns of 1852, show that the decrease in the extent of cereal crops before observed has extended over every class of farm, and that the increase in green crops and flax has, in like manner, extended over every class.

The following tables have been compiled to show the entire extent of land held by each class of occupiers, also the proportion of tillage-land, grass-land, fallow, woods, and bog and waste, in the occupation of each class in 1853,

From these tables it will be seen that the greatest extent of land is in the hands of farmers holding between 50 and 100 acres—the total area of this class being 3,855,960 acres, which is thus divided:— $29\frac{5}{10}$ per cent. is under tillage, $51\frac{1}{10}$ in grass, $\frac{6}{10}$ in fallow, $1\frac{1}{10}$ under wood, and $17\frac{3}{10}$ is bog or waste. The class next in extent comprises the landholders of between 100 and 200 acres, who together occupy 3,197,239 acres; in this class the proportion of tillage is $21\frac{5}{10}$ per cent.; the grass is $52\frac{5}{10}$ per cent.; and the bog or waste is $23\frac{4}{10}$ per cent.; the proportion of grass land in this class is above that in any other—the relative extent of which has increased in each ascending class to this; but in the two next higher it decreases, in consequence of the great extent of “bog or waste” which enters into the classes of farms “above 200 to 500 acres,” and “above 500 acres;” in the former this is 36 per cent., and in the latter it is $64\frac{3}{10}$ of the entire area belonging to each class.

To the above table a column, showing the average extent of the holdings, has been added. The results present a remarkable instance of how near an approach may be made to the truth by general averages, without computing minute particulars; thus the average size of the holdings above 1 to 5 acres, obtained by dividing 79,418 (the number of holdings) into 275,725 (the extent of land held by the class) is shown in the table to be 3A. 1R. 35P., being nearly the mean of 1 and 5. In the next class, above 5 and not exceeding 15 acres, the average is 10A. 35P., almost exactly the mean of 5 and 15; and so with the other classes.

The total area of Ireland, as taken from the Ordnance maps, is 20,808,271 acres, which includes 630,825 acres of water; this being deducted from the foregoing total, reduces the land area to 20,177,446 acres. The total area given in the above table of holdings is 20,189,984 acres, differing only 12,538 acres from the true area, which will be admitted to be a very close approximation, when it is considered that the entire area accounted for in these tables is the combined result of information furnished voluntarily by 585,313 occupiers of land in this country, and collected by 3,875 enumerators; and it may be remarked, that this excess ought to be reduced by the number of acres contained in the “intakes” at Lough Swilly and Lough Foyle, and on the coast of Wexford—

A copy of the Form on which the Rates of Produce are collected in the Constabulary districts, is given in the Appendix at page xlv.

The rates of produce of every crop in 1853, with the exception of oats, exceeded those of any previous year since 1847. The following table gives the average rate of produce in Ireland of the principal crops, per statute acre, for the past seven years :—

	1847.	1848.	1849.	1850.	1851.	1852.	1853.
Wheat, per barrel of 20 stones,	6·6	4·5	5·3	4·4	5	5·5	5·8

Turnips, tons,	15·5	14·3	16·1	15·7	15·9	15·9	16·4

The summary table at page xxxiii gives the average rates of produce in each county, from 1847 to 1853.

The gross amount of produce of wheat was 34,639 barrels less in 1853 than Quantity of in 1852; oats decreased 1,634,530 barrels within the same period; and bere Produce. and barley increased 135,457 barrels. Upon the entire of the cereal crops there was a decrease in the produce, between 1852 and 1853, of 134,942 tons; in potatoes there was an increase of 106,138 tons. The following table shows the produce of the principal crops during the last five years:—

When computing the average produce per head in the foregoing tables, the population of the towns of Belfast, Cork, Dublin, Galway, Kilkenny, Limerick, and Waterford have been excluded from the calculation.

As heretofore, six counties have been selected which produced the greatest proportion of cereal crops to each inhabitant, and six which produced the smallest proportion. The highest class contains the counties of Wexford, Kildare, Meath, Kilkenny, Louth, and Carlow. In the lowest class are found the counties of Roscommon, Sligo, Clare, Mayo, Leitrim, and Kerry. The following table shows the average produce per head for each of these counties:—

Highest.		Lowest.
	lbs.		lbs.
Wexford—cereal produce per head,	1,351	Roscommon—cereal produce per head,	538
Kildare, . . .	1,279	Sligo, . . .	535
Meath, . . .	1,235	Clare, . . .	529
Kilkenny, . . .	1,155	Mayo, . . .	477
Louth, . . .	1,154	Leitrim, . . .	429
Carlow, . . .	1,082	Kerry, . . .	324

In the highest class the order of the counties has changed since 1852, but the only alteration in the names is, that Carlow has taken the place of the Queen's County. In the lowest class there has been a slight variation in the order, but the counties are the same as in 1852.

The undermentioned twenty Poor Law Unions have been selected upon the same principle, viz. :—

Highest.		Lowest.
	lbs.		lbs.
Dunshaughlin—cereal produce per head,	1,712	Clifden—cereal produce per head,	313
Athy, . . .	1,703	Dingle, . . .	307
Enniscorthy, . . .	1,609	Glenties, . . .	280

Navan, . . .	1,347	Cahersiveen, . . .	259
Balrothery, . . .	1,340	Skull, . . .	237
Downpatrick, . . .	1,330	Kenmare, . . .	181
Gortin, . . .	1,304	Castletown (co. of Cork), . . .	93

The Unions in the highest class are the same as in the list for 1852, with the exception of Castletowndelvin and Croom, which have fallen from this list, and their places have been taken by the unions of Gortin and Thomastown. The unions of Killarney and Galway have risen out of the list of the lowest class, and the unions of Glenties and Westport have taken their places.

Weeds.

In considering the comparative state of agricultural produce in the several counties the lamentable extent to which the growth of weeds and the shedding of their seeds is permitted in Ireland, not only in the fields, but also on the sides of the highways, railways, and canals, which must painfully strike every observant person, suggested the idea that some good might arise if public attention were drawn to the degree of comparative care or negligence prevailing in this respect in the different districts of Ireland; and a form of Return, classified under four heads, was accordingly prepared, for procuring information on this subject, in as uniform a manner as possible.

For a copy of this form, together with the instructions for filling it, see Appendix, page xliii.

The general result of this inquiry, as regards farms, shows that the area of those in the condition described in the 1st class, comprise 25 per cent.; the 2nd class, 39 per cent.; the 3rd class, 24 per cent.; and the 4th class, 12 per cent. In reference to roads, it appears that, omitting the townlands not intersected by roads, there are 24 per cent. in the 1st class, 28 per cent. in the 2nd class, 19 per cent. in the 3rd class, and 29 per cent. in the 4th class. The following table shows by classes the proportion per cent. of farms and roads in each province, as regards their relative freedom from weeds:—

	Farms.				Roads.

The table at page 220, from which the following observations have been compiled, gives the number of acres in each class and the proportion per cent. for each county.

The counties in the following table are numbered according to the state of the FARMS, with regard to their comparative freedom from weeds, as indicated by the proportion per cent. of each in the 1st and 2nd class:—

1. Dublin.	7. King's.	13. Westmeath.	18. Monaghan.	23. Carlow.	28. Leitrim.
2. Louth.	8. Meath.	14. Fermanagh.	19. Cork.	24. Cavan.	29. Sligo.
3. Kildare.	9. Limerick.	15. Antrim.	20. Waterford.	25. Galway.	30. Donegal.
4. Queen's.	10. Tipperary.	16. Armagh.	21. Wicklow.	26. Longford.	31. Mayo.
5. Wexford.	11. Kilkenny.	17. Tyrone.	22. Rosecommon.	27. Clare.	32. Kerry.
6. Down.	12. Londonderry.

The following is a similar table, indicating the comparative condition of the ROAD SIDES in each county:—

1. Dublin.	7. Kildare.	13. Limerick.	18. Kilkenny.	23. Rosecommon.	28. Donegal.
2. Louth.	8. Waterford.	14. Wicklow.	19. Wexford.	24. Sligo.	29. Leitrim.
3. Down.	9. Londonderry.	15. Galway.	20. Carlow.	25. Tipperary.	30. Cavan.
4. Fermanagh.	10. Meath.	16. Queen's.	21. Kerry.	26. Westmeath.	31. Longford.
5. Antrim.	11. Tyrone.	17. King's.	22. Mayo.	27. Clare.	32. Monaghan.
6. Cork.	12. Armagh.

It is worthy of remark, that of the six counties which present the largest amount of produce in proportion to their inhabitants, four rank amongst those most free from weeds, viz., Louth, Kildare, Wexford, and Meath, but Kilkenny and Carlow are exceptions to this rule. And it is also remarkable that of the six counties lowest in produce, five are also in the lowest class as regards weeds, viz., Clare, Leitrim, Sligo, Mayo, and Kerry.

The condition of the road sides as to weeds does not differ considerably from that of the farms in the several counties,—Fermanagh, Antrim, Cork, and Waterford, are creditable exceptions, being only 14, 15, 19, and 20, in the farm list, whilst they rank, 4, 5, 6, and 8, in respect to the road sides. On the other hand, Wexford, Tipperary, Westmeath, and Monaghan, which stand, 5, 10, 13, and 18, as respects farms, sink down to 19, 25, 26, and 32, in the road side list.

Under the head "Remarks" much interesting though painful information has been given, telling of utter neglect and carelessness, and this not only by farmers, but by some of those whose duty it is, as public servants, to see that such injurious nuisances are not permitted to exist upon any of the roads entrusted to their care and superintendence; the indolent farmer, as an apology for his neglect, declaring, and not without some degree of justice, that it is useless for him to clean his land whilst his fields are poisoned by the seeds of thistles, docks, and rag-weed, &c., nurtured upon the adjoining farms and highways. It is to be hoped that public opinion and self interest will ere long excite a war of extermination against "weeds" of every kind in Ireland.

The extent of land under flax in 1853 was 174,579 acres; the quantity Flax grown was 43,862 tons, computed according to the Returns of produce upon an average rate of $40\frac{2}{10}$ stones per acre.

The following table gives the breadth of flax cultivated in each county during the last five years, showing the increase or decrease between 1852 and 1853:—

It will be seen by this table that the quantity of flax grown out of Ulster is yet of very limited extent; and although there was, on the whole of the provinces of Leinster, Munster, and Connaught, an increase of 2,438 acres over 1852, yet it will be observed that eight counties of these provinces exhibit a decrease, and that the cultivation of this crop in them was less by 858 acres than in 1851.

The number of scutching mills in Ireland in 1852 was 956; in 1853 it had increased to 1,056. The principal increase was, as might be expected, in the province of Ulster. Decreases occurred in the counties of Louth, Westmeath, Wexford, Tipperary, and Sligo.

Scutching Mills.

The following table shows the counties in which the changes in the number of mills took place:—

The mill referred to in Louth, in the "Decrease" column, is reported "not now used, nor will it be;" that in Sligo "was burned by an incendiary, and it is thought the owner will not expend any more money on it." The report on the Tipperary mill is, that "the machinery was sold by auction, and the owner has gone to Australia." The two in Westmeath are said to have been "broken up."

The subjoined table gives the number of scutching mills in each county, classified according to the number of stocks or handles in each:—

PART II.—STOCK.

The Returns for the year 1853 show a larger increase in the quantity of stock over those of 1852 than has occurred in any previous year—when compared with that preceding—since these inquiries commenced. The following table gives the number of stock in each class in 1852 and 1853, and their comparative increase or decrease:—

POULTRY,	8,175,904	8,660,738	484,834	—

The total increase in horses was 14,697, that in the number under one year old being 8,955. Cattle increased 288,242, a very large proportion of which (121,784) was also in those under one year old. The increase in sheep was 528,713; pigs, 72,287; goats, 17,738; and poultry, 484,834.

The following table shows the number of each description of stock in Ireland in 1841, and in each year from 1849 to 1853:—

By the foregoing table it appears, according to the Returns received, that Connaught has added more to its wealth in stock in proportion than any other province, its increase being equal to $11\frac{6}{10}$ per cent. on the stock of 1852; Munster, $9\frac{3}{10}$; Leinster, $8\frac{7}{10}$, and Ulster $7\frac{7}{10}$.

The following table shows the increase per cent. in each county between 1852 and 1853, the names being arranged according to their respective rates of increase.

The increase in the value of stock between 1852 and 1853, on holdings above one acre, amounts to £2,757,092, and is spread over the following classes of landholders, in the proportions stated :—

		Increase.	Increase in the Average Value of Stock per Holding.

On holdings above 1 and not exceeding 5 acres, Decrease. £873

It will be seen that the foregoing tables do not include the stock in the hands of persons whose holdings do not exceed one acre, nor of those who do not occupy land; the value of the stock in the hands of these persons in 1852 was £452,536, and in 1853 it was £385,933, showing a decrease of £66,603.

In drawing attention to the great increase in the quantity of stock in Ireland, between 1852 and 1853, it is necessary to observe, that the Returns for 1853 were taken nearly eight weeks earlier than those for 1852; and there is no doubt, that during the months of August and September (the period referred to) in 1853, a large reduction took place in the quantity of stock, owing to the ordinary consumption, and the exportation to England; we ought, therefore, to know what that reduction was, in order satisfactorily to adjust the comparison between the stock at the respective periods; and though it is most desirable to complete the Returns at as early a period of the year as possible, these facts show that it is of the next degree of importance that they should be collected as nearly about the same date as circumstances will permit. Another result of making the inquiries at uncertain periods is, that a quantity of the stock is found in different localities; for as winter approaches, much of that on grazing farms is gradually removed into the dairy yards in towns, and is thus transferred from the farming to what may be termed the "cottier class," and there is little doubt but that the diminished value of stock in the hands of this class in 1853, when compared with 1852, is to a great extent owing to the inquiries of 1852 not having been authorized by the Government to be undertaken until a later period of the year.

It will be gratifying to your Excellency to observe that these Returns contain abundant evidence to show satisfactorily that the condition of the agriculturists in this country is steadily improving, and also to indicate the comparative annual rate at which this improvement has progressed—the total value of the stock in 1849 was £25,692,616; in 1850, £26,951,959; in 1851, £27,737,393; in 1852, £29,154,229; and in 1853, £31,844,718; which gives an increase per cent. per annum as follows:—In 1849 it was $3\frac{1}{10}$ per cent. over that in 1847;* in 1850, $4\frac{8}{10}$ over that in 1849; in 1851, 3 per cent. over that in 1850; in 1852, $5\frac{2}{10}$ per cent. over that in 1851; and in 1853, $9\frac{2}{10}$ per cent. over that in 1852;—facts which cannot fail to be most gratifying, and to afford deep cause of thankfulness to every well-wisher of the country, more especially when we reflect upon the gloomy seasons of distress and suffering from which, owing to the merciful dispensations of an omnipotent Providence, the interests, not only of the agricultural, but of almost every class in Ireland, have so recently emerged.

In conclusion, I think I may congratulate your Excellency upon the success which has attended these inquiries in Ireland, which were commenced in 1847, by the directions of Lord Clarendon, under the able superintendence of Colonel Larcom, and since then continued from year to year—a success which is highly creditable to the intelligence and good feeling of all classes in the country from whom the inquiries are made; and though it may be objected that much of the information is not perfectly accurate, yet an experience of four years has satisfied me that the Returns, which contain the results of inquiries, by 3,300 enumerators, from more than 500,000 persons, afford a valuable approximation to the truth, and are each year becoming more accurate and satisfactory; and as evidence of their admitted utility, the information which these Returns have been found to contain is now felt to be of so much national importance, that somewhat similar Returns have recently been ordered, by Her Majesty's present Government, to be collected for England and Scotland.

I have the honour to be, my Lord,

Your Excellency's very faithful servant,

WILLIAM DONNELLY,

Registrar-General.

EDWARD SINGLETON,
Secretary.

AGRICULTURAL INQUIRY, 1853.

RATES OF PRODUCE.

 _____ County.

MEMORANDUM EXPLANATORY OF THE ANNEXED RETURN.

THE Government being desirous of ascertaining the quantity of food produced in Ireland during the present year, have directed returns to be collected, showing the extent of land under each description of crop. In addition to the information which these returns will contain, it is necessary to know, as nearly as can be ascertained, the quality of each crop respectively. To accomplish this object the annexed blank form of return has been prepared. In this Return each crop is divided into classes, and a value has been given to each class; thus, in the Wheat crop, the First Class is set down at "above 9;" Second at "from 6 to 9;" the Third at "from 4 to 6;" the Fourth at "from 2 to 4" and the Fifth under 2 barrels of 20 stones to each statute acre. In the First Class a blank is left to be filled by the person making the report, with the highest rate of produce known in the Constabulary District.

In the next column is to be shown the mean produce of the class within the assigned limits. Upon the first view it might appear that the mean of 6 and 9 being $7\frac{1}{2}$, that this would be the proper number to insert in this column as the probable produce of Wheat within the Second Class, but if the lower quantities within the class, that is, 6 and 7 barrels to the acre, are of the greater extent within the District, the true average of the class will be below the common mean of 6 and 9; and the reverse of this may also occur if the greater extent of crop should range between 8 and 9 barrels; it is for these reasons that the mean rate of produce in each class is left to be filled up by the local observer, according to circumstances.

To facilitate the calculation hereafter, it is requested that the proportionate extent of each crop be given in tenths; and it is to be distinctly understood that these proportions, so far as this report is concerned, have no reference whatever to the number of acres of the crop, as the proportion may be the same whether there be 1,000, or 100,000 acres cultivated, only observing that the number of tenths in each class when added together should make TEN.

The quantities of produce in this return are given for STATUTE acres, which in some cases may cause additional trouble; but as the produce of an Irish acre may be readily changed into that of a Statute acre, by multiplying the quantity by 30, (more nearly $30\frac{1}{4}$), and dividing the result by 49, it is hoped, when inconvenience is felt, it may be readily overcome.

Registrar-General.

STATEMENT as to the management of Farms in the above Sub-District, in reference to cleaning them of weeds, and the state of the sides of Public Roads, Railways, or Canals, in this respect, in the Townlands enumerated by _____

Names of Townlands.	Area.	FARMS : 1st Class, 2nd Class, 3rd Class, or 4th Class.	ROADS : 1st Class, 2nd Class, 3rd Class, or 4th Class.	Remarks.

Dated at _____ this _____ day of _____ 1853.

Signature of Enumerator. _____

NOTE.—When filling the above Return, those Townlands in which the Farms are kept generally free from weeds, are to have the terms "1st Class" entered opposite to them. The "2nd Class" are those in which this useful labour is only partially attended to. The "3rd Class" are those in which it is to a great extent neglected, and the "4th Class" are those in which it may be said to be wholly neglected: the area of the four classes taken together should be equal to the area of the Townland. This classification is also to be observed in describing the state of the sides of Public Roads, Railways, and Canals, with regard to the growth of weeds; and the Enumerator should state in the column for Remarks, if their being permitted to shed their seed is regarded by the Farmers in the District as a nuisance, and also if any, and what measures are resorted to by road contractors or others for the purpose of destroying them.

The following is a copy of the Instructions for filling the Townland Returns from which the foregoing Abstracts have been compiled:—
 "When filling the above Return, those Townlands in which the Farms are kept generally free from weeds, are to have the terms '1st Class' entered opposite to them.—The '2nd Class' those in which this useful labour is only partially attended to.—The '3rd Class' those in which it is to a great extent neglected,—and the '4th Class' those in which it may be said to be wholly neglected;—the area of the four classes taken together should be equal to the area of the townland. This classification is also to be observed in describing the state of the sides of Public Roads, Railways, and Canals, with regard to the growth of weeds; and the Enumerator should state in the column for Remarks, if their being permitted to shed their seed is regarded by the Farmers in the District as a nuisance, and also if any, and what measures are resorted to by road contractors or others for the purpose of destroying them."

OF IRELAND FOR THE YEAR 1854.

that for the latter year has been compiled from Townland Returns lately received from the several Enumerators, which apprehended that no change of any very great importance will be necessary.

RIVER BARROW.

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 30 March 1854 ;—for,

A COPY “ of REPORT of the COMMISSIONERS OF PUBLIC WORKS in Ireland on the Survey of the River Barrow ; and an Account of the Sums of Money Received and Expended on such Survey, from the Year 1842 to 1850 inclusive.”

No Report was made by the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland.

The best Return that can be made to the Order of the Honourable House is the accompanying Memorandum, preserved in the Office of the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland.

REPORT of the COMMISSIONERS OF PUBLIC WORKS communicated to the Meeting of the Proprietors interested in the Lands liable to Flood from the overflow of the River Barrow, assembled at the Town of Monasterevan on the 17th of April 1851.

IN compliance with the request of several parties most deeply interested in the drainage of the River Barrow, I have great pleasure in attending this meeting with a view to afford such information as will enable you to come to a conclusion upon the completion or non-completion of the preliminary survey and valuation of this important district ; and I hope that the careful consideration of the subject by you will lead to results as successful as those which have obtained in a neighbouring county, under similar circumstances ; I allude to the drainage of the River Burren, in the county of Carlow, a case in which the proprietors entered into subscription for the purpose of carrying out the undertaking ; and I am happy to say that the measure will be brought to a most satisfactory conclusion during the present year. The memorial to which Mr. French alluded referred to a larger extent of country than that to which he seemed to think it was confined ; it stated that the lands subject to flood and injury were supposed to comprise about 6,000 acres lying along the River Barrow from the Mill of Bert to Rathangan, Portar-lington and above Clonbollogue.

This memorial was received ; and under the general impression that the acreable extent of injured land was nearly correct, a deposit of 300 l. only was required from the proprietors towards defraying the expense of the preliminary survey and examination required by the Drainage Act ; but upon an inspection of the country, and a careful examination of the lands, for the waters of which the River Barrow acted as a common outlet, we found that what would naturally constitute one district embraced a far wider extent of country than was at first anticipated by the memorialists ; and that the works to be effectual should be carried down to Athy on the one side, and to the sources of the Barrow and its tributaries on the other ; instead of being confined between the two points of Bert and Clonbollogue. In the year 1846, a sum of money not exceeding 5,000 l. for any one year, was, by the Act placed at the disposal of the Board of Works by the Lords of the Treasury, in aid of deposits to meet the expenses of preliminary inquiries, and taking advantage of a portion of that sum for the measure now under consideration, we had the surveys carried out to the extent to which they had been brought, and we were prosecuting these surveys towards completion, when the Treasury, finding in 1848 that the number of cases for preliminary investigation became so great, directed that any farther money necessary for such purpose should be advanced by the parties interested ; and we were consequently obliged to suspend our operations until the proprietors should enable us to proceed, by placing the necessary amount of money in our hands.

We immediately communicated to Mr. Beswick, who had theretofore acted as principal agent for the parties concerned, and informed him that the completion of the survey and valuation and the publication of the report and plans, would cost a further sum of from 700 l. to 1,000 l. Up to the present this sum has not been advanced ; and the propriety of contributing it is the matter for consideration of this meeting.

The expenditure on preliminaries up to the present time is 1,213*l.*, and for this sum a considerable amount of work has been done. Sections have been made of the whole of the main river and of the tributaries, extending to a length of 204 miles ; the extent of the flooded and injured lands has been ascertained, and traced in upon a large map of the entire district. Measurements have been made of all the bridges, with a view to ascertain their capacity for discharging the waters in the present and future state of things, and how far they would require to be reconstructed or altered ; and, finally, a great number of transverse sections have been made of the main river and its various tributaries. A great number of these documents, including a large plan of the district, are now here for your inspection ; and, before I leave this subject, I should inform you that the expenditure includes a sum of about 200*l.*, laid out in the survey and examination of some small districts which were applied for separately, but which were found to lie naturally within the limits of the Barrow district. This district is the largest in Ireland. We have been carrying on works in more than 100 districts in the country, the largest of which comprises but 26,000 acres of flooded and injured land ; while the lands included in the Barrow district extend, as at present ascertained, to 49,000 acres ; and I have every reason to believe that the results of the detailed examination would show that this was short of the actual quantity by upwards of 10,000 acres ; so that the area of land subject to flood and injury, and deprived of the facilities for thorough drainage, would be found to comprise about 60,000 acres. The lands affected by the River Barrow, and its tributaries, extend over the three counties of King's, Queen's, and Kildare ; and the deepening of this river, and its tributaries, is the first step towards the improvement of the heart of these counties. It had been urged that the improvement ought to be confined to the limits specified in the memorial ; and thus the expenses of the preliminaries, and afterwards of the works, would be far less, and, consequently, more easily procured, than for the comprehensive measure to which our inquiries and examination extended ; but the results of such a restriction would be far different from those anticipated by the parties who recommended such a course.

The Act of Parliament gives us the power to determine, having regard to the interests of all persons concerned, what shall be the limits of the district to be brought under the operation of the Act ; and in arriving at that determination, we must be guided by the position of the lands relatively to the outlet, the physical features of the country, and the duties which the common channel may be hereafter called upon to discharge.

We are interposed as arbitrators between a great number of parties, some of whom are interested in the improvement of the lands by the lowering of the waters, and others who, holding mills and weirs, and deriving benefit from the existence of such obstructions, are opposed to such a measure. In the exercise of the powers vested in us by the Act of Parliament, and with a view to act equitably towards all parties, we find that justice can only be efficiently done by including in one district all those flooded, wet or injured lands, which pour their waters through one common outlet ; and pursuing this principle in the present case, the engineers were instructed to carry up the examination through all the flooded lands whose waters were discharged through the River Barrow.

Now, to make a channel merely sufficient for the water of the lands along the main river only is one thing, but to form one of capacity sufficient for all the water in the tributaries, in the event of their being opened up, is quite a different matter, and involves the execution of works of much greater magnitude than would be required for the first object alone. Previous to the works of arterial drainage in this country, and these works have now been carried out to a far greater extent here than in any other country we know of, we had no data whatever for determining mining the size and capacities of river channels in various circumstances; average falls of rain had, to be sure, been recorded at different places by means of instruments of different degrees of accuracy; but the quantity of water falling in the course of a year is little test, and forms but small grounds indeed for calculating the capacity of a channel, sufficient to carry off a maximum flood. In this matter, however, we have now had great experience. In some cases we have found the quantity of water to be discharged to be only 9-10ths of a cubic foot per acre per minute, in others, it extended to one foot and a half, and one foot and three-quarters; and there are cases in which the quantity of water to be discharged amounted to three, four, five, and up to ten cubic feet per acre per minute. The results in other countries form no data for calculations in this; and even here, the facts existing in one part of the country are at variance with those of another; while the quantity of water to be discharged from the same catchment basin, after the same amount of rain, varies according to the facilities that are afforded, or the obstructions that exist to the passing off of the water from the land along the tributaries and the main river.

On this subject I will refer to the case of the Ferbane District in the King's County and the county of Westmeath; where in 1844, before any improvement was effected, we measured the discharge of high floods, through the main channel, at 136,335 cubic feet per minute from a catchment of 285,000 acres, which was equal to $\cdot 477$ of a foot, or not quite half a foot per acre per minute, while in last January, after the tributaries had been partially opened the measured discharge was 267,477 cubic feet per minute, equal to $\cdot 938$ of a foot, or very nearly one foot per acre per minute.

This will at once show the justice of including in one district not only the main river itself, so far as it injuriously affects the adjacent lands, but likewise all the tributaries flowing into it; the lands along whose banks are incapable of being drained in consequence of the want of out-fall.

If we made the channel of the main river of a size nearly sufficient for the water of the lands along its banks, and on the supposition that the waters of the tributaries would not be sent down to swell the general mass, the size of the channel would be made much less, and the cost of the works would of course be less; but after this expenditure, what would be the condition of those whose lands lay along the main river? After a little time the tributaries would be opened as soon as it was found that an outlet had been provided; the waters of these tributaries that before used to lie upon the lands, or pass slowly into the common outlet, would be sent down rapidly after every fall of rain; and the result would be that the channel being called upon to discharge a quantity of water, for which capacity was not provided, the adjacent lands would be submerged, and the outlay for their improvement thus rendered useless; in justice then, and simple equity, we cannot submit to you any but a perfect and complete project; and it will be for you to determine whether the measure will be carried out or not; in some districts undertaken in 1847 for the purpose of affording relief by employment, we have sufficient evidence of the evils that would result from opening the tributaries and upper parts of districts, without means being provided for carrying off the additional waters that will consequently be sent through the main channel. In the cases I refer to we were obliged, in order to afford employment as extensively as possible, to commence and carry out the works of a district in several places at the same time, instead of commencing at the outlet, and carrying out the increased capacity of channel to the top of the district; and the result was, that when the upper part of the district was opened, the quantity of water sent down upon the lower part flooded the lands there to a far greater extent than they had ever been previously; and this would be the precise state of things in your river, if provision were not made in the first instance for the waters of all the tributaries. In the complete measure—which is the only one we can recommend or become in any way responsible for approval—the channel of the river at Athy must have a bottom-width of 120 feet; and at Monasterevan, the key of the district, it will be necessary to cut through the rock to a depth of 15 feet below the adjoining lands. The works of this large scale are absolutely necessary for the full attainment of the objects proposed, and in order to secure the profitable expenditure of the money; while, the tributaries being included, the proprietors of lands along their banks will have to contribute to the cost of the works only in proportion to the benefits they derive. The very great depth to which it will be necessary to sink the channels will exercise a very beneficial influence on the state of the bogs included in the catchment basin of the Barrow. You are aware that in 1810, an admirable survey was made of the Bog of Allen, under the superintendence of Mr. Griffith, now Chairman of the Board of Works; and a report was written upon the works necessary for the improvement of the bog. We have examined that report and survey, Mr. Griffith giving the full benefit of his great experience; and have found that the first step recommended for improvement in this case was the deepening of the rivers in the locality. The drainage of the Barrow will, if carried out as we propose, effect this object to a much greater extent than was then proposed; the deep sinking will cut off the supply of water by which the bogs are sustained, and subsidence and consolidation will take place to such an extent as to render the bog much more valuable for all purposes.

There are within the limits of the catchment basin of the Barrow 84,855 acres of bog, which in 1810 were proposed to be improved at a cost of 190,700*l.*; for this vast tract the works proposed will form the main outlet, and by tapping the springs, and under cutting the basins of the bogs, make the first step towards their improvement. No portion of these bogs, however (except those cut away), is included in the 60,000 acres for the drainage of which the measure is chiefly proposed.

In this matter I merely allude to the improvement of this bog, as bog for the supply of fuel or for such other purpose as science or ingenuity may make it available; and I do not wish to be understood as recommending the improvement of bog for agricultural purposes.

It rests now with the proprietors to decide whether the survey of the Barrow is to be completed or not.

A considerable deal of work yet remains to be done; additional sections must be made; the boundaries of the flooded lands are to be ascertained with precision, and a valuation in detail of the whole district will be necessary in order to ascertain the present value of the lands, and the increase to that value that may be estimated to arise from the execution of the works. After these works are executed another valuation will be made to determine the increase in value that has resulted to the properties relatively; but this preliminary valuation is necessary, in the first instance, to place on record the value of the land before any work is executed, as, in a measure of such magnitude, it is essential that the fullest information in this respect be obtained; as we would not consent to undertake, nor should the proprietors enter upon any work without being satisfied that the project would be a profitable one. The design for the measure remains to be completed; and finally, an estimate of the cost of the works is to be made, after carefully ascertaining by borings, the nature of the material to be acted upon. It would take at least the whole of this season to complete these preliminaries; and it is likely that from six to seven years would elapse before the measure would be brought to a conclusion, and the assessment made for the repayment of the money expended. I cannot calculate on the works being completed before that time, for they will only be carried on during the season favourable for such operations, and I do not think we can reckon upon more than 4,000 men per day, for which number there will be full employment for four years. When I speak of the "favourable season," I mean that during the winter the operations cannot be carried on as extensively as during the summer months; but even in the winter there are works which must of necessity be done; while there are others that under the task system can be as economically executed then as at any other period, and it is for the interest of the measure to give the skilled workmen as constant employment as possible, in order to avoid the frequently recurring necessity of training new hands after every suspension of the works.

Gentlemen, the measure now rests entirely with yourselves; it is for you to determine whether you will carry it out or not. It is unnecessary for me to refer to the beneficial influence which such works as these produce upon the climate of the country, or to allude to removal of fogs, hoar frosts, and their chilling effects upon the ripening of the corn and fruits; of these things you have most palpable evidence; nor is it my business to allude to the general advantages that will accrue; these are all matters for your own consideration; I will upon this point merely mention one fact; I find that at Galway, where our works have been consecutively carried carried on, the proprietors have been saved 3*s.* in the 1*l.* poor-rate, by the employment that has been afforded, and similar effects have been produced in other parts of the country where our operations have been extensively carried on.

(IRELAND);

ABSTRACT

OF

RETURNS of the Names and Ages of the Blind
INMATES in each WORKHOUSE in Ireland.

(Mr. Robert Keating.)

*Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
2 March 1855.*

COURT OF CHANCERY (IRELAND).

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons,
dated 17 May 1855;—for,

RETURN “from the Offices of each of the MASTERS in Ordinary of the Court of Chancery in Ireland of the Number of CAUSE PETITION CASES under the Court of Chancery (Ireland) Regulation Act, 1850, referred to each MASTER in each Year, from the 14th day of August 1850 to the present time; distinguishing, so far as it may be practicable to do so, the Cases under the Fifteenth Section of such Act from the General Cause Petition Cases:”

“Of the Number of MEETINGS had before each MASTER, in pursuance of Summonses or Notices, in the Year ending the 31st day of December 1854, distinguishing those in the Long and Short Cause Lists, and also distinguishing those generally denominated Receivers’ Business from the General Business; and of the Number of ORDERS made by each MASTER on Receivership Business:”

“Of the Number of CASES distinguished as Long Causes heard by each MASTER, in the Year ending the 31st day of December 1854:”

“Of the Number of RECEIVERS, SEQUESTRATORS, GUARDIANS of MINORS, and COMMITTEES of LUNATICS at present managing Estates under the Authority of the Court of Chancery in Ireland, the Business whereof is attached to the Office of each MASTER; and the Number of RECEIVERS’ ACCOUNTS passed in the Office of each MASTER, in the Year ending the 31st day of December 1854; also, of the Number of MEETINGS before each MASTER on Receivers’ Statements within said Year:”

“RETURN from the Office of Receiver Master of the Court of Chancery (Ireland), showing the Number of RECEIVERS appointed by him over Estates in each Year, from the 10th day of August 1851 to the Date of this Return:”

“RETURN from the Registrar’s Office of said Court of Chancery (Ireland), specifying the Number of REPORTS made by each MASTER in the Year ending the 31st day of December 1854; distinguishing Reports on Receivership Business from those on General Business:”

“And, a like RETURN, specifying the Number of ORDERS made by each MASTER in said period.”

(Mr. Whiteside.)

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
18 July 1855.

* This Return does not include matters of course, disposed of by the Master before going into his daily list, of which he disposes (at a low average) of about 10 on each sitting-day throughout the year.
† The small number of such orders in this office arises from two causes: 1st. The practice adopted by the Master of giving in his Reports prospective directions applicable to such cases as are likely to occur in the management of the estate. 2d. His practice of incorporating in his Reports, where any matters in the statement require a Report, the necessary directions; instead of making, on matters contained in one statement, an order as well as a Report, and thus multiplying documents and increasing expense.
‡ The above is a Return of the several distinct long causes in which meetings were had during this year, as distinguished from the number of meetings.

30 May 1855.

Wm. D. Murphy, Examiner to Master Murphy.

I believe the above Return to be correct.

Over and above the foregoing a number of meetings were held upon notices which, according to the practice of the Court, were not listed.

Number of Orders made on Receivership business in said period - - - 230

According to Master Lyle's practice, an order is not made up on Receivers' Statements, save where the directions given require to be enforced by such authority; in general the Master's notes suffice for Receivers' guidance.

NUMBER of CASES heard by Master Lyle, distinguished as Long Causes, in said Period.

The Number of Meetings in Long Causes are given above - - - 420

And this inquiry can be best answered by the statement, that in the year ending 31st December 1854, Master Lyle signed 176 Reports and 62 Decretal Orders under the 15th Section.

NUMBER of RECEIVERS, SEQUESTRATORS, GUARDIANS of MINORS, and COMMITTEES of LUNATICS managing Estates, the Business whereof is in Master Lyle's Office, in the Year ending 31st December 1854.

— 723. —

Of this number several have, no doubt, been discharged, and others have never entered into receipt of the rents, the debts having been settled; but such cases cannot be distinguished, as the orders or documents showing this are not regularly brought into the office.

CONSTABULARY (IRELAND).

ABSTRACT

OF

STATEMENT of the Amount of CONSTABULARY
Force employed in each County, County of a City, and County of a Town in Ireland, on the 1st day of January 1856.

(Pursuant to Act 6 Will. 4, c. 13, s. 57.)

Ordered, by The House of Commons to be Printed,
18 June 1855.

CONSTABULARY (IRELAND).

COPY of INSTRUCTIONS issued by the Inspector-General of Constabulary, for the Guidance of the CONSTABULARY FORCE acting under the Provisions of the Act 17 & 18 Vict., cap. 89.

INSTRUCTIONS for the Guidance of Officers, Head and other Constables, employed in carrying into execution the Provisions of the 13th Section, Spirit (Ireland) Act, and the 1 & 2 Will. 4. c. 55.

1. BY the 13th section of the Spirit Act, it is enacted, that whenever the Lord-^{17 & 18 Vict., c. 89.} Lieutenant shall order and direct any portion of the Constabulary Force to act in the suppression of offences against the laws relating to illicit distillation in Ireland, it shall be lawful for the county inspectors, sub-inspectors, head and other constables within the counties, towns, &c., named in such order, to exercise all the powers and authorities, and to have and possess all the privileges granted to officers of Excise by the 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 55, in searching for private stills, spirits, and malt, &c., as therein set forth, and in arresting and detecting persons discovered in the place where private making of wort, wash, potale, or distillation of spirits, or making of malt, is being carried on.

2. And his Excellency the Lord-Lieutenant having been pleased to order and direct that the constabulary force within the county and district named at the head of these instructions, shall be so employed, it becomes necessary to call the particular attention of the officers and men stationed therein to the provisions of the Spirit Act, and to the extracts of the 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 55, herewith transmitted for their information and guidance; and strongly to enforce upon them<sup>1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 55.
17 & 18 Vict.
(Spirit Act).</sup> the necessity for their studying with care and attention the several provisions of these Acts, with the view to making themselves thoroughly acquainted with the exact nature of the important office they are called on to perform, and the extent of the powers and authorities conferred on them.

3. In carrying these onerous duties into effect, the utmost circumspection, caution, moderation of manner, and discretion, are hereby strictly enjoined. No house, place, or premises should on any account be entered, except on the best and most reliable information; for, if it shall be proved that any member of the force has acted in any respect contrary to the true spirit and intent of this order, he will be seriously dealt with; while, on the other hand, the names of those who shall evince the greatest amount of zeal, efficiency, and success, will be brought under the consideration of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue.

4. Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of any head or other constable, or he shall have cause to suspect, or shall receive information, that any of the offences recited in the above Act of 1 & 2 Will. 4 is being carried on, he will, if time admit, report the same to his officer, and receive his instructions thereon; but if time do not permit, he will in such case (if he be in charge of the station) act upon his own responsibility; or if not in charge, then, under the guidance of his senior head or other constable, as the case may be.

5. Although, by the 18th section of the last named Act, Excise officers are fully empowered to enter by day or by night all suspected houses or places without a warrant, to search for any private or concealed still, or vessels used in illicit distillation, or any spirits, low wines, &c., preparing or prepared for distillation, or for any illegally made malt, corn, or grain, this power should not be exercised unless the suspicion or information be such as will fully justify the act; for it is to be borne in mind that by the latter part of the same section, it is the actual finding of any of the articles referred to therein, that will be a full justification, in the event of their proceedings being called in question. Therefore, the more prudent and advisable course will be, in all doubtful cases, to obtain a magistrate's warrant as directed by the 17th section of the Act in question.

6. Whenever any seizure has been made, or person arrested, charged with illicit practices, a detailed report of the same is to be made by the district officer to head-quarters, accompanied by a return of the names of the parties arrested, &c., the description and quantity of the articles so seized, and how disposed of.

1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 55. 7. If articles seized cannot be removed to a place of safety, their destruction is authorised by the 20th section of the same Act. In such cases an accurate inventory is to be taken of the articles so destroyed, signed by all the men on duty, and the seizure is to be reported as above directed.

8. Periodical Reports are to be made by the Inspector of the county of all measures taken towards the suppression of illicit distillation, as well as of shebeen houses within his jurisdiction.

Forms of Reports and Returns will be furnished for the above purposes.

9. As it is not deemed expedient to adopt the practice of what is termed still-hunting, i. e., searching for stills without any information, it is not to be resorted to unless in cases where there is probable reason to suspect, or that credible information has been received, that illicit distillation is being carried on in some particular townland or locality, the precise place not being indicated, when a search may be made in the same, if there be reasonable prospect of success.

10. The suppression of shebeen houses being of considerable importance, the particular attention and exertions of the officers and men are directed to their detection and the punishment of the parties concerned.

17 & 18 Vict., c. 89, s. 6. 11. The attention of the force is likewise called to "spirits in transitu," or in process of being removed from one place to another without a permit, which, in all such cases, may be seized, together with the vessel containing the same, and the horse or other cattle and cart used in the removal thereof, and the person in whose possession or custody the same shall be found, arrested by any officer, head or other constable, under the authority of the Spirit Act, or by the officers and men employed under the 13th section of the same Act; in such cases it is not of course necessary to report to a superior before acting.

12. All persons arrested or detected in any illicit practices are to be brought or summoned (as the case may be) before the local justices, to be dealt with according to law; and all seizures when made are to be, as soon as possible, delivered over to the Excise officer most convenient to the spot, as directed by the Spirit Act, whose receipt is to be taken for the same.

13. When an auxiliary force is sent into a county to aid in the suppression of illicit distillation, its duties are not to be confined exclusively to Excise offences; those offences are to be taken cognizance of by the whole of the men of the district or station to which the auxiliary force is sent; and such auxiliary force will in like manner assist in the performance of the general duties of the place where stationed. A distinct pay list is however to be kept of such auxiliary force by the district officers concerned. A separate estimate is also to be made and forwarded in the usual way to the receiver.

Constabulary Office, Dublin Castle,
14 December 1854.

D. McGregor,
Inspector-General.

ADDENDA to Instructions for the Constabulary acting under the 13th Section of the Spirit (Ireland) Act.

14. IN cases where the distance of a petty sessions at which parties shall have been prosecuted for illegal practices shall be distant more than five miles from the most convenient officer or supervisor of Excise, it is directed that any quantity of spirits under two gallons, and all vessels, stills, &c., except as herein-after mentioned, which shall be seized and become forfeited, shall be destroyed in the presence of the sub-inspector (or in his absence, of the head constable) of the district, who will certify accordingly on the return in which such seizures are required to be entered. The name of the station, and the distance from the petty sessions, as well as the name of the most convenient revenue officer, is to be entered in the column of remarks. Small vessels, such as jugs, glasses, &c., seized in unlicensed houses and forfeited, are, in all cases, to be destroyed, and their destruction certified as above ordered.

The foregoing does not apply to No. 7 of the Instructions issued for the Guidance of the Constabulary acting under the 13th Section of the Spirit (Ireland) Act.

D. M'Gregor,
Inspector-General.

The lighting, watching, and cleansing expenses would be higher, but the Commissioners erected a gas-house, laid down pipes, put up lamp-posts, and lighted the town with gas. The bonded debt, 1,075*l.*, is a balance remaining due of the first expense of so doing. The greater portion of this debt, say 1,000*l.*, is due to Lord Clancarty.

16 June 1855.

Godfrey Lumpe, Clerk.

No rate was levied here from 31st July 1852 to 31st July 1853, nor from 31st July 1853 to 31st July 1854; the cause was that as the Commissioners could not, under the 9th Geo. 4, c. 82, effect and carry out the required improvements, and that the Improvement of Towns Ireland Act, 1854, was held in suspense, the Commissioners deemed it advisable to suspend the levying of a rate pending the carrying of said Bill into operation; but at this time there remained due by the Commissioners a balance of 12*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* on the 31st January 1854, and on the 31st December 1854 the sum of 18*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.*

CARRICKFERGUS HARBOUR COMMISSIONERS.

Sir,

Town-hall, Carrickfergus, 10 July 1855.

In reply to your letters of the 29th May and 5th June last, I beg to enclose you copies of the Treasurer's accounts for the year 1854. The gross receipts of the Harbour of Carrickfergus are paid into the general town fund of the borough, and generally amount to the sum of 300*l.* annually. The expenditure is likewise paid out of the town fund, but no separate account is kept. The town is under municipal commissioners, and no rates whatever are levied off the inhabitants. The property of the Corporation, including the harbour dues, is chargeable altogether with the sum of 780*l.*, 500*l.* of which is secured by mortgage at 5 per cent., and the remainder (280*l.*) by judgment at 4 per cent. Both these charges are still outstanding, but the interest is regularly paid. The expenditure on the harbour is nearly equal to the receipts.

I remain, &c.

Robert Bowman, Town Clerk.

The Right Honourable Thomas Larcom, Dublin Castle.

JAMES WILSON, Treasurer of the Borough of Carrickfergus, with the Town Fund of the Borough (being his Thirteenth Account), up to and ending the 1st day of March 1854.

NAMES OF CORONERS.—Francis G. Long, Charles H. Swiney, Hugh O'Donnell, Samuel Crawford, Isaac O'Donnell.

* The district of Glenties vacant by the death of Isaac O'Donnell.

COUNTY OF DONEGAL—continued.

THE late John Miller, Esq. was the only coroner in this county for many years previous to 1843, and from his decease until the appointment of coroners under the provisions of the Act 9 & 10 Vict. c. 37, there was not any coroner; but the duties of coroners, so far as holding inquests, were performed by the magistrates.

I have not any means of setting forth what sums were paid to medical witnesses during the years 1843, 1844, and 1845, same having been paid by the treasurer upon the orders of magistrates holding such inquests.

In compliance with that portion of the Order of the House of Commons which requires a return of the number of coroners appointed to districts in the several counties and counties of cities in Ireland, I beg to state that under the provisions of the said Act of 9 & 10 Vict. c. 37, on reference to the records in the clerk of the peace's office, I find that at a special sessions, held for that purpose at Lifford, on the 15th day of February 1847, the county of Donegal was divided into five coroners' districts, named respectively the districts of Lifford, Letterkenny, Buncrana, Donegal, and Glenties, to each of which districts a coroner was afterwards elected.

Vesey Daly,

Clerk of the Crown.

COUNTY OF DOWN.

I HAVE hereunto annexed a Return, with the exception of the number of inquests, which I cannot make, in consequence of the burning of the Court-house, at Downpatrick, at the last spring assizes, and the total disarrangement of all the papers connected with the presentments of the county.

There were two coroners appointed under the Act of 9 & 10 Vict. c. 37, but I have no means of ascertaining the exact periods of such appointments. I have, however, seen a draft of a return made by the Secretary of the Grand Jury to the Government, in August 1854, from which it appears that the number of Inquests held in the County of Down, in the year

(a) Twenty-two of this number were held by magistrates.

There was no coroner appointed for the city of Limerick since the passing of the Irish Municipal Bill, prior to which the mayor was ex-officio coroner.

Since 1843, the inquests have been held by the coroners of the county, to whom, as well as to medical witnesses, &c., payment has been made, sometimes by presentment, and at other times by the Board of Superintendence, in consequence of which, this return cannot be made out as well as would be wished.

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons,
dated 24 May 1855;—for,

COPY “ of the COMMISSION recently issued by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland to Lord Talbot de Malahide, Mr. South, and Mr. Stephenson, relative to the HOSPITALS in the City of Dublin.”

By the Lord Lieutenant-General and General Governor of Ireland.

CARLISLE.

To James Baron Talbot de Malahide, John Flint South, Esquire, surgeon to St. Thomas's Hospital, and one of the Council and Court of Examiners of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, and William Henry Stephenson, Esquire : These are to require and authorise you, or any two of you, to make inquiry into the conditions and regulations of medical institutions in the City of Dublin, with reference to grants of pecuniary assistance from the public funds in aid of their support, and to report to us your views and recommendations with respect thereto ; and we are hereby pleased to appoint Denis Phelan, Esquire, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, to be your secretary.

Given at Her Majesty's Castle of Dublin, this 9th day of May 1855.

By His Excellency's command,

Thos. A. Larcom.

Sir,

Dublin Castle, 9 May 1855.

I AM directed by the Lord Lieutenant to transmit herewith a warrant, appointing Lord Talbot de Malahide, James F. South, and William H. Stephenson, Esquires, to be Commissioners for inquiring into the conditions and regulations of medical institutions in the City of Dublin, and also appointing you to be secretary to the Commission.

I am at the same time desired to transmit copy of a Report on this subject by a Committee of the House of Commons which sat in 1854, and also copies of certain memorials and communications subsequently addressed to His Excellency the Earl of St. Germans.

The Commissioners will perceive that various institutions have at different times received such grants, as well on the ground of medical charity, as of clinical instruction.

His Excellency is desirous of receiving full information as to the future arrangements which the Commissioners would recommend in reference to public grants to those institutions which, in their opinion, should receive such aid, specifying the amount of grant in each case, and the conditions, if any, on which it should be made, with the reasons for their recommendations.

Denis Phelan, Esq.,
&c. &c. &c.

I am, &c.

Individual teachers are not paid in convent schools. Salaries paid on quarterly average attendance. Salaries are not paid to the teachers of Poor-law union and prison schools. The teachers of model schools are not included in the above, as they are paid special salaries, not according to class. To five convents, and to the teachers in three ordinary national schools, additional salaries are paid for the higher branches of industrial education. In convent schools the Commissioners do not recognise individual teachers; and aid is given only in three ordinary national schools for the higher class of industrial education. The sums, in all the cases, vary from 10*l.* to 20*l.* a year, but there is no scale, the award being governed by the class of work, and the number in attendance.

ENDOWED SCHOOLS (IRELAND) COMMISSION.

VICTORIA, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith: To our trusty and well-beloved Charles William Fitzgerald, Esquire, commonly called Marquis of Kildare, Charles Graves, Doctor of Divinity, Robert Andrews, Doctor of Laws, one of Our Counsel learned in the Law, Henry George Hughes, Esquire, one of Our Counsel learned in the Law, and Archibald John Stephens, Esquire, Barrister-at-Law, Greeting:

Whereas an humble address has been presented unto Us by the knights, citizens, and burgesses, and commissioners of shires and burghs in Parliament assembled, humbly praying that we would be graciously pleased to issue a commission to inquire into the endowments, funds, and actual condition of all schools endowed for the purposes of education in Ireland, and the nature and extent of the instruction given in such schools, and to report their opinions thereon:

Know ye that We, reposing great trust and confidence in your intelligence, discretion, and diligence, have authorised and appointed, and by these presents do authorise and appoint you the said Charles William Fitzgerald (commonly called Marquis of Kildare), Charles Graves, Robert Andrews, Henry George Hughes, and Archibald John Stephens, to inquire into the endowments, funds, and actual condition of all schools endowed for the purposes of education in Ireland, and the nature and extent of the instruction given in such schools, and to report your opinions thereon.

And for the better discovery of the truth in the premises, We do, by these presents, give and grant to you or any three or more of you full power and authority to call before you or any three or more of you such persons as you shall judge necessary, by whom you may be the better informed of the truth in the premises.

And We do further, by these presents, give and grant to you or any three or more of you full power and authority to inquire of the premises and every part thereof by all lawful ways and means whatsoever, within all parts of our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland called Ireland.

And We do further, by these presents, give and grant unto you or any three or more of you full power and authority, where the same shall appear to be requisite, to administer an oath or oaths to any person whatsoever to be examined before you or any three or more of you touching or concerning the premises.

And We do further, by these presents, give and grant to you or any three or more of you full power and authority to cause all persons to bring and produce, upon oath before you or any three or more of you, all and singular records, books, papers, and other writings, touching the premises, which shall be in the custody of them or any of them.

And Our further will and pleasure is that you or any three or more of you upon inquiry into the premises, do certify to Us, from time to time, under your hands and seals, your several proceedings as the same shall be completed, and do within the space of one year after the date of these presents, or sooner if the same can reasonably be, certify unto Us in like manner, the whole of your proceedings under and by virtue of these presents, together with what you shall find touching or concerning the premises upon such inquiry as aforesaid.

And We further will and command, and by these premises ordain, that this Our commission shall continue in full force and virtue, and that you Our said commissioners, or any three or more of you, shall and may from time to time proceed in the execution thereof, and of every matter and thing therein contained, although the same be not continued from time to time by adjournment.

And We hereby command all and singular the justices of the peace, sheriffs, mayors, bailiffs, constables, officers, ministers, and all other our loving subjects whatsoever, as well within liberties as without, that they be assistant to you, and each of you in the execution of these presents.

And for your assistance in the due execution of this Our commission, We have made choice of Our trusty and well-beloved William Neilson Hancock, Esquire, to be secretary to this Our commission, and to attend you, whose services and assistance We require you to use from time to time, as occasion shall require.

In witness whereof We have caused these Our letters to be made patent.

Witness Ourselves at Westminster, the fourteenth day of November, in the eighteenth year of Our Reign.

C. Romilly.

II.—COPIES of CORRESPONDENCE between Commissioners and the Governors of Erasmus Smith's Schools.

COPY of LETTER from the Secretary of the Commission to the Registrar of Erasmus Smith's Board.

Sir,

Dublin Castle, 3 January 1855.

I am directed by Her Majesty's Commissioners for inquiring "into the Endowments, Funds, and Actual Condition of all Schools Endowed for the Purposes of Education in Ireland," to request that you will, at your earliest convenience, forward to the Commissioners:—

1. Copies of all statutes, charters, Royal letters, wills, deeds, orders of visitors, bye-laws, rules, and regulations respecting the schools under the management of the governors of the schools founded by Erasmus Smith, Esq.

The Commissioners also desire to be informed:—

2. Whether the endowments of such schools, or any portion thereof, are derived from land, and, if so, the number of statute acres comprised therein, its locality, the annual income actually received during the year 1853, with the outgoings and deductions therefrom, the net annual income, and the annual value, as estimated in Griffith's valuation.

3. Whether the endowments of such schools, or any portion thereof, are derived from personal property, and, if so, the amount of the principal sum, the annual proceeds therefrom, and the nature of the security.

The Commissioners are also desirous to ascertain:—

4. The annual amount of the salary and other emoluments of the principal schoolmasters of such schools, and the annual amount of the salary and other emoluments of every assistant master in such schools; also, by whom the several masters are appointed and paid.

5. The number of pupils in such schools during the years 1852, 1853, and 1854, divided into the separate classes of boarders, day scholars, and free pupils; and the amount of the annual stipend payable by each boarder and day scholar.

I am also directed to inform you that the Commissioners have resolved to hold a public court "to inquire into the Endowments, Funds, and Actual Condition of all Schools Endowed for the Purposes of Education in Ireland, and the Nature and Extent of the Instruction given in such Schools;" and that it is their intention to give public notice of the places and times of holding such court, so as to enable all persons to furnish the Commissioners with information on the subjects of the proposed inquiry.

I enclose you a copy of the Endowed Schools (Ireland) Commission, and blank forms, to enable you conveniently to make the required returns.

COPY of LETTER from Registrar of Erasmus Smith's Board to the Secretary of the Commission.

Board-room of the Governors of the Schools founded by Erasmus Smith, Esq.,
11, Kildare-street, 3 February 1855.

Sir,

YOUR letter of the 3d ultimo, enclosing queries, &c., was duly laid before the governors of the schools founded by Erasmus Smith, Esq., and carefully considered by them.

I am directed to state, in reply, that the governors, being fully convinced that the trusts reposed in them by the late Erasmus Smith could not be submitted to any authority or inquiry whatever, without involving a direct breach of duty on their part, most respectfully decline to submit to any extraneous jurisdiction, or to allow their schoolmasters or officers to be subjected to any such visitation.

I am also directed to send herewith a copy of the opinion of eminent counsel, together with a clause in the charter of the governors.

In taking the present course, the governors desire me to express their anxious hope that the Commissioners will attribute this determination solely to a strong sense of the obligations imposed on them by the founder of the charity.

I am, &c.

Registrar.

W. Neilson Hancock, Esq.,
Secretary,
Endowed Schools (Ireland) Commission.

Enclosures in preceding Letter.

COPY of Clause in the Charter of the Governors of the Schools founded by Erasmus Smith, Esq.

AND we of our further especial grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, and by our supreme power and authority, for us, our heirs and successors, do will, ordain and grant that the said schools, and the schoolmasters, ushers and scholars, members, officers, and all others the officers and persons to be placed in the said schools, shall, for ever hereafter, be exempted and freed of and from all visitations, punishment and correction, to be had, used, or exercised in or upon them, or any of them, by the ordinary of the diocese for the time being, or by any other person or persons whatsoever, other than by the said Erasmus Smith, during his life, and after his death, or during his sickness, or absence from Ireland, by the said governors for the time being, or their successors, or any three of them, to be elected by the said corporation, or any seven or more of them as aforesaid, whereof the treasurer for the time being to be always one, if such treasurer be able to attend.

COPY of OPINION of FRANCIS FITZGERALD, Esq., Q. C., on Case submitted by the Governors of Erasmus Smith's Schools, as to Inquiries of Endowed Schools Commission.

THE Commission, a copy of which has been herewith sent, purports to give a visitatorial power to the Commissioners therein named, in respect of all schools endowed for the purpose of education in Ireland.

I am of opinion that that Commission can give no right to exercise such visitatorial power in respect of any endowed schools of which the Crown is not, but some other person or persons is or are, the visitor or visitors. When the Crown is not the visitor, it cannot, in my opinion, without some Act of the Legislature enabling it so to do, give to any Commissioner or Commissioners a right to exercise visitatorial powers, or any portion of such power on an eleemosynary corporation.

By the terms of this charter, the governors are constituted the visitors of the endowed schools on the foundation of Erasmus Smith, and if there be any Act of the Legislature enabling the Crown, by such a Commission as the present, to interfere with their right as visitors, I can only say, that after the best search which I have been able to make, it has escaped me.

Commissioners under the Irish, 28 Geo. 3, c. 15, perpetuated by 46 Geo. 3, c. 122, if these Acts be still in force, would appear to have full jurisdiction to exercise such powers as the present Commission purports to give in respect of Erasmus Smith's Schools; but these Acts, if in force, give no colour to the present Commission as regards the schools in question, and Erasmus Smith's schools are exempted from the jurisdiction given to the Commissioners of Education under 50 Geo. 3, c. 33.

I am of opinion, therefore, that the Commission in question gives to the Commissioners therein named no power, by any compulsory means, and no right to inquire into the endowments, funds, or condition of the schools founded by Erasmus Smith, to exercise any jurisdiction in respect of them; nor do I think that the governors or the officers can be compelled to submit to examination in respect of the matters referred to in the foregoing question, or to make the returns, or produce the documents referred to.

Assuming that I am right in this view of the case, and that any attempt is made on the part of the Commissioners to institute inquiries in respect of Erasmus Smith's schools, to which the governors do not think it proper to submit, it seems to me that the proper course for the governors to adopt is to furnish, through the proper officer to the Commissioners, a statement that they decline to submit to such inquiries as an infringement on the visitatorial powers over the schools founded by Erasmus Smith, vested in them by these charters. If ulterior measures should be rendered necessary by any further attempt of the Commissioners, the proper legal course to be pursued by the governors would, I apprehend, be an application to the Court of Queen's Bench for a prohibition. King v. Dr. Shipden, 8 Mod. 367, Com. Dig. Visitor (B), and Prohibition A 1.

That the Crown has no visitatorial power, and can give none by its Commission, over eleemosynary corporations of private foundation, is a proposition for which I apprehend it is unnecessary to refer to authorities. The law will be found stated in 1 Black. Com., 481-2; and the case of Sutton's Hospital, 10 Co. 22 to 31, as explained and distinguished in the case of Bermingham School, Gill Eq. Case, 178-181, and which is also reported under the name of Eden v. Foster, 2 P. W. 325, appear to be sufficient authorities on the subject where special visitors exist.

I may observe, that from the charter of Sutton's Hospital, as set out in the 10 Co. 8a.-16a., it would appear that the clause making the governors of that hospital visitors, 12a. 136, is almost in terms identical with the clauses of the letters patent, making the governors of Erasmus Smith's Schools the visitors of these schools; that there is throughout a substantial agreement between the two charters.

I do not apprehend that the circumstance that the Commission, in the present case, was issued on the Petition of the House of Commons, can give to the Commissioners any authority that they otherwise would not have, and this would seem pretty plain, if there could be any doubt on it, from 6 Geo. 4, c. 10.

OF

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons,
dated 30 March 1855 ;—for,

A SKELETON MAP “of Ireland, squared and numbered to correspond with the Sheets of the Ordnance Maps, coloured with distinctive Colours, to show —1st, That Portion of Ireland which has been surveyed geologically, and of which the Office Plans are prepared and ready to be transferred to the Plates of the Reduced One-inch Map of Ireland ; 2d, That Portion of Ireland of which the Reduced Maps are prepared, and on which the Geological Features are in course of being marked in ; 3d, That Portion of Ireland of which the Reduced Plates have been geologically coloured, and are now on Sale :”

“ STATEMENT of the Number of Plates of the Reduced Map of Ireland which have been supplied to the Irish Geological Survey Office :”

“ Similar MAP and RETURN in respect of the English Geological Survey :”

“ And, STATEMENT of the Progress made in the Publication of Maps of the Irish Geological Survey since the Return made in 1851 (Parliamentary Paper, No. 638), in which it is stated that ‘ the following Area has been completed and published : the Counties of Dublin, Wicklow, Wexford, Carlow, and Kilkenny :’ and also, where the Office for the Sale of the Geological Maps of those Counties has been established, and the Number of the Maps which have been Sold.”

1st. A SKELETON MAP,* to show that Portion of Ireland which has been surveyed geologically, and of which the Office Plans are prepared and ready to be transferred to the Plates of the Reduced One-inch Map of Ireland.

SHOWN in the annexed Map, marked A ; the area coloured red representing that portion of Ireland which has been surveyed geologically, and of which the office plans are prepared and ready to be transferred to the plates of the reduced one-inch Map of Ireland ; the area coloured blue, that portion of the country in which the geological survey is in progress.

* MAP deposited in the Library of the House of Commons.

2d. A SKELETON MAP,† to show that Portion of Ireland of which the Reduced Maps are prepared, and on which the Geological Features are in course of being marked in.

THE Skeleton Map, marked B, prepared at the Ordnance Map Office, shows the progress of the reduced one-inch Map to the 28th February 1855. The geological boundaries were marked in on the unfinished dry proof of sheet 36, and returned to the Ordnance Office for engraving in February 1854 : proofs containing these engraved lines were received in August 1854, and, having been revised, were returned for completion about the end of August 1854.

† MAP deposited in the Library of the House of Commons.

RETURN RELATING TO SKELETON MAPS OF

3d. That Portion of Ireland of which the reduced Plates have been geologically coloured, and are now on Sale.

As will be seen from the Map in progress referred to above (B), there is no portion of Ireland of which the reduced Maps can have been geologically coloured, or are on sale.

4th. Statement of the Number of Plates of the Reduced MAP of Ireland which have been supplied to the Irish Geological Survey Office.

THIS question is answered above. There is as yet no one-inch Map of Ireland.

Similar MAP* and RETURN in respect of the English Geological Survey.

1st. ALL the geological surveys of England and Wales which are completed have already been transferred to the plates on the one-inch scale. This area is coloured blue on the Index Map appended, marked C.

2d. On the same Index Map the area coloured pink represents that part of England on which the geological lines are now in progress.

3d. The area coloured blue on the same Map represents that part of England and Wales geologically coloured, and now on sale.

4th. There is no reduced Map of that part of England and Wales which has already been surveyed geologically, the Topographical Map having been originally engraved on the one-inch scale.

* MAP deposited in the Library of the House of Commons.

STATEMENT of the Progress made in the Publication of MAPS of the Irish Geological Survey since the Return made in 1851 (Parliamentary Paper, No. 638), in which it is stated that "the following Area has been completed and published: the Counties of Dublin, Wicklow, Wexford, Carlow, and Kilkenny:" and also, where the Office for the Sale of the Geological Maps of those Counties has been established, and the Number of the Maps which have been Sold.

No progress has been made in the publication of the Maps of the Irish Geological Survey since the year 1851, as it was thought inadvisable to extend the publication of geological editions of the small county Index Maps (at considerable expense, and with very unsatisfactory results), when the one-inch sheet Maps of the whole South of Ireland were expected very shortly to be ready for the reception of the geological work.

Messrs. Hodges & Smith, publishers, Grafton-street, Dublin, are the agents for the sale of the geological editions of the small Index Maps of the counties of Dublin, Wicklow, Wexford, Kildare, and Carlow.

The numbers of these Maps which have been supplied to Messrs. Hodges & Smith for sale are as follows:

						Copies.
Of the county Wicklow	-	-	-	-	-	73
Ditto - Carlow	-	-	-	-	-	15
Ditto - Kildare	-	-	-	-	-	20
Ditto - Wexford	-	-	-	-	-	26
Ditto - Dublin	-	-	-	-	-	21
TOTAL						155

In addition to these, many copies have been presented to the Scientific Societies and Public Institutions of Ireland.

The portions coloured green in the Index Map of England and Wales,* appended, and marked D, show the progress made in the publication of the Maps of the Geological Survey of Great Britain since the return made in 1851. It includes parts of Dorsetshire, Worcestershire, Warwickshire, Staffordshire, Derbyshire, Shropshire, Cheshire, Montgomeryshire, Caernarvonshire, and Anglesea; in all about 4,600 square miles.

* MAP deposited in the Library of the House of Commons.

The Maps are published by Messrs. Longman & Co., Paternoster-row, and since 1851 there have been sold of

ACCOUNTS OF PRESENTMENTS

Made by the Grand Juries of the several COUNTIES, CITIES, and TOWNS in Ireland, in the Year 1854—(pursuant to Acts 49 Geo. 3, c. 84, s. 31, and 4 Geo. 4, c. 33, s. 18).

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
8 August 1855.

HARBOUR OF REFUGE (IRELAND).

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons,
dated 24 May 1855;—for,

A COPY “of the MEMORIAL presented to the Admiralty on the 31st day of March 1854, from the Inhabitants of Drogheda, praying for a GOVERNMENT SURVEY of the EASTERN COAST of Ireland, for the purpose of Constructing a HARBOUR of REFUGE in the most eligible Position, with the Names of the Persons who signed that Document, and of any other Communications referring to the said Survey and Harbour of Refuge.”

Admiralty, }

JOHN JONES DYER,
Chief Clerk.

COPY of MEMORIAL from the Inhabitants of Drogheda, praying for a GOVERNMENT SURVEY of the EASTERN COAST of Ireland, for the purpose of Constructing a HARBOUR of REFUGE in the most eligible Position, with the Names of the Persons who signed that Document, and Communications referring to the said Survey and Harbour of Refuge.

Sir,

104, Pall Mall, 31 March 1855.

I HAVE the honour to present a memorial of the nobility, clergy, gentry, magistrates, merchants, shipowners, and traders, of the county of the town of Drogheda, and the adjoining counties of Meath, Louth, and Dublin, adopted at a late public meeting held at Drogheda, praying “that the most efficient survey may be made of the eastern coast of Ireland, with the view of constructing a Harbour of Refuge in the most advantageous and eligible position.”

In the prosecution of this most desirable and indispensable measure for protecting the interests of commercial navigation, and mitigating the fearful loss of life encountered by the seafaring community, it is satisfactory to find that it has received the distinct and unqualified approval of the high and influential individuals whose signatures are attached to the memorial, and amongst whom appear the representatives of important mercantile districts, and of commercial and maritime boards, strongly attesting the necessity of an additional Harbour of Refuge along the wide and extended range of the eastern shore of Ireland, so formidable and destructive to the mariner, from the frequency and violence of the gales prevailing along that coast.

The memorialists, you will be pleased to observe, have abstained from designating any particular site for the construction of a Harbour of Refuge, being persuaded that it is solely by means of a competent and scientific Commission, approved of and sanctioned by the Government, that the best position can be decided upon, particularly where there are several sites along the coast possessing greater or less natural capabilities, and which would involve more or less cost of construction.

For a series of years this portion of the coast of the United Kingdom has been prominently distinguished by disastrous casualties both of life and property. Referring to the Committee on Shipwrecks, it is there stated, that the whole loss of life and property in British shipping wrecked or foundered in St. George's Channel, or Irish Sea, “may be assumed as amounting to 135 lives and 400,000 l. per annum; that such an annual loss of life by wreck or foundering of vessels at sea, is also attended with increased pecuniary burthen to the public, on whom the support of many widows and orphans left destitute by such losses does ultimately fall." This loss has been estimated by an eminent civil engineer, Mr. William Bald, to amount in ten years, with accruing interest, to 5,000,000 l. sterling, and 532 lives.

These conclusions, allow me to state, rest upon indisputable facts, attested by "Lloyd's List," the Wreck Register of the Admiralty, and other authentic records, carrying clear and abundant testimony of the distressing loss of life and property along the eastern coast of Ireland, and loudly proclaiming the urgent and indisputable necessity of endeavouring to mitigate its unhappy frequency.

From the concurrent testimony of nautical men, shipwrecks in the Channel proceed chiefly from the want of harbours of refuge; and as this conclusion has been so fully and disastrously verified, I trust that the memorial I have the honour to present (in reference to which a deputation intend to wait upon the Admiralty after the Easter recess) may induce it to direct that the most efficient survey and report may be made of the several applicable sites along the coast, in order that a Harbour of Refuge may be constructed with the least delay possible, combining the greatest natural capabilities, and calculated to secure the largest amount of public good,—a measure which is sustained by the highest recommendations of enlightened public policy, and the noblest feelings of humanity.

To the Right Hon. Sir James Graham, Bart., M. P., First Lord of the Admiralty, and the Members of the Board.

THE Memorial of the undersigned Nobility, Clergy, Gentry, Magistrates, Ship-owners, Merchants, and Traders of the County of the Town of Drogheda, and the surrounding Districts of the Counties of Meath, Louth, and Dublin, Humbly sheweth,

THAT your memorialists respectfully and earnestly beg leave to solicit the Board of Admiralty to take into consideration the serious and urgent necessity of more effectually protecting the shipping interests of the United Kingdom from the numerous shipwrecks and other casualties to which they are annually subjected, owing to the fearful and destructive gales prevailing along the eastern coast of Ireland.

That the disastrous occurrences to be recorded for the years 1852-53, which are but an addition to the usual destruction of lives and valuable property of mariners and merchants of the United Kingdom along the coast, afford, in the opinion of your memorialists, strong grounds for the adoption by the Board of Admiralty of the best protective and preventive measures against such repeated and unhappy casualties.

That the asylum harbours constructed on the eastern coast have not realised the expectations of the projectors, nor afforded adequate protection to the lives and property of Her Majesty's subjects; while sites along this coast possessing much greater natural capabilities, and which would have involved considerably less cost of construction, have, in the opinion of your memorialists, been overlooked; circumstances in which the masters and owners of vessels trading along this coast fully concur.

Impressed with these serious and grave considerations, and on behalf of the shipping and commercial interests of the United Kingdom, and for the more effectual protection and preservation of the seafaring community, your memorialists humbly pray that your Right Honourable and Honourable Board may be pleased to direct that the most efficient survey may be made of the eastern coast,

Sir,

104, Pall Mall, 20 May 1854.

I BEG permission to enclose you an authentic statement of the marine casualties that have occurred along the eastern coast of Ireland for the last four and one quarter years, embodied in a petition from the magistrates, merchants, and shipowners of the county of the town of Drogheda, presented to the House of Commons on the 9th instant, in a petition from the Port and Harbour Commissioners of Drogheda, presented to the House of Commons on the 19th instant ; and also in a petition about to be presented to the House of Lords from the inhabitants at large of the same town and county, praying, in the terms of the memorial (presented to the Admiralty on the 31st March last), for the most efficient survey of the eastern coast of Ireland, in order that a Harbour of Refuge may be constructed in the most advantageous and eligible position for the protection of the shipping interests along that peculiarly dangerous coast.

4 MEMORIAL, &c., RELATING TO THE CONSTRUCTING A

Allow me to observe, that the facts disclosed in this numerous and afflicting list of casualties for the period in question afford unquestionable evidence of the necessity of the earliest interposition of the Government to endeavour to mitigate these repeated and awful calamities. Were earlier records of such annual catastrophes to be consulted, they would but embitter and aggravate the recital of the destruction of human life, and the enormous waste of millions of pounds sterling. Although not wholly avoidable, they are in a great measure preventible, the want of harbours of refuge being, according to the highest nautical authority, the prime cause of shipwrecks in the Channel.

Among the humane and benevolent, the commercial and maritime classes, such an immense sacrifice of life and property has naturally excited a deep and wide-spread interest, which was strongly manifested by the numerous and influential signatures attached to the memorial above alluded to, which appeals in earnest and emphatic terms to the Admiralty to take the earliest steps that the most advantageous position may be decided upon for a Harbour of Refuge.

Both the memorialists and the petitioners trust that such a preliminary survey may be immediately entered upon, and that a paternal Government will not allow the present year to elapse without the accomplishment of this most indispensable and humane object. But a limited sum, it is considered, would be requisite for the survey of the few sites to be examined between Kingstown and Belfast. By a Treasury Minute, dated the 5th of April 1844, a survey for a similar purpose, but on a more extensive scale, was ordered and undertaken by the Government; and at a subsequent period the sum of three and one-half millions was allotted for harbours of refuge in the Channel Islands. Such national undertakings should in all good faith be executed in Ireland by the Imperial Government.

Committees of the House of Commons have long since acknowledged the pressing necessity for the construction of harbours of refuge along this perilous coast. The principle and expediency have been fully recognised on all sides, and it only rests now with the Government to order it.

Trusting that the initiative will be taken by the Government in this matter, and that a survey may be executed before the next Session of Parliament,

I have, &c.

Sir,

104, Pall Mall, 20 May 1854.

I TAKE the liberty of enclosing you three Statements in reference to the natural capabilities of Skerries and Clogher Head as sites for the proposed Harbour of Refuge on the east coast of Ireland, between Kingstown and Belfast.

The Statement marked No. 1 has been furnished by Mr. Francis M'Gowan, a gentleman of much intelligence in nautical matters at Skerries, and has been forwarded to me by the Honourable Thomas Preston, of Gormanston Castle, whose accompanying note I also beg leave to enclose.

Statement No. 2 has been written by Captain Togher, who commands the largest of the steamers trading between Drogheda and Liverpool, whose long experience and great intelligence in all matters appertaining to the navigation and requirements of the east coast have been publicly acknowledged by the shipping community, both at Drogheda and Liverpool. This communication has been forwarded to me by Dr. Atkinson, of Drogheda, a director of the Steam Packet Company trading between Drogheda and Liverpool, a general shipowner and magistrate for the district, whose note I also beg to enclose.

Statement No. 3 has been supplied to me by Mr. Patrick Boylan, of Drogheda, merchant, a consular agent, and also an agent of Lloyd's.

On this subject I beg leave to say that I expect to receive further local information, which I shall have the honour of transmitting to you, in order that the capabilities of Skerries, Clogher Head, and the other places along the coast, may receive the best consideration as to their relative fitness for a Harbour of Refuge; the object of the memorial lately presented to the Admiralty, and the petitioners to Parliament, praying for the same object, being to secure a site that will confer the greatest amount of public benefit and accommodation to the shipping interests along this dangerous coast.

I am, &c.

My dear Mr. Brodigan,

Gormanston Castle, 11 May 1854.

I BEG to enclose you the report relative to the Harbour of Skerries, which I have this moment received from Mr. Johnston. It appears to me to contain some valuable information, and I trust we may be able to succeed in establishing it as a safety harbour. If you should think it necessary to get any further information, pray write to me, and I shall be happy to do whatever I can.

Francis Brodigan, Esq.

Believe me, &c.

No. 1.

THE Bay of Skerries is superior to all other bays on the east coast of Ireland as a site for a Harbour of Refuge—

Firstly. Being naturally sheltered by a ledge of rocks running north-east from the old pier and the adjacent islands, from east-south-east, south-east, and southerly gales, from which no other bay on the east coast of Ireland is.

Secondly. Having a clean sandy bottom, with good holding ground and sufficient depth of water for the largest ships, one pier would be sufficient; a lime-stone quarry being in the vicinity, stones of the best quality can be had in any quantity.

Thirdly. The harbour would be of easy access to vessels of any rig, night or day. Rock-a-Bill, a remarkable rock, with deep water all round it, lying about four-and-a-half miles east by south of Skerries, two-and-a-half miles east from St. Patrick's Island, and about seven miles north-east from Lambay Island, forming a natural land-mark that could not be mistaken. With a light on Rock-a-Bill, and an asylum harbour at Skerries, there would be hardly a possibility of a shipwreck occurring on this part of the coast; a coast which has hitherto been proverbial for shipwrecks, in consequence of its being the lee side of outward-bound ships from Liverpool, when obliged to lie-to in gales of south-east, southerly, and south-south-west winds; also of homeward-bound ships to Liverpool, when obliged to lie-to in gales of east and east-south-east winds. Cumberland vessels and all other coasters would benefit more by a harbour at Skerries than on any other part of the east coast of Ireland.

Fourthly. The soundings being regular from seaward into the Bay of Skerries, the sea runs fair, with gales of east or east-south-east winds; consequently, there would be little danger of deep-loaded coasters being swamped when running for Skerries.

Fifthly. It would be also of great service to the fishermen of the east coast of Ireland, the fishermen from Cornwall, Scotland, and the Isle of Man, to have a harbour at Skerries, shoals of herrings resorting to this part of the coast from June to December, and from the want of such a harbour, but few are taken.

Sixthly. A railway station being at Skerries, there is every facility for passengers landing to go north to Belfast, or south by Dublin, to Cork, Waterford, or Limerick.

Seventhly. If there had been a proper Harbour of Refuge at Skerries, certain it is that the "Young England," Indiaman, and many other ships, coasters, and colliers, wrecked this year and last in this neighbourhood, would have been preserved by such harbour.

Eighthly. From its natural formation, it would not be likely to fill with sand, &c., as most artificially-formed harbours do; the tide flowing from one point, and ebbing in the directly opposite, thus regularly making the circuit of the harbour each tide.

Skerries, 5 May 1854.

(signed) Francis Gowan, Red Island.

My dear Sir,

Drogheda, 8 May 1854.

HAVING a large sum invested in the sailing and steam vessels of this port, I feel constrained to tender you my most sincere thanks for your untiring exertions to procure the erection of a lighthouse on Rock-a-Bill, and the construction of a Harbour of Refuge on the east coast. I do hope that the officials at the Admiralty will lend their powerful aid to carry out your wishes on these points. The case you have made is an unanswerable one, and you wisely do not fix on any particular locality, but leave the selection to those persons who, from education and experience, are the most competent to make the best selection. You have shown, from the immense loss of property and of human life, that such a work is loudly called for, and your only wish is that such work should be erected where it would be most beneficial to the entire community: this is the only sound and true principle to go upon.

I enclose you a copy of a letter addressed to me some time ago by Captain Togher, who commands the largest vessel of our steam fleet; he is a man of great experience, much intelligence and reflection, and one whose opinion would have great influence on me. As a director of our Steam Company, I have frequent opportunities of becoming acquainted with the extent of his nautical information, and I can with confidence say it is most respectable.

If you think Captain Togher's letter contains any useful information, you are at liberty to use it, bearing in mind that it is written by a man who has crossed the Channel from two to four times weekly for the last 20 years.

Again thanking you for your great and disinterested labours in this most important matter,

F. Brodigan, Esq.

No. 2.

STATEMENT of Captain Togher, of Drogheda, respecting Clogher Head and Skerries as suitable Sites for a Harbour of Refuge.

Sir,

I TAKE the liberty of making a few remarks regarding a Harbour of Refuge, or the means of saving life and property on this coast.

First. Suppose a fleet of ships leave Liverpool with the wind at S. or S. E., bound to different ports in the Channel, or foreign, they will very often find that when they get to sea, the wind will be at S. or S.S.W., and the weather dark or hazy, so that they will not see the land or the lights on the Welsh coast; for the ships generally come out from Liverpool through the Victoria Channel, and therefore are a long way to leeward with the above winds.

Perhaps it is blowing strong, and that these ships stand on a westerly course with a strong flood tide, and a heavy southerly sea in the Channel; they may be expecting to sight Howth or Lambay Island, and they cannot see in dark, hazy weather; and then, if the wind veers round to the eastward, they find their ship dead on a lee shore; for if they get so far to the westward as a line drawn from Rock-a-Bill to St. John's Point (and a heavy sea running from the east), they will not be able to work off a lee shore, and they will not have more than about 10 miles of a drift, and consequently drift ashore if the gale continues any length of time (unfortunately it has been so already). A lighthouse built on Rock-a-Bill might prevent some of them from getting too far to leeward.

Next are the coasting ships trading from the north of England or Scotland to the different ports on the east coast of Ireland, particularly Drogheda and Dublin, and further south, and also for the Bristol Channel, and vice versa; they would be warned from getting too far to leeward in Drogheda Bay, with a gale of east wind, before a proper time of tide on bar, if bound to Drogheda, and of keeping a more windward course, if bound to Dublin or further south, or if there was erected a good lighthouse on Rock-a-Bill, revolving the same as Tuskar Rock, showing red and white light alternately, as there is sufficient distance between them to distinguish one from the other.

Sir, I need not look for the names of all the ships that have been wrecked on this coast since October 1852; viz. at

Balbriggan Coast,
Drogheda Coast, and Clogher Head.

As for the rig of some of them, I am not certain; but you will find the number pretty correct, and I believe about 50 lives lost, and no means of rescuing them from a watery grave.

Then, with regard to a Harbour of Refuge at Skerries or Clogher Head, there ought to be one built at either of these places immediately, to relieve Kingstown Harbour; for, after the second day of a gale of east wind, Kingstown is not a safe harbour for a ship to run for, particularly at night-time, as there will be too many ships in it, and you run the risk of doing damage to them, or perhaps lose your own ship, by getting a bad berth to anchor in. Many ships have been sunk on the rocks on the west side of Kingstown Harbour already, some in the day-time.

I think, myself, that Skerries would be a safer place than Clogher Head, as there is a fine clear beach that a ship might run on after she rounded inside the east breakwater that would be built, even if she wanted her anchors, and which often happens, that a ship may part her cable, or slip them in some other roadstead, and she could not attempt to run for Kingstown, or even the new harbour of Holyhead, that is costing so much money; and as for Clogher Head, I am afraid that there is too much rock in-shore of a breakwater for a ship to save herself without her anchors.

If the Drogheda Harbour Commissioners can succeed in getting the Government to build a harbour, it will be for the Board of Admiralty to survey the coast, and decide which will be the best place; but it often happens that the local inhabitants are better judges than strangers. If it is to be done, it ought to be done as soon as it is possible to build it, before this coast is the scene of more disasters, such as happened the other day, and when you consider that it is opposite and only 130 miles distant from such a shipping port as Liverpool, that has the trade of all the known world frequenting it. Another acquisition to a harbour on this coast is, that there is not a sunken rock or sand-bank any distance from the land to prevent a ship from running for it in any weather; not so at Dublin; there are banks each side, and in the middle of Dublin Bay.

Again, regarding a life-boat: this is not for me to say who ought to get one, or who ought to man her after she would be got; but I say this, that there ought to be one got of the best construction, and that immediately, and also a light carriage with broad wheels, to carry her along the land; and she ought to be kept in the vicinity of this bar, as it is a trading port, and perhaps vessels are lost in running for it, as was the case the other day.

I mentioned about a year ago to the Boyne Commissioners, and I put it on paper for them, how a place of refuge might be put on the North Perch, so as a shipwrecked seaman or pilot might save himself by getting up into the crib that I propose, and it would make the Perch more conspicuous for navigating at night.

E. Atkinson, Esq., J.P.

No. 3.

STATEMENT on Skerries and Clogher Head, by Mr. Patrick Boylan, Merchant of Drogheda, May 1854.

OF the facilities which the harbour of Skerries affords for the erection of a safety harbour, the following are the details:—Its natural position, lying at the southern extremity of Drogheda Bay; for a natural ledge of rocks, known as the Cross Rocks, extending in a northerly direction from the island the present harbour is situated on, by building a breakwater on the above rocks, you shelter the anchorage, now called the Road of Skerries, from the winds that prevail from the east: at present there is good anchorage in the roads, with winds from north-west to south-south-east: by erecting a return on the proposed breakwater in a westerly direction, it would shelter the roads from the influence of the east to “north-west.” There is also another advantage in Skerries, as Rock-a-Bill lies about four statute miles eastward of it, and a light erected upon that rock would at once describe the locality of Skerries Harbour.

Clogher Head. By running a breakwater from Clogher Head, in a northerly direction, eastward of the present harbour, and a corresponding one in a north-east direction, off St. Denis’ Well, there would be a basin formed, where good anchorage could be obtained from six to seven fathoms at low water.

Sir,

Admiralty, 22 May 1854.

HAVING laid before my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty the memorial enclosed in your letter of 31 March, the result of a public meeting held at Drogheda, praying for a survey of the eastern coast of Ireland, with a view to construct a Harbour of Refuge in the most eligible position; also a copy of the list of casualties on the north coast, appended to petitions to the Houses of Parliament, accompanied by your letter of the 20th instant; I am commanded by their Lordships to acquaint you, for the information of the memorialists, that, under present circumstances, they do not feel justified in entertaining the proposition of incurring the expense that would be necessary for forming another Harbour of Refuge in the Irish Channel.

Francis Brodigan, Esq.

I am, &c.

Sir,

Drogheda, 19 April 1855.

I HAVE the honour to transmit copies of communications in favour of the establishment of a Harbour of Refuge on the north-east coast of Ireland, from the cities of Edinburgh and Glasgow, the seaports of Dundee and Greenock, and also two communications on behalf of the Lord Mayor of London, and the mayor of Liverpool, stating that the subject has been referred for consideration to the local authorities.

As it is the intention of the special committee appointed at a public meeting of the inhabitants of Drogheda to take the earliest opportunity of drawing the attention of the Government to this important and indispensable measure for the protection of human life and property, (in support of which a memorial, numerous and influentially signed by Peers and Members of the House of Commons, was presented to the Admiralty on 31 March 1854), they take the liberty of enclosing the present among other communications they have received in attestation of the necessity of a Harbour of Refuge being constructed, in the best possible position, upon that peculiarly dangerous coast.

I have, &c.

(signed) Thomas Hammond, Mayor,
Chairman of the Special Committee.

To the Right Hon. Sir Charles Wood, Bart., M. P.,
First Lord of the Admiralty.

Sir,

City Chambers, Edinburgh,
28 February 1855.

REFERRING to your letter of 31st ultimo, I am directed by the magistrates and council to transmit the annexed copy of a report by the committee to whom your letter was referred, which report was yesterday read, and approved of in Council.

Francis Brodigan, Esq.

I am, &c.
(signed) John Sinclair.

Edinburgh, 14 February 1855.

THE Lord Provost's committee, having considered this letter, desire to express their sympathy with the authorities of Drogheda in their anxiety to have a Harbour of Refuge on the north-eastern coast of Ireland, and they hope that the effort now making by them with that view may prove successful. The committee are influenced in this expression of opinion from the circumstance that such a harbour is much wanted on the east coast of Scotland, and that hitherto all endeavours to persuade the Government to move in the matter have proved unavailing; and they will be glad to find that the effort referred to may be the means of inducing the Government to take up the whole question, as affecting the coasts of Ireland and Scotland.

(signed) John Melville, Lord Provost.

Sir,

Dundee, 10 February 1855.

YOUR letter, and its accompanying petition, were laid before the Town Council and its committee, who approved generally of the views expressed in the petition, and adopted the enclosed resolution on the subject prayed for.

I am, &c.
(signed) John Anderson, Town Clerk.

THERE was laid before the committee a petition from Drogheda, praying Parliament for a Government survey of the eastern coast of Ireland, with a view to the construction of a Harbour of Refuge. The committee approve generally of the views expressed in the petition, and remit to the Provost and clerk, if necessary, necessary, to prepare a petition to the House of Commons, and recommend the Provost to subscribe the name of the council and the committee to forward such petition, and that this resolution be communicated to Francis Brodigan, Esq., Drogheda.

Dundee, 8 February.

Reported to and approved by the Town Council, at a meeting held this day.

(signed) John Anderson, Town Clerk.

Clyde Navigation, Glasgow,
9 February 1855.

Sir,

YOUR letter of 31st ultimo has been under the consideration of the Clyde Trustees, and they have resolved to petition in favour of a Harbour of Refuge on the Irish coast, as desired by you and the other gentlemen in Drogheda. The petition has been transmitted to the Members of this city, with a request that they should support the same in the House.

I am, &c.

(signed) N. Turner, Secretary.

Sir,

Council Chamber, Greenock, 14 March 1855.

I SHOULD perhaps have informed you earlier that the harbour trustees of this port have sent up a petition to the Commons in favour of the proposal for establishing a Harbour of Refuge on an eligible site on the east coast of Ireland, which I observe, by the Votes of the House, was presented by our Member. If anything further should be wanted to promote so very desirable an object, I shall be glad you let me know.

I am, &c.

(signed) John N. Gray, Town-Clerk.

Francis Brodigan, Esq.

Sir,

Mansion-house, 26 March 1855.

I BEG to acknowledge, on behalf of the Lord Mayor, the receipt of your letter and enclosures. I have also to state that your communication shall be laid before the proper authorities connected with the city without loss of time.

Yours, &c.

(signed) Rich^d N. Philipps.

Sir,

Town-hall, Liverpool, 12 February 1855.

I AM directed by the Mayor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 5th instant, with its enclosure, and to inform you, that he has handed them to the secretary of the Shipowners' Association of Liverpool, concerning a Harbour of Refuge on the Irish coast, as a matter proper to be laid before that body.

I am, &c.

(signed) L. Hughes.

COPY of PETITION from Glasgow, presented this Session, referred to in Letter thence, dated 9 February 1855.

THE humble Petition of the Parliamentary Trustees of the River Clyde and Harbour of Glasgow, Sheweth,

THAT your petitioners have heard with regret the great loss of life and property which have occurred during the last four years along the north-east coast of Ireland.

That your petitioners are of opinion that the establishment of a Harbour of Refuge on the most eligible site between Kingstown and Belfast would be viewed by

HARBOUR OF REFUGE ON THE EAST COAST OF IRELAND. 13

by the shipping interests of this country with much satisfaction, as tending to diminish the frequent casualties that have occurred upon this dangerous and exposed coast.

May it therefore please your Honourable House to take the matter into your consideration, and to grant such relief as to your Honourable House may seem proper.

(signed) Andrew Orr, Lord Provost.

9 February 1855.

Sir,

Drogheda, 30 May 1855.

IN further attestation of the necessity of establishing a Harbour of Refuge on the north-east coast of Ireland, permit me to forward you the enclosed communication, received from the Municipal Commissioners of Carrickfergus, expressive of their concurrence in this measure, and also their reply, on behalf of the special committee here for promoting the undertaking.

I am, &c.

(signed) John M'Namara, Secretary.

To the Right Hon. Sir Charles Wood, Bart., M.P.,

&c. &c. &c.

First Lord of the Admiralty.

Sir,

Town Hall, Carrickfergus, 26 May 1855.

I HAVE been directed by the Board of Municipal Commissioners of this borough to inform you, that they have authorized a petition to be signed by their Chairman, and presented to the House of Commons, as suggested by your letter of 10th March last. Be so good as to inform me if you wish the presentation of the petition to be delayed for any particular purpose, or to be presented by any particular Member.

I am, &c.

(signed) Robert Bowman.

Francis Brodigan, Esq.

Corresponding Member of Committee, Drogheda.

Sir,

104, Pall Mall, London, 29 May 1855.

I HAVE to acknowledge your letter of 26th instant, and beg to say, that we feel much gratification that the Municipal Commissioners of Carrickfergus concur in the necessity of a Harbour of Refuge on the north-east coast of Ireland.

In reply to your inquiry as to an immediate or deferred presentation of the petition adopted by the Commissioners, allow me to suggest its being presented by the Honourable and Gallant Member for the Borough, at his convenience, in the course of next week, on the re-assembling of the House.

I am, &c.

Mr. Griffith to Mr. Rendel.

Sir,

London, 26 May 1853.

I REQUEST you will have the goodness during your next visit to Ireland to favour the Board of Public Works with your opinion and advice, regarding the best means of providing sheltered wharfage in Kingstown Harbour for the largest class of steamers which may, and probably will be constructed, for postal and other services between Great Britain and Ireland; and that you will report whether, in your opinion, the posting packet landing wharf at present contemplated, and preparations for the construction of which are in progress, is the most suitable, and the best that the harbour affords.

I shall take care that Mr. B. D. Gibbons, the harbour engineer of the Board, shall meet you at Kingstown at any time you may appoint, and be prepared to submit to you the plans of the harbour on a large scale, together with the plan of the proposed works.

J. M. Rendel, Esq., C.E.

I have, &c.
(signed) R. Griffith.

Mr. Rendel to Mr. Griffith.

KINGSTOWN HARBOUR.

8, Great George-street, Westminster,
5 August 1853.

Sir,

IN compliance with the instructions contained in your letter of the 26th of May last, I inspected Kingstown Harbour on the 17th of the following month of June, attended by Mr. Barry Gibbons, your harbour engineer, who showed me the plans and site selected for the proposed packet pier, and explained to me the intended mode of construction, and the objects it is designed to attain.

On the 21st of June Mr. Gibbons sent me further papers; namely, a copy of the specification and contract for the proposed pier, the schedule of prices and tender on which the contract is based, and also an extract from a report which he made to your Board on the 17th January 1846, wherein he recommends the construction of the pier.

This information I have carefully considered, and now beg to make the following Report.

With regard to the selection of the position which would best enable such a pier to fulfil the conditions required of it, it will be obvious by a glance at the chart of Kingstown Harbour, that the depth of water necessary to secure its permanent efficiency can only be obtained on the land side, in the south-east angle of the harbour; that the pier must be on the land side, and as near to the railway station as possible, will also be apparent. It is fortunate, therefore, that the position should at the same time be the most suitable in regard to shelter from seaward as well as landward, that it should be at such a distance from the mouth of the harbour, that a vessel can shoot the breakwater heads, either at entrance or departure at full speed, and thus avoid danger, and also that her course between them and the pier will be along the eastern breakwater, and thus be strongly marked by night.

This quarter of the harbour has therefore, in my opinion, been judiciously selected as the position for the proposed pier, which is designed to run off for a length of 600 or 700 feet from the end of the short jetty, on which the water-house stands, that is, parallel to and about 440 feet westward of the east breakwater. The present jetty head is by the chart in 7 feet of water, at low water, whilst the head of the new pier would be in 21 feet of water, affording a length of nearly 400 feet, in not less than three fathoms, and of 200 feet, in from about two up to three fathoms. Its width is proposed to be 60 feet, and it is to be walled on each side, so that its western face may be used, as well as its eastern, by the packets when the weather permits.

As designed, it will be a durable structure; but the drawings do not show, nor does it appear, that Mr. Gibbons has yet decided on the plan to be adopted for effecting the embarkation and disembarkation of passengers and goods at the various levels of the tide, with the greatest ease and despatch. The facilitation of such operations is an object of considerable importance in a work of this kind, and can, in my judgment, be most perfectly attained by a slipway or inclined plane, made in the line of the wharf, and properly guarded with fender piles.

I would here observe that the pier, as designed, is carried to a height of 6 feet above high water. This is, I think, insufficient, and should be increased to at least 10 feet, which, whilst better for large steamers in berthing towards high water, would not add to the difficulty of transit at low water to and from the steamers, if a slipway of the kind above named be adopted.

The pier thus designed by Mr. Barry Gibbons will, in my opinion, fail to give the necessary accommodation to the large class of steamers likely to be employed on this station, and to the class of traffic they will in all probability give rise to, in the following particulars.

It could not be conveniently connected with the railway station by a railway; the inner berths would not only be too near the shore or beach for the packets to make them with perfect security in the night or bad weather, but they would also be in broken water, made by the waves, which then, as now, would run along the eastern breakwater and expend themselves on the shore; the width, namely, 440 feet, between the pier and east breakwater would be insufficient for a long steamer to swing in, which doubtless would sometimes be a great inconvenience; and lastly, whilst the whole water area between the proposed pier and the eastern breakwater is $7\frac{1}{2}$ acres, less than half that area only has from 3 to $3\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms at low water.

The objects which Mr. Gibbons has aimed at effecting, in placing the pier midway between the east breakwater and the eastern angle of the present wharf used by the packets, have manifestly been the removal both of the pier and packets completely out of the way of vessels seeking refuge in the harbour, and at the same time the giving up to the commerce of the port the whole of the present packet wharf.

These are, doubtless, desirable objects, but the importance of the service which the proposed pier is intended to accommodate, no less than the large expenditure which it will involve, demands that, if necessary, which I shall endeavour to show is not the case, the general convenience of the harbour should be made subservient to it.

The site I have to recommend for the proposed pier, as also that on which it is now commenced, are shown on the accompanying Plan of the Harbour, in red and yellow colour respectively.

By running it off from the eastern angle of the present wharf for a length of 800 feet in an E.N.E. (true) direction, we should not only afford a ready means of laying a branch line from the Dublin and Kingstown Railway station along the pier without resorting to turntables, but we should have the head of the pier upwards of 1,000 feet from the beach. We should secure a minimum depth of $3\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms at low water for its whole length of 800 feet. We should have a mean width of 680 feet between it and the east breakwater in $3\frac{1}{2}$ fathom water, which is ample for the largest anticipated class of steamers to swing in. We should have 19 acres of sheltered basin, of which $11\frac{1}{2}$ acres will have 3 fathoms as a minimum depth; and further, this comparatively large and deep basin will be more perfectly sheltered from all the winds to which Kingstown Harbour is exposed than the small basin formed by the pier, as now in course of construction.

In addition to these advantages, the berths of the packets would be wholly free from any inconvenience arising from the recoil of the waves breaking on the shore; for, as will be seen in the plan, whilst the distance of the head of the pier from the eastern breakwater would be only 500 feet, or only 60 feet more than in its present position, the extent of shore on which the waves would break would be doubled in width, as also will be the distance of the nearest berth from the shore.

And further, by this plan the present packet wharf, formed at a large expense for the use of the public service, will be still available in fine weather as an adjunct to the new wharf.

But it will be said, as before remarked, that it was an object in the original plan to leave the old packet wharf for general commerce, and it may be objected to the new plan, that, not only is this object proposed to be abandoned, but that its present usefulness even will be affected by the leading of the sea in bad weather more upon it, by reason of the junction and inclined position of the pier as I have proposed to place it.

The answer to this is, that if a commercial wharf is wanted it is now provided by the pier and wharf just completed in the south-west angle of the harbour, where there is ample room, shelter, and depth of water for any commercial shipping likely to trade to the port, and where trade can be carried on without being interfered with by the packets or shipping running to the port for refuge, or to wait a wind, and that in any weather when the new pier as now proposed would increase the sea in front of the old wharf, it would not be safe for vessels to lie alongside of it, even if the new pier was not constructed.

For the reasons therefore before given, I would recommend that the small extent of work now done on the present line of the pier should be finished up to high water, so as to extend the usefulness of the "watering quay;" that the plan should be altered as now proposed, and that the works should be pressed to completion as fast as is consistent with good execution.

In conclusion I have only further to observe as regards the cost of the works upon the site here proposed, that as the foundations are as good as on the old site, and no greater depth of water has to be encountered, I am of opinion that there would be no difficulties of construction that would justify the contractor in demanding any increase in the schedule of prices to which he is bound by his existing contract, and that therefore the cost of the pier per foot of length would not be increased.

I have, &c.

PUBLIC WORKS.—KINGSTOWN HARBOUR.

NEW STEAM PACKET PIER.

Sir, Harbour Engineer Office, 11 Sept. 1853.

IN compliance with your directions I have carefully perused, and anxiously considered, Mr. Rendel's Report addressed to you under date of the 5th ultimo, deeply impressed with the importance of the subject, and no less with a sincere appreciation of Mr. Rendel's great ability, and practical acquaintance with such matters.

"Arrangements for embarking and disembarking passengers at the varying tidal levels."

This is very important, and I have given great attention to it; Mr. Rendel recommends inclines or slipways in the line of the wharf as the most perfect arrangements; and further advises, that the height of the pier should be increased from 6, as designed, to at least 10 feet over high water; as these points bear upon each other, I shall take them together.

An incline, or slipway, naturally suggests itself as an obvious mode of meeting the varying level of the tide; and as you are aware he adopted it in several smaller works which are frequented by light vessels and boats, that are easily shifted from one part of the incline to another, as the tide rises or falls, and where it answers admirably well; but I doubt that it is judiciously applicable to our circumstances here, where the vessels are so heavy that the shifting of their berths would impose too much labour and loss of time; besides that, it is almost indispensable that the packet should take the same position every time she comes alongside, in order to have the use of the crane, which is a fixture. I do not think it will be at all necessary to cut up the line of our wharf with inclines, if we but fix its height judiciously with relation to the height of the decks of the packets it is intended to accommodate; and to effect this it is clear that what we should aim at, is to reduce the difference of level between the deck and the coping to a minimum of both extremes of the tide; if the heights of the packets were all the same, there would be no question as to the height of the wharf, which evidently should be in the plane of the deck at half-tide. The present packets are about 7 feet over water surface; let us assume that the new packets will be

	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	10 feet.
Our rise and fall is	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	12
The wharf coping as designed is	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	6
											18
											10
Then at low water the packet deck would be	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	8 feet.
											10
Under copings, and at half water	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	6
Would be over coping	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	4 feet.

So that if the new packets are not more than 10 feet over water surface, we should reduce the height to 4 feet instead of raising it to 10 feet, and if the decks be 12 feet over water surface, the height designed is precisely right. To make it advisable to raise the pier to 10 feet, we must assume that the packets' decks will be 16. In docks where the water surface is uniform, and large ocean ships discharge, it is desirable that the wharf should be very high to meet their condition when floating empty; but these are not our circumstances; the heights of the packets' decks may for all practical purposes be regarded as uniform, and I cannot conceive it possible that for a channel passage of 60 miles, this height will ever exceed 12 feet, more especially when I see by the Evidence before the Parliamentary Committee, that the draft of water of even the 400 feet steamers is to be but 13. On this part of the subject I have no difficulty in assuring you, that, if we do not make the pier disproportionately high, passengers and horses will be enabled to walk in and out, with comfort and safety, at every stage of the tide, by a very simple arrangement. The height of the present wharf was unfortunately increased to 8 feet, which has been ever since a serious inconvenience; this was done to prevent the sponsons of the steamers catching on the coping, which can be as well prevented as at Belfast and other places, by fender piles at the berth, as Mr. Rendel suggests for the incline.

Mr. Rendel is of opinion that the pier as designed will fail to afford the necessary accommodation in the following particulars:

"First. That it could not be conveniently connected with the railway station."

There is no difficulty in connecting the pier, as designed, with the railway station; and this connexion will have the great advantage over that proposed by Mr. Rendel, that it can be made without crossing this crowded thoroughfare on the level, which would obviously be most dangerous and objectionable, and excite the most determined opposition from the public.

"Secondly. That the inner berth would be too close to the beach."

That, in other words, means, that the proposed pier of 600 feet in sufficient depth of water is not long enough; the obvious remedy is to make it 800 feet, as

Mr.

Mr. Rendel proposes: and here I beg your special attention; it is quite true that the pier head, as designed by Mr. Rendel, would be upwards of 1,000 feet from the beach; "but looking to the plan, you will find that the berthing lines parallel to its face immediately meets the long rubble slope of the east end of the present jetty, with several sunken rocks lying in front of the Yacht Club House." So that, in fact, a vessel running in alongside has no more margin or spare space ahead in one case than the other, beyond what may be acquired by increased length of construction; and with this difference, that in one the termination will be an even beach, while in the other it would be a mass of outlying sunken rocks.

"Thirdly. That the inner berth would be in broken water, made by the waves that then, as now, would run along the eastern breakwater, and expend themselves on the shore."

This angle of the harbour being absolutely land-locked, is free from anything deserving the name of wave: in extreme gales from the north-west, there is of course a fretful superficial agitation; but even this will be got rid of when the berth is masked, as it obviously will be, by the pier. Referring to the plan, you will see that this "inner berth," instead of being in "broken water," will not be subject to a longer drift or fetch than there is in an ordinary floating dock; no wave rolls along the inner face of the eastern breakwater; it is open to only the winds that blow over the land, which is too close to admit of a wave being generated, there is such a roll along the western wall, which is open to the sea winds; but here there is really no such thing. Mr. Rendel himself describes this place as "most suitable in regard to shelter from seaward as well as landward."

"Fourthly. The width, namely, 440 feet between the pier and east breakwater, would be insufficient for a long steamer to swing in, which doubtless would sometimes be a great inconvenience."

In either case, a large steamer should necessarily have to swing, or be canted by hand, as in floating docks; and this being done deliberately, after the mails and passengers are discharged, there would be no difficulty in effecting it with the longest steamers ever likely to be employed on this passage, even though that length reached the enormous extent of 400 feet; but I would respectfully ask, is it reasonable to suppose that vessels of this length will be attempted, where all the caution and delay indispensable in leaving and entering harbours, the mouths of which are crowded with craft of all sorts, will be required twice in every 63 miles. On ocean voyages, vessels of this great length would have their commensurate advantage; but on this short passage more than what would be gained in the open seaway would be lost in endeavouring to avoid collision at the entrances of the harbours, so unmanageable would such long vessels be in a circumscribed space, and hampered with the numbers of others working in and out. That a great improvement in accommodation, in power, and also in speed is badly required, there can be no doubt; but surely all that is desirable can be attained without exceeding, say, 350 feet; and for this, our proposed accommodation is ample in every respect.

"Lastly. The whole area between the proposed pier and the eastern breakwater is $7\frac{3}{4}$ acres; less than half that area only has from 3 to $3\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms at low water;" viz. what Mr. Rendel proposes there would be, "19 acres of sheltered basin, of which $11\frac{1}{2}$ acres would have 3 fathom."

Mr. Rendel puts this forward as a merit on his proposition; in my estimation it constitutes a most serious objection. If his construction gained this greater area from the sea, it would be a strong argument in the comparison; but unfortunately it is abstracted from the most valuable part of a space already far too limited for the great and most important of all objects connected with this harbour—refuge. Observe, that in either case the whole must be exclusively set apart for the one service. In his design $11\frac{1}{2}$ acres, and in mine $3\frac{1}{2}$ acres, of deep water are devoted to the purpose; and witnessing, as I have for many years, the inestimable value of Kingstown as a harbour of refuge, I have a strong feeling that nothing short of imperative necessity would justify any abstraction from its already insufficient area.

My objection to Mr. Rendel's design is, first, that it renders all but useless an existing wharf of 450 feet in length, which cost a large sum, and at which the entire steam traffic of the port is, and has been for some years carried on; for it is certain, that with the prevailing winds from west round to north, no vessel would dare go into the re-entering angle formed by the two structures; and secondly, that it takes away 20 acres of the very best part of the harbour; and the return for or produce for this huge sacrifice is 800 lineal feet of wharf, in a line not admitting of extension, while the pier in progress may be extended to 2,000 feet in the same line, without abstracting (practically) one additional square yard of refuge area from the harbour, inasmuch as that it would only occupy space that should, under any circumstances, be kept clear for free ingress and egress.

The object I aimed at in this work was to afford to the packet service a basin with a clear, well-defined approach, and so thoroughly sheltered that the steamers may remain within it securely in any possible state of the weather, and that thereby the space now necessarily occupied by their fixed moorings would revert to the great purposes of refuge, and that the present packet pier would be available for the other steamers that frequent the harbour from the Clyde, Liverpool, Bristol, London, &c.; but Mr. Rendel's design utterly frustrates this last object, by rendering the Queen's Wharf comparatively useless, the result of which should be that the steamers would necessarily encroach still more upon the space for refuge; and during the progress of the work there would be no place available for carrying on the postal communication when the harbour is crowded with windbound vessels, and the only practicable approach to the present jetty, or rather to the portion of it not covered by the new work, would be effectually barred by the staging for carrying on the works.

If there were no other consideration involved but the affording 800 feet of wharfage to the packets plying between Holyhead and Kingstown, I would have no objection to what Mr. Rendel proposes; and I freely admit that the larger space inclosed would be an advantage, but I maintain that there is no necessity for the great sacrifice which it would occasion. What may be well regarded as a floating dock of 440 feet in width and 2,000 feet long (if desirable), will supply all that can possibly be required; that this space would be not only thoroughly sheltered, but "wholly free from any inconvenience arising from the recoil of the waves breaking on the shore," I unhesitatingly assert. Independently of the physical circumstances of its position, a constant knowledge of the place for 16 years enables me to say this with confidence.

In conclusion I beg to observe, that when this pier was planned, we did not contemplate vessels exceeding 250 feet in length, and with this view intended it to have 600 feet in deep water; but if we are to accommodate vessels 300 to 400 feet in length, we must extend our pier to at least what Mr. Rendel proposes, namely, 800 feet; and this I show on the accompanying chart; and I call attention to the lines or direction of the piers respectively. It will be seen that a large steamer lying alongside the pier I propose would have a straight course before her, and may put on full speed at once; whereas if lying alongside the other, a steamer of, say, 400 feet in length would be ashore on the opposite breakwater (which would be a little more than her own length ahead) before she could come round to the direct course, especially if blowing heavily from N.N.W., which would take her full broadside. In reply to this it may be said, that before letting on steam the ship's quarter could be moored off, and she may be brought into the line she would be if alongside any pier; but this will waste time after the mails and passengers are on board. And recollect that the gross gain in time for which these huge vessels are employed is reckoned, not by hours, but by minutes.

MINUTE of the Commissioners of Public Works.

(Extracted from the Board's Minutes of 24th November 1853.)

KINGSTOWN PACKET PIER.—MR. RENDEL'S PLAN.

THE Board having had before them Mr. Rendel's Report, containing a recommendation to abandon the site of the new packet pier at Kingstown Harbour, at present in progress, and substitute an extension in a north-eastern direction from the north-east angle of the present landing wharf (Victoria Wharf), are of opinion that, under existing circumstances, it will not be advisable to adopt the site recommended by Mr. Rendel, in preference to that already adopted by the Admiralty, and sanctioned by the Treasury on the recommendation of Sir William Cubitt, for the following reasons :

1. That the present Victoria Wharf would not be available for the use of the mail packets during the time the pier proposed by Mr. Rendel was in progress, say three years at least ; and there being no other suitable landing quay within the harbour available, the public service would be seriously inconvenienced during the period of the execution of the proposed pier.

2. That Kingstown Harbour was originally commenced for the purpose of forming an asylum harbour for the merchant shipping of the Channel, and particularly for the port of Dublin, and that all vessels from foreign stations trading to and entering the port of Dublin pay dues to Kingstown Harbour, as well as that, at the period when the works at Kingstown were commenced, the mail packet station was at Howth Harbour.

That, circumstanced as Kingstown Harbour is at present, complaining petitions have been forwarded to the Treasury and Admiralty, and much correspondence has taken place regarding the inconvenience suffered by the merchant shipping in consequence of the special moorings and regulations connected with the mail and other steam packets frequenting the harbour, no merchant vessel being allowed to use the moorings, or to anchor in the best part of the harbour which has been allocated to the steam packets ; and should the pier, as proposed by Mr. Rendel, be executed, the character of an asylum harbour for merchant vessels would be still further interfered with.

That Mr. Rendel only took into consideration the accommodation of the vessels trading to Kingstown, which are few in number and of insignificant tonnage, but as frequently very large vessels, not only those trading with Dublin, but passing up Channel to Liverpool, Glasgow, &c. take shelter in Kingstown Harbour in stormy weather, it is absolutely necessary to preserve, as much as possible, the portion of the harbour sheltered from easterly winds for the accommodation of the general trade, as in north-easterly gales the west side of the harbour is so exposed that no vessels anchoring there can ride in safety.

Under these circumstances, the Commissioners have determined to adopt the site as already sanctioned, but as it is anticipated that steam-vessels of much greater length than those at present employed in the mail packet service will be substituted for them, they agree with Mr. Rendel in thinking that the packet pier should be extended in length from 700 feet to at least 800 feet ; and it will be for future consideration whether the direction of the pier head should not be inclined more to the westward than that heretofore intended, so as to increase the space between the now proposed termination of the new packet pier at, say 800 feet from the water tank and the eastern breakwater of Kingstown Harbour. But this is a subject which will require the practical opinion of seamen accustomed to handle steam-vessels of great length.

Sir,

Office of Public Works, Dublin, 20 July 1854.

THE Commissioners of Public Works, who are also Commissioners of Kingstown Harbour, have desired me to acquaint you that they have at present under consideration the construction of a wharf, for the accommodation of steam-vessels of very large dimensions, say 400 feet in length, and of a high velocity, to carry the mails and passengers between Kingstown and Holyhead, and they are desirous of obtaining the opinion of a person of so much experience in the command of the very largest class of steam ships as yourself, as to the practicability of turning a steamer of the size above mentioned in the space proposed between the jetty and the east pier, which will be but 450. The Board's Harbour Engineer, Mr. B. D. Gibbons, will show you the plans of what is proposed, and the Commissioners would feel much obliged by your favouring them with your opinion on this subject, and with any suggestions that you may feel inclined to offer on a proceeding of so much importance to the public generally.

Gentlemen,

IN reply to the letter dated 20th instant, you did me the honour to address me while at Kingstown: I beg to remark that I have no hesitation in stating that vessels of equal length and dimensions generally to the "Himalaya" could be taken in and out of your proposed dock with as much facility and safety as the packets at present employed in the mail service between Holyhead and your port.

City of Dublin Steam Packet Company,
15, Eden Quay, Dublin, 8 November 1854.

Sir,

IT being understood that the works connected with the new steam packet pier at the south-east corner of Kingstown Harbour have been discontinued, and that it is in contemplation to construct instead thereof a pier in connexion with the present wharf, I have on the part of the City of Dublin Steam Company most urgently to represent the great anxiety and alarm with which this change of plan is contemplated, and respectfully to request that an inquiry may be made into the respective merits of the two plans from the commanders of the mail and other vessels, frequenting the harbour, as well as from those practically acquainted with the locality, before a measure of such importance to the mail packet service and the public be finally decided on.

The opinion of the commanders who have charge of the mail packets, as well as those in the other vessels of the Company, which enter Kingstown Harbour daily, are strongly in favour of the pier already commenced, as being admirably adapted to provide for the safe berthing of vessels at both sides in all states of the weather, and for approach and departure under all circumstances with the greatest ease and security.

Their opinions are equally decided that the pier which it is understood as being in contemplation to run in a north-eastern direction from the corner of the Victoria Wharf, will on many occasions be difficult of access, dangerous to lie on the west side, and be attended also with risk when starting their vessels.

I beg

I beg to state, as justifying reliance being placed on the opinions of these officers, that all are thoroughly acquainted with the harbour, taking the vessels under their command daily in and out in every state of the weather, some having been on this service for many years.

When I mention that the vessels of this Company which frequent Kingstown Harbour carrying Her Majesty's mails to Holyhead, and plying to Liverpool, enter or leave the harbour about six times daily, the anxiety of the directors on the subject of providing the best and safest landing accommodation will, it is hoped, be considered sufficient to justify the present representation, respectfully urging on the attention of their Lordships the necessity of instituting inquiry from those best acquainted with the locality, before a sanction be given to any alteration from the original plan, which appears to have been so perfectly adapted to accomplish all the intended objects of an improved landing pier.

Gentlemen,

Admiralty, 18 November 1854.

I HAVE received and laid before my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty your letter of the 8th instant, expressing your alarm and anxiety caused by the discontinuance of the works connected with the new steam packet pier at Kingstown Harbour, and the contemplated construction in lieu thereof of a pier in connexion with the present wharf, and I am to acquaint you that their Lordships have referred the same to the Lords of Her Majesty's Treasury.

Mr. Howell (City of Dublin Steam Packet Company) to Mr. Hornsby.

Sir,

City of Dublin Steam Packet Company,
15, Eden Quay, Dublin, 17 February 1855.

THE recent easterly gales frequently rendered the approach of the mail and other packets to the Victoria Wharf, in Kingstown Harbour, not only difficult and dangerous, but sometimes altogether impracticable, on which occasion the mail bags and passengers were conveyed in open boats through the harbour.

To guard against such contingencies, the new wharf at the S. E. of the harbour was commenced in 1853, and its completion was looked forward to with great interest by the commanders and owners of steam ships.

The directors, when they heard that the further progress of this most useful work was suspended, addressed a letter to the Lords of the Admiralty, of which I beg to enclose a copy for the information of the Commissioners of Public Works, as also a copy of the reply received from their Lordships to that communication.

The directors are very anxious to be informed if any measure has been decided on which will provide the suitable landing accommodation at Kingstown, which has been so long required for the berthing of the mail and other steam ships with safety and despatch in severe weather.

NEW STEAM PACKET PIER IN KINGSTOWN HARBOUR.

Sir,

13, Talbot-place, Dublin, 15 March 1855.

ON the part of a numerous body of shipowners whose memorial of March 1851 to the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, was graciously granted, by sanctioning the new steam packet pier in Kingstown Harbour, I have the honour to inform their Lordships that nothing has yet been done by the Board of Works towards carrying out the intentions of the Government, as intimated in Parliament towards the close of last Session.

The pier, about one-fourth of which had been constructed when the work was suspended, had proved satisfactory to the Steam Packet Company and to the shipping interests generally, as well as to the public who are concerned in having a safe wharf, and an easy means of connecting it with the railway, advantages which the site chosen is admitted to possess.

The objection raised to the position of the pier is understood to be that there would not be room for an extremely large class of vessels which may be placed at some future period on the station. The length of the proposed vessel is stated to be 400 feet (65 feet longer than the "Great Britain"), and her measurement 3,000 tons. To obviate that objection, and to give facility in stopping, it was recommended before the Select Committee on the Communication between London and Dublin, by Commander Claxton, who is acting with Mr. Brunel in the construction of a steamer of very large dimensions, that the projected vessel be made to steer both ways; Mr. Scott Russell, who had built on that plan ships of war of 600 tons, which had proved themselves to be excellent sea-boats, and without diminution of their speed, concurred in that recommendation, and further stated his willingness to contract for such a ship for the sum of 160,000 £, to go at a speed of 25 miles an hour, and not to receive the money if she did not answer the engagement.

The class of vessels recommended in the Resolutions of the Select Committee, "that would go at a rate of at least 20 miles an hour," for which there is a definite proposal in the Minutes of Evidence, and the length fixed at 300 feet (being longer than Cunard's or Collins's packets), would have ample room to turn at the pier in question, the space being 440 feet wide; and the captain of the "Himalaya," who was in Kingstown Harbour last summer, stated that there was not the least difficulty in turning his great vessel in that space.

The shipowners believe the plan of the pier to be good, because of the facility given for steamers to run straight in and out of the harbour, and of the shelter afforded, without interference with the general purposes of refuge; and if the mode of steering both ways were adopted, there would be no difficulty in accommodating a yet larger class of vessels, 600 feet in length, mentioned by Mr. Scott Russell as capable of being worked up to a speed of 30 miles an hour; but the evidence goes to show that those ships of extraordinary size and power could not, from their cost, be objects of commercial speculation, and possibly still less of large subsidy, being only intended for the day passage, and consequently unsuited for the regular mail service. It is, therefore, most respectfully submitted to their Lordships, that no valid objection appears to stand in the way of a work of admitted utility, greatly needed for steam packets, whose passengers are frequently obliged to land in boats during easterly gales for want of a pier or wharf to come alongside of, thereby creating the necessity of laying down moorings, with which the best part of the harbour is occupied, to the exclusion of sailing vessels, and exposing them to the dangers and injuries set forth in the memorial referred to.

Humbly offering these observations to the consideration of their Lordships,

I have, &c.

Sir,

I HAVE the honour to return herewith the letter of Mr. T. Richardson, dated the 15th instant, on behalf of himself and other shipowners interested in the trade of Kingstown Harbour, in which he calls attention to the cessation of the works of the new packet pier there, as well as to the plans now under consideration for carrying out the works of the packet pier referred to, and I am directed to state, for the information of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, that the delay in the execution of the works in question complained of by Mr. Richardson is not occasioned by this Board, as their Lordships are aware already.

The Board fully concur in Mr. Richardson's observations as to the advantageous position of the proposed pier.

KINGSTOWN HARBOUR.

8, Great George-street, Westminster,
4 April 1855.

Sir,

THE instructions of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury communicated to me in your letter of the 3d July last, are, that I should consider and report fully to their Lordships upon the works now carried on in Kingstown Harbour, and as to the effects they will have in a postal and commercial point of view.

The works referred to are those of a pier designed in 1842, for the sole use of the mail packets. This pier, together with another laid out for trading purposes on the opposite side of the harbour, originated in the defects of a deep-water quay, built on the harbour shore about the year 1835, at a cost of 23,000*l.*, which was found not only insufficient for the accommodation of both packets and traders, but its use to be attended with frequent difficulties, and sometimes with danger.

On Plan No. 1. of Kingstown Harbour annexed to this Report, these several piers are shown, that finished in 1835 being coloured brown; the proposed Packet Pier, red; and the Traders' Pier, yellow.

The last named was commenced in 1848, and finished some time ago at a cost of upwards of 30,000*l.* The Packet Pier was not commenced till 1853, and there has now been expended upon it upwards of 6,000*l.* out of an estimated cost of 63,000*l.*

The question of the sufficiency or insufficiency of this packet pier for its destined use was first brought under my notice at the instance of the Irish Board of Works, who have charge of the harbour. This was in May 1853, and resulted in my reporting to the Chairman of the Board in August in the same year, to the effect that, in my opinion, the works as being constructed would be insufficient for packets of the large size now proposed to be used between Kingstown and Holyhead, as regards both water and wharfage accommodation, and would not admit of that complete connexion with the Railway to Dublin which I deemed essential.

For the better attainment of these objects, I recommended that the site of the pier should be altered, as shown by green tint on the annexed Plan, No. 1, which, as contrasted with the red, shows a larger and more sheltered water space for the packets, and such a direction for the pier as would admit of a commodious and easy extension of the Dublin Railway over its whole length.

This change of plan was not, as I understand, objected to on the ground of cost, for it would certainly not involve any considerable increase on the estimated expenditure; but it was said that the original plan had been approved by Sir William Cubitt, that the new plan was a greater encroachment on the refuge capabilities of the harbour, and that it interfered to a great extent with the approaches to the old quay or packet wharf, and would increase the difficulties vessels now find in lying alongside it in easterly winds.

In writing my report, I certainly regarded the accommodation and shelter afforded to the packets by the pier in question as the only subject referred to me, my instructions not enabling me to go into the larger one of the general state of the harbour. By your present instructions, however, I understand that I am to review its whole conditions, and report on and design such works as will, in my opinion, render it both perfectly safe as a harbour of refuge, and take away the necessity for special works of protection for the packets.

The present defects of the harbour are the turbulence of the water within it in northerly and easterly gales, and its exposure in south-easterly to the wind, which sweeping across the east breakwater and harbour with great violence, has been the cause of vessels dragging their anchors or parting their cables, and then fouling each other or drifting on the west breakwater.

Sir William Cubitt, in the report before referred to, dated 19th February 1846, after giving a favourable opinion of the designs for the collier or trader and mail packet piers, makes the following remarks: "Still it appears to me to be a most anomalous state of things, that a refuge harbour, one of the finest in its construction of any artificial harbours in the kingdom, or perhaps in the world, and which has cost nearly three-quarters of a million sterling, should now require what are in fact two interior harbours (for such they are in fact) for the safety and accommodation of Her Majesty's mail packets in the one case, and the colliers and merchant vessels in the other. Whilst the splendid wharf at the upper side of the main harbour, and the largest portion of the harbour westwardly, remain as much exposed to the eastwardly gales as ever, so that vessels can neither lie alongside the former, nor anchor in the latter, without danger of being knocked to pieces in the one case, or driven from their anchors, and wrecked in the other, as has (I am informed) happened within a recent period, and may happen again under similar circumstances." He then goes on to observe: "Now, in my judgment, this harbour might and ought to be so covered and protected at its entrance, that vessels might lie alongside a wharf at any part of it in any weather; and so that vessels if blown adrift from their anchors through bad ground-tackle or other cause should not be damaged by the effects of swell or waves rolling bodily into the harbour, as is the case at present during the prevalence of easterly gales."

These remarks still apply to the harbour; and I fully agree with Sir William Cubitt on the anomaly that it should be left so exposed that not only can no commercial use be made of the inner side of the two great breakwaters, but that wharves built on any part of the shore which they inclose, want, for their protection against the sea and wind, further and costly works.

Tracing back the history of the harbour, it would seem that it originated in a proposal to provide shelter for vessels trading to Dublin, when caught off Dublin Bay during easterly gales, to which the bay is open. For this purpose, it was not at first thought necessary to do more than run off from the shore east of the old harbour of Dunleary a breakwater, within which vessels might ride out a gale, or wait for the tide to enter the Liffey. The question was referred to the late Mr. Rennie, who reported favourably upon it; and the work was thereupon commenced, and is represented by the present east pier or breakwater. Before, however, the works had made any considerable progress, it was suggested that by adding a western pier, extending from the old Dunleary Harbour, not only would the original object be much more effectually secured, but a harbour of refuge would be provided adequate to the wants of the whole coast; and Mr. Rennie was accordingly directed to alter the original design, so as to meet these new and enlarged views.

It is manifest that a harbour of refuge cannot be too easy of access in all the dangerous winds of the coast on which it is situated, and that it should admit of the easy departure of vessels in any wind suitable for them to go to sea; a requirement much more felt when Kingstown Harbour was designed than now, when steam tugs so effectually and economically provide for any deficiency in it.

But it appears that though Mr. Rennie had, with all his usual care and foresight, sight, so designed the harbour's entrance as to be in his judgment most suitable in these respects, his plans with regard to it were altered after his death. The alteration at first determined on was the increase of the width of the entrance from 430 to about 1,000 feet, by the omission of the terminating converging kants of the two piers.

The propriety, however, of this change was referred to Sir John Rennie and other engineers, and some nautical men. Sir John Rennie reported in favour of adhering to the original plan. I have not been able to obtain the reports of any other engineer, except that of Sir William Cubitt. He, in 1835, reported to the Admiralty, recommending such an increased width for the entrance, but that it should be protected from the inrun of the sea, by the construction of a detached breakwater.

This breakwater, with the arrangement of the heads of the piers as recommended by him, I have shown on the Plan No. 1, in black dotted lines. The entrance was ultimately finished with a width of 770 feet. Vide Plan (B.), at the end.

Concurring, as I do, with Sir William Cubitt in his report before quoted, that Kingstown Harbour is less safe than it should be for its original purposes of refuge, and still more so as a trading and packet port, I shall now consider how its defects can be best remedied with reference to all these important interests, at a justifiable cost.

I would, in the first place, however, observe, that the cases are few where a harbour can be so designed as to combine perfect freedom of entrance and departure with the tranquillity requisite for ordinary trading purposes; and that when these have to be united there must be some compromise.

But in a harbour so situated and designed as this is, the difficulty of arriving at such a compromise is more than usually great, and is still further increased by the demands upon the harbour as a packet station.

The low-water area of the harbour is 233 acres; but of this area 33 acres have less than 15 feet of water at low water of spring tides, and cannot therefore be regarded as available for either refuge or the packet service, even when the harbour is freed from its present liability to disturbance. In its present state of exposure, however, three fathoms is the least depth that can be regarded as sufficient for these purposes. The portion of the harbour with less than this depth is about 99 acres, so that the loss of the useful water space in it consequent on its exposure, is 66 acres.

This, however, is not the only deduction that must be made by reason of its exposure. There must be added to this direct loss, that consequent on the additional length of cable which vessels must anchor with, and therefore the greater space each vessel will occupy if placed in safety, and which I consider to amount to a further reduction of 25 per cent. It must also be observed, that owing to the width of the present entrance, being nearly one-fifth of the widest part of the anchorage, a further great reduction has to be made for the space which must be left clear within the entrance, to enable vessels to run in with safety.

When, therefore, this harbour is called one of the largest in the kingdom, it is not to be supposed capable, in its present condition, of affording refuge to any considerable quantity of shipping, whilst limited as its useful capacity is, it is yearly diminishing as the size and draft of vessels increase.

The same remarks apply to its value as a packet station.

For each and all of these reasons it seems to me to be a matter of the first necessity to make fully available for refuge and packet purposes every acre which has the requisite depth.

The detached breakwater proposed by Sir William Cubitt, by its complete masking of the present wide entrance from the north-east, would doubtless prevent the direct run of the sea into the harbour, which now takes place during gales from this the most exposed point; but I consider it would, by occasioning the deflection of waves, increase their tendency to enter it in south-easterly gales, which on this coast frequently blow with more violence, and get up a heavier sea, than even those to the northward of east.

Again, although the breakwater is placed in the line of the ebb stream out of Dublin Bay, yet, looking to its proposed mode of construction, namely, of rough deposits of stone, which would make its breadth at low water at least 200 feet, I am not without apprehension that the eddy it would occasion might produce a bank at the east end of it, should it be that the sands which form the Bull Bank are occasionally brought down across the harbour's mouth.

Lastly, the breakwater is placed only 800 feet from the head of the east pier, which, making the necessary allowance for the slopes of both works, would reduce the available width of the navigable passage to about a cable's length, a space which I cannot consider as sufficient for convenient, or indeed on some occasions for safe navigation.

All these objections might doubtless be remedied to a considerable extent by placing the breakwater at double the proposed distance from the entrance; but this would involve an addition of 500 feet at least to the length of the breakwater, in order to obtain the same shelter, and a more than corresponding cost on account of the greater depth of water in which it must be constructed.

Sir William Cubitt's estimate of the work in 1835 was 75,000 l. I do not, however, think that it could be done now for less than 100,000 l.: whilst, if removed and increased in length, as above proposed, its cost would be at least 150,000 l., an expenditure which I am not prepared to recommend.

The design which I have to propose is shown on the annexed Plan No. 2, in red, and is a return to the late Mr. Rennie's views, so far as is consistent with the piers as now constructed, and with a reasonable expenditure of time and money.

It will be seen that I propose to extend the west breakwater in the same direction as its last kant for a length of 325 feet, and to run off from the inside of the head of the east breakwater in a S.W. by W. direction, a spur for a length of 200 feet.

These works would have the effect of diminishing the width of the entrance from 770 feet, as at present, to 450 feet, and of altering its aspect from N.N.E. to N.E. by N.

Now whilst this considerable reduction in width will go very far to remove the worst evils to which the harbour is at present exposed, it will, in my judgment, remain sufficiently easy of entrance during all dangerous winds on the coast, even for light vessels with damaged sails and rigging; and though it may perhaps be on some occasions somewhat less easy of exit for sailing vessels, yet this disadvantage, which may be remedied whenever it occurs, by the use of a steam-tug, will be far more than compensated by the increased shelter which the west side of the harbour will obtain during north-easterly gales, and which will be such as to double its useful capacity, and by the exclusion of the waves which now sweep over the eastern side of the harbour, and disturb this its deepest anchorage.

I propose to construct these piers vertical from the bottom upwards, with squared rubble masonry masses. The cost of the addition to the west breakwater I estimate at 45,000 l., and of the spur to the east breakwater at 32,000 l.; but I should not recommend the commencement of the latter work until the former is completed, and its effects on the harbour ascertained.

There are two other works which I should also recommend to be carried out simultaneously with the extension of the west pier. The one is the scarping of the rocky shore west of the boat harbour, and the formation of a gravel beach thence to the trader's pier; the other is the building of a screen wall at least 25 feet high, and the top of the parapet of the east breakwater from the shore to the second angle. A beaching ground of the kind proposed is very much wanted in this harbour, not only for the use of vessels in case of necessity, but also to aid in quieting the water: for at present the shore, which is very contracted, is almost entirely faced with walls or with rocky cliffs which, as effectually as walls, reflect the waves.

The screen wall will very much break the force of the south-east winds, which, as before described, sweep across the harbour with most destructive effects. It will be no less valuable in sheltering the portion of the harbour which must be set apart for the packet service, as I shall presently explain.

And the building of the screen wall at - - - - - 6,000

By the several works above described, I have no doubt of so quieting the harbour that the whole of the area having 15 feet and upwards, namely, 200 acres, with the exception of so much as must be kept clear at the entrance, will be available for the purposes of refuge and the packet service.

There

at the end.*

There can be no difference of opinion as to the part of the harbour where the packet accommodation should be located; the south-east angle is, by common consent, fixed on for this service; it is to be windward, and, therefore, most out of the way of that part of the harbour which, when properly sheltered, vessels can run to with greatest facility; and it will be obvious that the nearer the landing-places can be kept to the eastern breakwater, the more effectually will they be sheltered from the south-east winds before described, and the more operative will the screen wall be in making such shelter complete.

But as this breakwater, like that on the west side of the harbour, is formed with a sloping side; and further, as the roadway along it is too narrow for a wharf, railway, and carriage-road, it is not, in its present state, suitable for the packet service.

The works by which I propose to make it so, as well for passengers and mails, as for the ordinary steam-boat traffic, are shown on the annexed Plan, No. 2, and the more illustrative drawing, No. 3.

Vide Plans (C.) & (D.), at the end.

In the first place, I propose to convert about 800 feet of the inner arm of the east breakwater into a wharf, by driving rows of creasoted piles, of suitable form and dimensions, in advance and parallel to its present stone shape, and in from 18 to 22 feet of water at low water; to fit this wharf with cranes and other conveniences useful for all ordinary goods and cattle traffic, or for coaling, watering, &c., and to make it of sufficient breadth for two lines of railway, leaving the present road over the breakwater as a carriage and footway.

To the northward of this wharf, for ordinary traffic, I propose to moor a floating stage, devoted exclusively to the accommodation of mail and passenger traffic, for the wants of which this kind of pier is found to be greatly superior to any description of fixed wharf.

I propose to construct the floating stage or pontoon 500 feet long, and 60 feet wide, with its deck from 8 to 10 feet above the water, assuming that to be the most convenient for stepping at once from the deck of the packets on to that of the stage.

To ensure greater despatch and safety to steamers approaching and leaving the pontoon, and also with a view to making inside berths for small steamers, I propose to moor it 165 feet from the top of the slope of the breakwater. I also propose to extend the Dublin Railway along the east breakwater to a station erected opposite to the pontoon, and to connect the two latter by bridges formed as tubular girders, 11 feet high and 10 feet wide, one end fixed on the station, the other resting on the pontoon, so that they may rise and fall freely with the tide. These bridges would form covered ways for passengers. For the quick, dry, and economical transfer of luggage, mail bags, carriages, and horses, I propose to run off from the station to the pontoon between the bridges a piled covered jetty, with its end overhanging the pontoon, and provided with two large platforms and machinery for raising or lowering all heavy articles.

To connect the works with the present railway to Dublin will not be difficult. On Plan, No. 2, I have shown a double line, laid along the piled wharf, extended to the shore by means of a short timber viaduct, across the extreme south-east angle of the harbour, and thence passing under the Dalkey road and uniting with the Dalkey Railway, a few yards east of the Kingstown Station.

Vide Plan (C.), at the end.

The piled wharf, with cranes complete - - - -	18,500
The floating pier, with its bridges and jetty complete -	38,500
The railways, with the station buildings, viaduct, and tunnel, complete - - - -	21,000
The carriage-road and footway over the east breakwater -	1,500
TOTAL - - £.	79,500

A sum but little, if at all, more than the estimated cost of the stone pier, as now commenced, namely, 63,000*l.*, when the necessary allowance for the railways leading to the pier, and for the station on it, are made.

The aggregate estimate for the works I have recommended will be as follows :

The extension of the west pier - - - - -	45,000
That of the east pier - - - - -	32,000
The screen wall on the east side - - - - -	6,000
The beaching ground on the south shore of the harbour -	4,500
The packet wharf, pontoon, railways, station, &c. - -	79,500
TOTAL - - - £.	167,000

Considering that the sum will not only provide for all the wants of a complete packet station, but perfect the shelter of the harbour, and make works that have been constructed within it at great cost for trading vessels efficient for this purpose, I have no hesitation in expressing an opinion that the works it comprises should be at once commenced. If carried out simultaneously, as they may be, with the exception of the spur to the east pier head, the whole may be completed in two years.

KINGSTOWN HARBOUR.

Harbour Engineer's Office, Public Works,
16 April 1855.

Sir,

IN compliance with the Board's order, I have carefully considered Mr. Rendel's report, dated 4th instant, and beg to submit the following observations upon it.

Mr. Rendel's propositions may be classed under two heads ; first, works affecting the harbour as a place of refuge ; and, secondly, works for the special purpose of accommodating the class of steamers about to be called into requisition for improved communication, and increased comfort to passengers, between this and Holyhead. As this latter is the urgent portion of the subject, and upon which, for many reasons well known to the Board, there is a pressing necessity for an early decision, I shall take it up first, and in a great degree confine myself to it.

While pleased to find that Mr. Rendel has abandoned his original design (shown in green on Plan, No. 1), I regret that I cannot concur in that which he has substituted for it ; but it does not appear to me to fulfil the paramount and indispensable condition of affording a wharf at which the proposed steamers could in all states of weather and tide embark or disembark the mails and passengers with expedition, safety, and comfort, and could remain from arrival to departure ; that the pontoon proposed by Mr. Rendel would not fulfil this condition has, in my opinion, been proved by our experience of the two former timber jetties similarly situated, and at the present time by the hulk “Wolf,” which is moored in that position, and is analogous (upon a smaller scale) to the proposed pontoon. In easterly gales, the pontoon (as the “Wolf” does now) would afford excellent accommodation ; but in gales from the north and west, which are most prevalent and severe, no steamer could come alongside either without damage to herself and it, or land with comfort or security ; in short, in such circumstances, the proposed works would not, I think, afford any substantial advantage over what we have at present ; the passengers would still have to be landed in boats ; and I do not think the works proposed to be constructed at the entrance of the harbour would remove this defect ; for the pontoon would remain exposed, through the entrance, to the full force of the northerly winds, and during gales from the west, which would remain unaffected by the works at the entrance. The pontoon would

would not be available for a large steamer alongside, from the risk of serious damage to both herself and the pontoon. This would not arise from any ground swell, but from the action of the wind through this mouth, or across the breadth of the harbour, producing a superficial agitation ; from which experience teaches us the wharf should be masked, it being found dangerous for a steamer to approach the former jetties or the hulk " Wolf " in north-westerly gales.

I would remind the Board, that an important object of the pier partly constructed was to enable the harbour-master to remove the steamers' moorings, and thereby allow the large and valuable space occupied by them to revert to the purposes of refuge. The adoption of the pontoon would partially defeat this, as it would afford at best, and only in fine weather, a berth for one large or two moderate sized steamers, and therefore the moorings should be preserved. It is also an objection to the proposed design, that with great cost it consists wholly of perishable materials; a pontoon 500 feet by 60, and a timber wharf and viaduct over 2,000 feet in length must, under the most favourable circumstances, involve a heavy annual outlay for repairs; but this objection might be well overlooked if the design offered any peculiar advantage for the purposes for which it is proposed; but it appears to me obvious that it does not do so; and I continue to concur in the universal opinion of the commanders of steamers frequenting this harbour, that the pier partly constructed would afford perfect accommodation in all states of weather and tide. Mr. Rendel's objections to this pier are —

First. That it could not be conveniently connected with the railway.

Secondly. That the space between it and the east pier would not be sufficient for the large steamers about to be employed between this and Holyhead.

Thirdly. That the berth inside would be in broken water.

In answer to which I have to state—

First. That there is no difficulty whatever in connecting the railway with the pier, and allowing the engine and carriages to come directly alongside the packets.

In this Mr. Brunel, the engineer-in-chief, and Mr. Purdon, the resident engineer of the Dublin-Railway, entirely concur; and I may here direct attention to the saving of time which would result from the engine and train starting directly from the packet's side instead of the carriages being drawn by horses, as shown on Mr. Rendel's plan, for about a mile, to the Kingstown Station, and there attached to the engine.

Secondly. With respect to insufficiency of space between it and the east pier.

Upon this I beg to refer to the unanimous opinion of the commanders of the steamers, and also particularly to that of Captain Kellock, who when here in the " Himalaya," examined the plans and situation, and not only stated that it would be ample for that large ship (350 feet on keel), but that there would be no difficulty whatever with a ship of greater length than 400 feet. The companies tendering for the future conveyance of the mails in large steamers express themselves fully satisfied with it, and make it a condition that it should be carried out. I beg to observe, that for all commercial purposes, the harbour now possesses ample wharfage accommodation if the mail steamers were separately provided for; and this pier has the important advantage, that it may at any time, if found necessary, be prolonged in a direct line, even to the extent of 2,000 feet, without practically encroaching on the anchorage of the harbour, and in the best water and shelter.

Thirdly. That the inner berth would be in broken water.

The effect produced by what is already built of the pier, justifies a belief that there are no grounds for this apprehension; in fact, if the staging had been cleared away, the packets would have come alongside what is erected of it during the storms of the past winter, when they were obliged to land their passengers and mails in boats. It was then as smooth under its lee as an ordinary floating dock.

I have abstained from making any reference to the comparative cost of this pier, partly built, and what Mr. Rendel proposes as a substitute for it, feeling strongly that the first consideration should be to do whatever is best and most suitable; but it may be well to state that—

The estimate of the stone pier is - - - - -	65,000
Work done and material prepared, say - - - - -	20,000
	£. 45,000
Will produce a permanent structure of stone, available at all times.
While the estimate for a design of perishable material, that would answer its purpose only in certain states of the weather, is - - - - -	£. 79,500

With regard to the works which are suggested for the improvement of the harbour for refuge, I shall be prepared to enter fully into them if they should be entertained; but I beg to observe, that they involve questions peculiarly for the advice and opinions of naval men. The present positions of the pier-head were fixed under the recommendation of the Lords of the Admiralty, after repeated investigations and full consideration of the reports of Messrs. Cubitt and Walker, and several naval authorities. The first and most essential requisite in a harbour of refuge is, that it should be accessible to ill-found or partly disabled ships. This harbour possesses that requisite in an eminent degree; but if it should be determined to sacrifice a portion of this valuable condition to the obtaining of increased shelter, I have no hesitation in saying, that an extension of the west pier-head, as proposed by Mr. Rendel, is admirably designed to effect it in easterly gales; but I am not prepared to admit the necessity for it when I recollect the facts, that of the large numbers of ships which have taken refuge in this harbour, there has not, for the last seven years, been a single vessel damaged by winds the effects of which would be prevented by the works at the entrance, and that there was never yet a life lost by shipwreck in this harbour. I return the drawings,

LETTER of Lieutenant Hutchison, Harbour Master of Kingstown, respecting Mr. Rendel's Plan.

(EXTRACT from Report from Lieutenant Hutchison, R.N., Harbour Master.)

Kingstown, 25 April 1855.

I HAVE read Mr. Rendel's Report and recommendations in reference to Kingstown Harbour, and have to remark, that with N.N.W., N., and N.N.E. gales (magnetic), which are most violent, and create much agitation within the piers, particularly the lee or south side of the harbour, a long steamer, from 300 to 400 feet, going alongside the pontoon (of course her head inwards) would become a breakwater herself, and would rub and chafe most seriously, and, while the gale continued, could not be turned round for departure.

I do not consider it would be a fit place, with gales from those points, for a large lengthy steamer to berth; and although the pontoon is moored 165 feet from the east pier, it is not improbable the steamer starting a-head when blowing a violent gale, would not answer her helm in sufficient time to clear the pier, as her head would have to come up five points immediately; and those long steamers will not answer the helm unless they have good way on them.

The situation of the pontoon is unfavourable, being so near the two elbows or kants in the pier; and if a vessel went against the pier broadside on, she would be much damaged.

COMMISSIONERS of Public Works to the Lords of the Treasury.

KINGSTOWN HARBOUR.

My Lords, Office of Public Works, Dublin, 30 April 1855.

In obedience to your Lordships' directions, we submit our observations on Mr. Rendel's Report on Kingstown Harbour.

The Report has reference to two points :—

1. On the present condition of the harbour generally, with suggestions for additional works principally at the entrance, with a view to obtain a more tranquil state of water during gales from the eastward.

2. As to the best site and necessary works for berths at which mail packets may lie at all states of wind and tide, with facility for landing and taking in passengers.

The first point is one requiring very great consideration, not alone from engineers, but from naval men; and as more time will be required to report on the proposed works after consultation with the harbour-master, engineer, and others, than can be afforded under their Lordships' order of reference, we propose for the present to confine our observations to the second point.

The accompanying Plan shows the position of all the works proposed by Mr. Rendel in his present Report, coloured red. The pier, at east end of Victoria Wharf, proposed in his first Report, coloured green; as well as that (partly built) designed by Mr. Gibbons, the harbour engineer, and approved by Sir William Cubitt in his Report to the Admiralty, coloured yellow.

*Vide Plan (E.),
at the end.*

The principal objections of Mr. Rendel to this latter pier were—

First, that the space between it and the east pier, about 460 feet, was inadequate for the new class of steamers intended to be employed in the service of the Post-office, as from their length of 400 feet they could not be turned in so confined a space.

This objection, it is submitted, is not a valid one, for so far as we have been able to ascertain, a much less space than that intended to be given would suffice to turn such a vessel by warping, and this opinion is supported by that of Captain Kellock, who commanded the "Himalaya," and whose opinion on the site was requested when he was in Kingstown Harbour last year; and also by the opinions of the commanders of the City of Dublin Steam Packet Company's vessels, daily frequenting the harbour. Copies of the Board's letters to Captain Kellock and his answers thereto accompany this report, as well as a copy of a communication received from Mr. Watson, managing director of the City of Dublin Steam Packet Company, addressed to the Lords of the Admiralty.

Another objection was, that it could not be connected by railway with the Dublin and Kingstown line. There appears to have been a misapprehension on this point, as the locomotive and carriages can be brought all along the pier from the station, without any necessity for using tram-plates.

As a substitute for this pier (the works at which have been suspended, awaiting your Lordships' instructions), Mr. Rendel proposes to construct a large floating pontoon, to be moored about 165 feet from the edge of the eastern pier or breakwater, in the position shown on plan; to be connected with the pier by two tubular gangways (for foot passengers), moveable with the rise and fall of the pontoon, and having a fixed jetty in connexion with it from the shore, for landing carriages and goods. A timber jetty and viaduct, in length about 2,000 feet, to be built alongside the inner face of the east pier, from its shore extremity to the site of landing-place; the present pier not affording width for railways, &c. in addition to the carriage road.

The objections to this position for a landing-place in all states of wind and tide are very clearly set forth in Mr. Gibbons' Report, annexed hereto, and we fully concur in his views respecting it. The harbour-master (Lieut. Hutchison, R.N.), has been called on for his observations on proposed pontoon and landing-place; and his report, herewith sent, is deserving of serious consideration, from the great experience he has had of gales at this harbour.

That the annual expenditure on proposed works for maintenance will be large, in comparison with what it would be for the pier of stone, there is no doubt.

Assuming the estimate stated in Mr. Rendel's report to be adequate to complete the works in connexion with the pontoon and landing-place, it will be necessary to incur an expense of 79,500*l.*, say 80,000*l.*, for the purpose; whereas, the completion of the packet pier in progress is estimated at about 45,000*l.*; and this for a permanent structure of stone.

The question, then, naturally arises, is there a decided advantage to be derived from adopting the floating stage, &c. proposed by Mr. Rendel, in connexion with the eastern pier.

We are not of that opinion; and after considering both his report and that of Mr. Gibbons, we are of opinion it will be more economical to complete the pier which has been commenced, and that it offers more advantages than any other proposition submitted to us for the accommodation of the postal service.

We have, &c.

KINGSTOWN HARBOUR.

8, Great George-street, Westminster,
7 May 1855.

Sir,
I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 2d instant, directing me on the part of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, to furnish them with any observations I might think necessary on sundry papers received from the Board of Works, Ireland, relative to my report to their Lordships of the 4th ultimo, on the subject of Kingstown Harbour.

To make the following remarks useful, without referring their Lordships to numerous papers, it will be necessary for me to state as briefly as possible the origin of the questions under consideration.

In the summer of 1853 the Board had just commenced the construction of a pier in Kingstown Harbour, designed in 1846 by their engineer, Mr. Gibbons, for the accommodation of the mail and other packets resorting to the port.

About

About this time—the summer of 1853—the question of expediting the mail and passenger communication between London and Dublin was under consideration, owing to the advanced state of the works of the new harbour at Holyhead, and the chairman of the Irish Board of Works applied to me, as the engineer of that harbour, to inspect the pier executing for a similar object at Kingstown. I accordingly examined the Kingstown works, and the plans for their completion, and reported the result to the chairman on the 5th August 1853.

As the instructions had sole reference to the accommodation of the packet service, independently of the general condition of the harbour, the report was likewise limited to that question. Its substance was, that the pier as constructing would, “in my opinion, fail to give the necessary accommodation to the large class of steamers likely to be employed on this station, and to the class of traffic they would in all probability give rise to, in the following particulars:

“It could not be conveniently connected with the railway station by a railway. The inner berths would not only be too near the shore or beach for the packets to make them with perfect security in the night or bad weather, but they would also be in broken water made by the waves, which then, as now, would run along the eastern breakwater and expend themselves on the shore. The width, namely, 440 feet between the pier and east breakwater would be insufficient for a long steamer to swing in, which sometimes would doubtless be a great inconvenience; and, lastly, whilst the whole water area between the proposed pier and eastern breakwater is $7\frac{3}{4}$ acres, less than half that area has from 3 to $3\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms at low water.”

I therefore submitted a plan for a pier more in accordance with my views, giving my reasons for preferring it to Mr. Gibbons' design; and combating the objections which I anticipated might be raised against it. The Board did not, however, adopt my views, and the works, on which at the time of my inspection only about 6,000*l.* had been spent out of an estimated cost of 63,000*l.*, were, I now understand, proceeded with till last summer, when, owing to the further and more general attention given to the whole question, the subject of this pier was brought under the immediate notice of the Treasury.

My report to the Board of Works, and the Board's objections to its recommendations were then considered, and the result was that their Lordships, duly appreciating the importance of Kingstown Harbour for refuge purposes, as well as for a packet station, directed me to report how it could be made to fulfil most completely all demands upon it, “in a postal and commercial point of view.”

Acting under instructions so widely different in their comprehensiveness from those which I first received, it will not be a matter of surprise to any one who knows the deficiencies of Kingstown Harbour as a port of refuge as well as a packet station, that the works which I recommended in my second report for the improvement of the postal service were widely different from those which I proposed in my first report; for it is plain that the propriety of any plan must depend upon the condition of the harbour in point of shelter, and that works designed for its general improvement as a refuge harbour will materially modify those intended for its special improvement as a postal station.

In the reports, however, of the Irish Board of Works, and of Mr. Gibbons, now before me, this seems to have been overlooked, for after dividing the work into two heads, namely, in Mr. Gibbons' words: “Works affecting the harbour as a place of refuge,” and “Works for the special purpose of accommodating the class of steamers about to be called into requisition for improved postal communication and increased comfort to passengers between Dublin and Holyhead.” They both treat the two descriptions of works as independent of each other.

The discussion of the former they leave to a future opportunity when more time can be given to it, and then proceed to the consideration of the latter, which they condemn on the score, amongst other objections which they mention, of exposure, assuming, it would seem, that they have been recommended by me independently of works for the tranquillizing of the harbour generally; whereas it is clear that the works included under the second head must be dependent on the condition of the harbour with reference to the first head, for, in proportion as the harbour itself is sheltered or exposed, so the wharves or piers at which the packets are to lie, may be left open to the harbour generally, or must be so designed as to provide shelter in addition to their other requirements.

It is again said in the Board's report, that Sir W. Cubitt approved of the pier as now constructing. But, as quoted in my second report, in answer to the same statement made previously, he does so under a kind of remonstrance against leaving the harbour so exposed as to render such a pier necessary, and recommends for the general shelter of the harbour a third breakwater, which would make this pier and other works of the like nature then submitted to him unnecessary. It should also be remarked that at the date of Sir W. Cubitt's Report on the works now in progress, 1846, it was not in contemplation to conduct the packet service in the large class of vessels now proposed, nor to make the journey from London to Dublin in 12 hours.

The Board observe, that any objection to the pier as now building, on the ground that it will not allow a steamer of the proposed length to turn in the space between it and the west breakwater, "is not valid, because it may be done by warping." The space in question is said to be 460 feet, and the length of the packets is assumed at 400 feet. How such a vessel is to be warped round in such a space in any reasonable time when any wind is blowing is not explained, nor can I understand; and even in fine weather it could only be done on the assumption that no other than the steamer to be moved is lying within, or east of the proposed pier.

The opinion of Captain Kellock of the "Himalaya" is referred to by the Board as favourable to the works in hand; his letter, however, of which a copy is sent, only states that his ship could be berthed with as much safety and facility as the packets at present in use; which may be so. But if the new pier is to satisfy the anticipated demands upon it, vessels must be berthed in all weathers in very much less time than they now are, with only a moderate easterly gale blowing, and this I am quite satisfied will not be the case with the pier now constructing in bad weather, so long as the harbour continues in its present state of exposure.

The Board also refer to a letter from Mr. Watson of the City of Dublin Steam Packet Company, addressed to the Lords of the Admiralty, stating objections to the plan proposed in my report of the 5th August 1853; a copy of that letter was sent to me by the Lords of the Admiralty, and the objections stated were all fully considered before I made my last report.

After a brief and somewhat incorrect description of the works which I propose for the packet service, the Board refer to the reports of their engineer and harbour-master for their opinion thereon, and then proceed to consider the estimates.

They are right in stating that the annual expense of the works proposed by me would be greater than that of the works as now executing; it should however be noticed, that the accommodation offered will also be considerably greater. They then compare my estimate of 79,500 l. with the 45,000 l., at which they estimate the cost of completing the works now in hand. But they have forgotten to add to their estimate of 45,000 l. the cost of making the railway to their pier, and of erecting on it buildings for sheltering the passengers in bad weather, and all the machinery, such as cranes and the like, all of which are included in my estimate of 79,500 l., and which, as will be seen in the details forming that amount, are charged at 21,000 l., a sum not very far short of which must be added to their estimate before it is comparable with mine.

It should have also been stated, that my estimate provides a wharf of 1,200 feet in length, to be appropriated to the cattle and other general traffic which either is or will be conveyed by steam packets, and which could not be carried on with convenience and comfort to passengers on a pier of such limited capacity as that now in course of execution. This wharf is charged in my estimate at 18,500 l.

With regard to Mr. Gibbons' report, I have already noticed the inapplicability of the criticism which considers the two kinds of works independently of each other, nor need I remark on the expression of his pleasure that I have abandoned my original plan, having already gone into that question. I would, however, observe, that I have not abandoned my original plan, which I still think, under the existing exposure of the harbour, the best that can be devised for packet purposes.

Mr. Gibbons compares the proposed pontoon with the present hulk "Wolf." He, however, at once destroys the comparison by remarking that the "Wolf" presents it "on a smaller scale;" for surely he must recollect that scale is of the utmost importance to it in a nautical point of view. Again, he allows that, “ in easterly gales, the pontoon, as the ‘ Wolf ’ does now, would afford excellent accommodation ; but in gales from the north and west, which are the most prevalent, no steamer could come alongside it.” But the pontoon will certainly not be more exposed in such gales than the pier now constructing will be in those from the northward, while it will have the advantage over the fixed pier of having a tendency to disperse the sea, and so relieve the packets of its disturbing effects.
"in

Mr. Gibbons then reminds the Board that it was a great recommendation of the works now in progress that they would render unnecessary the mooring buoys in front of the present quay, and so give this, the best part of the harbour, up to general shipping and refuge. At present, the moorings referred to are used by the steam packets. If, therefore, they are to be removed, the packets must be berthed at all times alongside the new pier. Now, as before stated, vessels could not lie alongside this pier on its west side in north-westerly gales, unless the harbour is made more quiet ; and admitting for a moment that they would be safe on the east side of it, the space that would be available is so limited in width and size, that at such a time if two or three large vessels were placed in it for shelter, no other packet could make the arrival or departure with the necessary safety and despatch, much less turn round by warping. If, therefore, the buoys are to be removed, either the harbour must be made more quiet, or some such design as mine of August 1853 must be adopted.

With regard to his other remarks on the pier now in course of construction, I have nothing to alter in or add to my report of 1853.

As respects the works recommended in my report for quieting the harbour, Mr. Gibbons, though admitting that the extension of the west pier head, as proposed by me, “ is admirably designed to effect it in easterly gales,” says that he is not prepared to allow the necessity for it, though the authority he quotes—Sir W. Cubitt—as one of those upon whose report the present position of the heads was settled, considered shelter so necessary that he proposed a detached breakwater to effect it, and remonstrated against the harbour being left in such an unsafe state ; that the pier built in 1848, at a cost of 30,000*l.*, and that now in hand, at a cost of 63,000*l.*, were necessary.

I would further, upon this point, refer to the annexed copy of a wreck plan of this harbour, forwarded to me by the Board of Works, as the best proof that it would be quite justifiable to sacrifice a portion of its unnecessary accessibility to the necessary increase of its shelter.

*Vide Plan (F.)
at the end.*

With regard to the extract from the report by Lieutenant Hutchison, R.N., the harbour-master, I have only to observe that it goes to show most conclusively that the harbour should be sheltered. His account of the sea in the harbour in north-west and northerly gales goes even beyond that described by Sir W. Cubitt, and clearly points to the conclusion that if the harbour is not sheltered, then, as before said, a safe landing for the proposed new packets could only be provided by some such pier as that proposed by me in my report of 1853, which not only gave full shelter from the points named, but enclosed a sufficient area of deep water to allow of sheltered harbourage for the unemployed steamers, and the safe manœuvring of those in use.

In conclusion, I would observe, that it is strange that the Board of Works and their officers have not noticed the pontoon landing-place, so long and so successfully established at Liverpool, from the design of Sir W. Cubitt. This pontoon is about the same size as that proposed by me. It is on the lee-shore of the Mersey, and is greatly exposed, being further in a rapid tideway. Nevertheless, when steamers can venture across the river, they can, without damage to themselves or the pontoon, and with comfort to the passengers, make a landing at it ; and so successful has it been in this respect, that another of nearly double the length is now in course of construction for the use of the transatlantic and other large packets.

Sir,

Treasury Chambers, 9 May 1855.

I AM directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to transmit to you for the consideration of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, the accompanying papers relative to the works at Kingstown Harbour, and I am to request that their Lordships will take such steps as they think best calculated to enable them to advise this Board upon the various questions raised between the Board of Works in Ireland and Mr. Rendel, either by the appointment of a commission, consisting of experienced naval captains, or otherwise.

I am to state, that it is extremely desirable that a decision should be taken as early as possible.

The enclosed papers being in original, I am to request that they may be returned when done with.

Gentlemen,

Treasury Chambers, 30 June 1855.

I AM commanded by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to transmit to you herewith copies of a letter from the Secretary to the Admiralty, dated 16th instant, of a report of Captains Kellett and Frazer, and of a memorandum from the Hydrographer of the Admiralty, on the papers and plans relating to the improvement of Kingstown Harbour, and I am to request that you will take the necessary steps for proceeding with the works at that place with as little delay as possible, according to the plans pursued prior to their interruption.

The Commissioners of Public Works,

Sir,

Admiralty, 16 June 1855.

WITH reference to your letter of the 9th of last month, submitting for consideration the various papers and plans proposed for the improvement of Kingstown Harbour, and the best means for facilitating the landing and despatch of mails and passengers either by a floating pontoon, as suggested by Mr. Rendel, or by the construction of a pier from the tank jetty at the south-east angle of the harbour, on the plan of Mr. Gibbons, the engineer to the Board of Works, in Ireland, I am commanded by my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to request you will state to the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, that as the question raised between the Board of Works and Mr. Rendel rested chiefly, if not entirely, on nautical considerations, it appeared to my Lords to be most advisable to adopt the suggestion of the Lords of the Treasury to appoint a committee of experienced naval officers to investigate and decide the question; Captain Kellett and Captain G. A. Frazer were accordingly deputed to proceed to Ireland on the duty, these officers being considered eminently qualified from their local knowledge as well as previous services; and I am now to request you will lay their report before the Lords of the Treasury, together with a copy of a memorandum on the subject from the Hydrographer of the Admiralty.

I am, &c.

KINGSTOWN MAIL PACKET PIER.

Sir,

Kingstown, 11 June 1855.

In obedience to their Lordships' orders of the 30th ultimo, that I should, in conjunction with Captain G. A. Frazer, R.N., proceed to Kingstown, inspect the harbour, and examine the various plans proposed for its improvement and packet accommodation, and to report on the same our opinion, for their information, we proceeded there, and immediately entered on the investigation.

Having had before us Lieutenant W. Hutchison, R.N., harbour-master of Kingstown, and pilot master for Dublin (whose experience must give great weight to his opinions), the most experienced of the masters commanding the mail packets and railway company's steamers, also the oldest pilots belonging to the port, to whom we proposed questions touching their opinion of the various plans, and having ourselves minutely examined the harbour, we beg to submit the following opinions on each of the plans proposed.

1st. It appears to be the unanimous opinion of all those that we have examined, that there is a necessity for further works to ensure safety to the vessels, and expedition to the delivery of the mails; in which opinion we fully concur.

2d. Mr. Rendel's proposition of a pontoon in connexion with works at the entrance of the harbour and screen wall along the east pier, we consider would not afford either safety or expedition at all times, and for the following reasons:

The pontoon, with heavy north-west winds, would be exposed to such a sea as would seriously injure vessels by lying alongside. This sea does not depend upon the width of the entrance, but entirely on the drift across the harbour; the addition of the piers at the entrance would therefore have no effect in quieting it.

With strong north-west winds a vessel could not proceed to sea from the pontoon, and with strong easterly winds a vessel could not get hold of it, nor could she with facility with any winds, on account of the sudden turn from the harbour's mouth to her position.

The additional works at the entrance would render it still more difficult for either going from or getting to it.

For the above reasons, we are of opinion that this plan would not afford the requisite accommodation for the packets, either as regards safety or facility. The addition to the pier heads would certainly render the anchorage on the western side of the harbour more safe, but they would seriously affect the facility of access.

Perfect security inside and facility of access are so antagonistic to each other that one must be chosen. Were the entrance of the harbour therefore narrowed as proposed, disabled ships, or vessels under reduced canvas, could not enter at all, and it is the opinion of all masters we have examined, that the entrance is at present sufficiently limited; and if more contracted, it would make it dangerous, if not impracticable, at times for their long, although powerful, steamers to enter in south-easterly gales.

Comparing Mr. Rendel's original proposition for a pier to extend from the eastern end of the Victoria Wharf, and coloured green on the annexed plan, with that running from the tank jetty, by Mr. Gibbons, and coloured yellow, Mr. Rendel's objections to Mr. Gibbons' pier are, that it does not give sufficient space within it to wind vessels of such a length as is proposed for the packet service; that the extent of beach is not sufficient for the sea (which he says rolls along the eastern pier) in easterly and south-easterly gales to dissipate or expend itself. We find on examination, that there is not a rolling sea along the eastern pier with those winds, but that there is a lift or undulation of no importance, which we consider will always be the case in any enclosed space having communication with the sea.

The pier proposed by Mr. Rendel would give a greater sheltered space than Mr. Gibbons'; but there are the following grave objections to it.

Packets, with heavy northerly and north-westerly winds, must necessarily run for the pier head, as there is not room for them to turn to take the pier fair, on account of its direction. If they missed the pier head, they must go on shore; this is a serious objection to this pier. The departure from this pier would also be very difficult with any winds. It would materially injure the approach and the lying at the Victoria Wharf, thereby injuring some of the present capabilities of the harbour.

Mr. Gibbons' pier, we consider, offers all the accommodation necessary; the eastern side would give all the necessary shelter. Vessels of the length proposed could wind in all weathers. They could leave this pier in any weather, and run for it in any weather. It would not interfere with the Victoria Wharf, leaving it available altogether for commercial purposes. The western side of this pier, in the opinion of the packet masters, would be available in any weather. Vessels could certainly lie at it, when they could not at Mr. Rendel's pier.

Mr. Gibbons' pier offers immense advantages when vessels of increased length are employed, they would lie nearly end on for the entrance of the harbour, on both sides of it, and have to make little alteration in their course when running for it.

It is the opinion of the engineers here, that the Kingstown Railway can be easily and completely connected with this pier, and extended over its whole length.

We are therefore of opinion, that the pier proposed by Mr. Gibbons will afford all the necessary accommodation and safety for the packets, and convenience for the travelling public, and recommend its adoption in preference to either of the other two above-named plans.

With respect to the formation of a beach, as proposed by Mr. Rendel, we think it would be prejudicial to the harbour, and do not consider it necessary, as the inner harbour dries at low water, and affords better accommodation for taking the ground.

We are of opinion that it would greatly add to the safety of the shipping frequenting this harbour if a steam-tug were placed at the disposal of the harbour-master, especially during the winter months.

We beg to forward herewith the evidence of the different persons we have examined as to the various plans herein alluded to, and which has materially guided us in making our report.

We have, &c.

MEMORANDUM from the Hydrographer of the Admiralty on the Report upon the Kingstown Mail Packet Pier, dated 14 June 1855.

FROM the evidence taken on this inquiry, and from the joint report of Captains Kellett and Frazer, it appears:

1. That there is pressing necessity in Kingstown Harbour for increased accommodation, and for greater facility and safety in landing and embarking mails and passengers.

2. That the floating stage or pontoon proposed by Mr. Rendel, c. z., although admirably adapted for such purposes at Liverpool and in certain localities, would not answer at Kingstown owing to its exposure, to the drift across the harbour in strong north-east and northerly winds, and the difficulty at such times in getting to sea from it.

3. That

3. That Mr. Rendel's original proposition for a pier to extend in a north-east direction, from the eastern end of Victoria Wharf, would partly diminish the present accommodation at that wharf, and in the opinion of all sailors would be difficult for a vessel to take or to leave in blowing weather.

4. That the pier from the tank jetty at the south-east angle of the harbour proposed by Mr. Barry Gibbons, C. E., is, in the opinion of the harbour-master and of all the commanders of the mail packets, the most convenient that can be adopted under the circumstances. It would afford sufficient shelter in all winds; safety and facility in landing or embarking mails and passengers; would leave the present accommodation at Victoria Wharf available for commercial purposes; and, as its direction would be end on to the entrance of the harbour, steamers could arrive at it and leave it in all winds.

5. That the formation of a beach on the south-western part of the harbour is not necessary; but that it is imperative that all the stone be cleared away from the beach inside the proposed mail packet pier, and further, that it would add greatly to the safety of shipping if a steam tug were placed at the disposal of the harbour-master at least during the winter months.

6. That on the question of diminished width of entrance harbour (now 750 feet wide), as proposed by Mr. Rendel, there is a difference of opinion. The harbour-master, Lieutenant Hutchison, R. N., who has resided 32 years on the spot, is decidedly in favour of doing so; the commanders of the mail packets are against it. My own opinion, as at present informed, is in favour of the measure. But the question has hitherto been a complicated one, being mixed up with a desire to obtain quiet shelter for landing mail and passengers; I would therefore recommend its being deferred until the mail packet jetty is completed, when a more thorough investigation specially directed to the subject might take place. In the meantime the harbour-master might be required to record during the next 12 months every circumstance which occurs that would tell either for or against such a measure.

7. Lastly, that as some considerable progress has already been made in the said mail packet pier, that the works be pressed forward by all possible means, so as to be available for the packets before the next winter gales set in, which the engineer states can be done if a decision on the subject be come to at once, and orders to proceed be given forthwith.

Sir,

Dublin Castle, 3 November 1854.

REFERRING to my letter of the 27th ultimo, respecting the appointment by the Lords Justices of the three Directors of Convict Prisons for Ireland, and the salaries which their Excellencies recommended for those officers, I am directed to request that you will bring under the consideration of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury the case of Mr. Hitchins, Inspector of Government Prisons, an office which will no longer be required when the appointments in question shall have been perfected.

Mr. Hitchins entered the public service as a junior clerk in the Chief Secretary's office on the 1st January 1826, where he continued until the 31st December 1849; having been principally employed during the latter years of his service in the Convict Department of the office.

In December 1849, in contemplation of the opening of the Mountjoy Convict Depôt, Mr. Hitchins was appointed by his Excellency the Earl of Clarendon to superintend that and the other depôt appropriated in Ireland to the reception of convicts sentenced to transportation, on their removal from the county gaols. The office was styled that of Inspector of Government Prisons, and the salary, which commenced at 500 £. per annum, on the 1st January 1850, was increased, in March 1851, to 650 l., and in April 1852, to 700 l., to rise by 25 l. per annum to 750 l.

Mr. Hitchins is an active and intelligent public officer, and competent to fill a place in many departments of the public service, and while their Excellencies have not thought it desirable to include him in the new arrangements under the Act of last Session, they submit his claims to the favourable consideration of their Lordships, and strongly recommend that their Lordships may be pleased to grant him his present full rate of salary as a retiring allowance until he shall be again employed in the public service; and that in the meantime he be placed on the Redundant List, with a view to further employment at the earliest moment that opportunity offers.

I am further to transmit, for their Lordships' information, a memorandum from Mr. Hitchins, by which it appears that upon the office of Local Inspector of the Four Courts Marshalsea becoming vacant in the year 1850, Mr. Hitchins, at the request of the Government of the day, undertook the duties of that office without additional remuneration, by which means the salary of 170 l. a year, theretofore attached to that office, became saved to the public.

James Wilson, Esq.,
&c. &c. &c.

I am, &c.
(signed) John Young.

Sir,

Treasury Chambers, 20 November 1854.

THE Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury having had before them your letter, dated the 3d instant, recommending to their Lordships' favourable consideration the case of Mr. Hitchins, Inspector of Government Prisons in Ireland, whose services will no longer be required under the operation of the Act passed in the last Session of Parliament for the future regulation of the convict prisons in that country, I am directed to acquaint you, for the information of his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, that, adverting to the circumstances stated in your letter, and especially to the fact that the Irish Government, while stating that it has not been thought desirable to include Mr. Hitchins in the new arrangements under the Act of last Session, have borne testimony to the activity and intelligence of that gentleman in the discharge of his public duties, my Lords are pleased to award to him a compensation allowance of five hundred and sixty-five pounds per annum (565 l.), to commence from the date at which the appointment of directors of convict prisons under the Act referred to shall take effect, and to continue until such time as any opportunity may occur for re-employing him in the public service; and my Lords will be prepared to direct the Paymaster of Civil Services in Ireland to pay this allowance so soon as they shall be apprised that Mr. Hitchins' employment as inspector of prisons has terminated.

The Chief Secretary for Ireland,
&c. &c. &c.

I am, &c.
(signed) C. E. Trevelyan.

Sir,

Dublin Castle, 1 December 1854.

I AM directed by the Lord Lieutenant to apprise you, that the arrangements rendered necessary by the altered circumstances of the Convict service have now been made, and that the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury have been pleased to award to you an allowance of 565 l. per annum, as compensation for the office formerly held by you, which will be paid by the Paymaster of Civil Services from the 29th ultimo, inclusive.

I am also to acquaint you, that while under the new arrangements the office of Inspector of Government Prisons has not been continued, his Excellency is very sensible of the activity and diligence with which you discharged the duties which devolved on you in that office, and his Excellency has not failed to convey such his impression to the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury for their Lordships' guidance in selecting you for any future employment in the public service.

H. M. Hitchins, Esq.

I am, &c.

Note.—The view which this Statement affords of the Consumption of Imported Commodities in Ireland is, to a certain extent, defective, inasmuch as the Coasting Regulations by which the Cross Channel Trade has been governed since the year 1825, prevent the keeping of any Record of Goods imported Duty-free from Great Britain, either in the case of British productions or of Foreign Merchandise upon which Duty has already been paid in a British Port. Of the Articles included in the present Account, those for which the comparison with earlier years is most affected by this circumstance are Refined Sugar, Flax Seed, Cotton Wool, Cotton Yarn, Woollen Yarn, Raw and Thrown Silk, and Iron, Wrought.

J. R. Young, Esq.*

* Mr. Young having left Ireland, the letter addressed to him, forwarding the Order of the House of Commons, was returned. A letter has been transmitted to him, through the Paymaster-general in London, calling for the Return required, as his address is known to that department, by which his pension is now paid.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
9 March 1855.

RETURNS RELATING TO THEOLOGICAL PROFESSORS, &c. (BELFAST).

GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S THEOLOGICAL COLLÈGE.

RETURN of the Rev. John Edgar, D. D., Professor.

CLASS OF SYSTEMATIC THEOLOGY.

STUDENTS attending during the last session, 39; the names of whom have been returned by the other professors.

Received fees from 21 students, 2*l.* 2*s.* each, 44 l. 2 s.

All these students attended during the whole session, except Robert Boyle, who left in January for a situation.

The session begins on the first Tuesday in November, and ends on the last Friday in April. There is a vacation of eight days at Christmas.

The class meets every lawful day of the week, besides occasionally at extra times.

The amount of Government salary is 250 l., income tax, amounting to 14 l. 12 s., being stopped out of it; and the professor receives no Regium Donum or congregational income whatever.

Students of the first and second sessions pay a fee of two guineas each, and are free during the remaining time.

(signed) John Edgar, D. D., Professor.

28 August 1854.

Robert Wilson, D. D.,
Secretary of Faculty.

Dr. Edgar has been from home, and offers this as his apology for not sooner sending the Return.

RETURN of Mr. Edward Masson.

12, Buccleuch Place, Edinburgh,
4 January 1855.

Sir,

I HAD the honour to receive, this forenoon, a communication from the Secretary's Office, Dublin Castle, dated 2d instant, in reference to an Order of the House of Commons, dated 20th ultimo.

I beg to state that the Return required, so far as I was concerned, would have been duly forwarded, had I ever received from any quarter any communication on the subject.

In July 1853, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland, by an irregular act, to which I was made no party, arbitrarily set me aside from the discharge of the duties of an office which I had accepted as an appointment ad vitam aut culpam.

In July 1854, the same body formally suppressed my chair.

Against these proceedings, so far as my rights are concerned, I have taken every opportunity afforded me of entering my solemn protest, and I entertain no doubt of ultimately obtaining due redress.

During the period specified by the said Order of the House of Commons, I received no fees; and since the beginning of July 1854 my salary also has been entirely withheld, though I have received no official communication of any decision on the subject.

I have, &c.
(signed) Edward Masson.

RETURN of the Rev. William Gibson, Professor of Christian Ethics, to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland.

THE following students attended this class during the entire session, 1853-54: John Fleming, John Greenlees, Robert Mitchel, James McCully, John Steele, William Taylor Whan, John Witherow. The session commences on the first Tuesday in November, and terminates the last week in April. The class meetings are held on every ordinary weekday, except Saturday, for one hour daily. The salary of the Professor is 250*l.* from Government, and a fee from each student of two guineas. No amount is received by him from Regium Donum, congregational income, or pension.

The limited attendance indicated above is owing—I. To an arrangement recently adopted by the General Assembly, transferring this class from an early to an advanced period in the curriculum, and by an express rule exempting from subsequent attendance those who had previously studied in connexion with it. II. To the circumstance that this is the only class attendance on which is limited to one session, four of the other classes being imperative for at least two sessions, and one during the entire period of the course. Notwithstanding the operation of this cause of comparative diminution, the students of ethics, prior to 1846-47, sometimes amounted to fifty annually, while in 1847-48, when the class was first placed under the charge of the present Professor, the number attending it was thirty-eight. It should be stated here, that while the term of attendance is shorter, the amount of work required in the composition of essays, and the consequent labour of the Professor in their revision, is greater than in any of the other classes. III. To the marked decrease in all the collegiate classes, whether literary or theological, since the period of the famine in Ireland, a decrease which has materially affected the attendance both in the Queen's Colleges and in Trinity College, Dublin; in consequence of which the number of young men prosecuting a course of study for the ministry has fallen far below the former average. There is reason to believe, however, that the period of the minimum supply of students has now passed; as an indication of which, it may be mentioned, that notwithstanding the continued operation of the rule above referred to (No. I.), the number attending the ethical class has nearly doubled since last session. The following are the names on the class-roll for 1854-55:—James McCurg Abernethy, Robert James Arnold, Samuel Edgar Brown, John Burns, John William Ellison, Hugh C. Graham, Samuel Johnston, Leslie Alexander Lyle, Andrew Rosse Boyd McCay, John McBride, James Gardner Robb, Isaac Vance, John Wilson.

It only remains to be added, that the Return required by the House of Commons last Session was forwarded by the Professor of Christian Ethics on the 22d August 1854; that, owing to his absence for several weeks at that season of the year, it was out of his power to have transmitted it at an earlier date; that on its omission being noticed in the Parliamentary Paper lately published, an explanation was requested from the authorities in the Irish Office; and that it was stated in reply, that "the document alluded to was received too late to accompany the Returns which were presented to the House of Commons on the 11th of August, the Session of Parliament closing on the following day."

Secretary of Faculty.

RETURN of the Rev. John Ferrie.

Sir,

Belfast, 5 January 1855.

IN compliance with your request, I have again to state, as my Return to the Order of the House of Commons, that I receive annually from Government 150*l.* of retired allowance, in consideration of my services of upwards of 20 years as Professor of Moral Philosophy in the Belfast Royal Academical Institution, and of my office having been superseded by the Queen's College in Belfast.

I have, &c.

(signed) John Ferrie.

RETURN of the Rev. H. Cooke, D. D.

RETURN of FEES derived from the CLASSES of SACRED RHETORIC and CATECHETICS in the General Assembly's College, Belfast, for Session 1854-5.

NOT having observed that a Return of Fees was required by the Parliamentary Order of last year, I am unable, for reasons about to be stated, to make any return of their amount for any year preceding the present; but have no doubt the return now submitted will furnish an average representation of other years since 1847.

1. Every student entering Queen's College, Belfast, with a view to the Christian Ministry under the General Assembly in Ireland, is required to attend the classes under my care. These are six—three under and three super graduate.

2. The annual fee payable by each student is 14*s*.

3. I never demand any fee, and students generally enter without paying, but pay afterwards, as may suit their own convenience; so that, occasionally, I have received fees some years after students had left college.

4. Before this session I never kept any exact register of payments, trusting altogether to the honourable feelings of the students. During the present session I have noted the payments accurately, for the purpose of making this return.

5. When I am aware of their being so, I never take any fees from the sons of ministers.

6. I also exempt some few others, either on their own representation or those of their ministers.

7. I have delayed sending this Return, so as to be able to present what I consider the entire amount of the annual fees; viz., from 1st November 1854 till 1st May 1855. These I estimate at not less than 35*l*., and not above 45*l*.

(signed) H. Cooke.

Belfast, 2 March 1855,

Robert Wilson, D. D.,
Secretary of Faculty.

RETURN of the Reverend W. D. Killen, D. D.

Sir,

Belfast, 3 January 1855.

I BEG to state, in reply to your communication of yesterday, that my course of instruction extends over three sessions, and that I am entitled to a fee of two guineas from each student of the first and second year on his entering the class. The students of the third year are exempt from the payment of fees. The amount received by me for the students of last session up to the 31st of March 1854, was, as accurately as I can ascertain, 68 guineas. At the date just mentioned two or three fees remained unpaid. Some of our candidates for the ministry are in very straitened circumstances, and it often happens that individuals are unable to pay the proper fees on entering the classes; but though I have held my present office upwards of 13 years, I have never known a Professor refusing to receive a student on account of his indigence.

I have, &c.

Professor of Church History and Pastoral Theology for the Irish
General Assembly.

NON-SUBSCRIBING PRESBYTERIAN ASSOCIATION.

RETURN from the Rev. Dr. Montgomery, Professor of Moral Philosophy, Pastoral Theology, and Ecclesiastical History, in connexion with the Association of Non-subscribing Presbyterians in Ireland.

To every point of "the Order of the House of Commons, under date of the 20th day of July last," I made, in due course, a full, true, and particular return. The recent Parliamentary Order of December 19th is, therefore, erroneous, where it states that I neglected to make a return "ordered on account of fees and emoluments (over and above Government allowance) derived or received by me." In point of fact, the order of July 20th does not contain any such demand; but as it has been made in the recent Order, I cheerfully obey the injunction.

By the regulations of the Non-subscribing Association, I am entitled to demand from each student a fee of one guinea per session for each of my three classes, i. e., a total sum of 3*l.* 3*s.* per annum. For the 13 years, however, during which I taught without enjoying any Parliamentary or other endowment, I never either demanded or received more than one guinea per session from any student; and in very many cases, where I believed that even a sum so trifling was required for the purchase of needful books, I altogether declined accepting fees.

Since the year 1848, when I first received a public grant of 150*l.* per annum, I have uniformly allowed my students to derive at least some advantage from the considerate and equitable liberality of Parliament, by entirely declining to accept fees.

Residing, however, as I do, at some distance from Belfast, most of my students have deemed it just and respectful to contribute small sums towards my railway expenses, incurred for their convenience and benefit. Such contributions being purely optional, and always inconsiderable, amounted for the session ended 1st May 1854, to the sum of 2*l.* sterling, being about the one-fourth of my actual railway fares. This amount was contributed, in equal parts, by John Jennings and J. A. Crozier.

Dunmurry Glebe,
9 January 1855.

(signed) H. Montgomery, LL. D.

RETURN of the Rev. John Scott Porter.

I AM sorry that the Honourable House should have passed an Order expressed in terms which appear to represent me, along with others, to Parliament and the country, as having withheld information which it was my duty to furnish. There is no ground for such an imputation. In the Order of the 20th July 1854, (the only one respecting my professorship which has been communicated to me), there is no mention whatever of fees paid by students, nor any expression that can possibly be understood as referring to such fees; and for my part, I can truly affirm that had such an account been demanded, it would have been promptly and cheerfully rendered. I am quite certain it never was the intention of the Honourable House to do me, and the other gentlemen who are mentioned in the order, this wrong; but it has been misled by erroneous information, and the wrong has been done. After this explanation which I conceive it to be due to my own character to offer, I have to state that, during the time specified in the Order, I have received the following fees from the undernamed students in attendance on my Theological Class, viz:

John Jennings, A. B.	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	2	-
Franklin Bradley	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	2	-
TOTAL										4	4	-

From another student, the son of a brother minister, who attended my Theological Class during the same period, I declined accepting any fee, and I have never hitherto accepted the fees to which I am entitled from students attending my Hebrew, Chaldee and Syriac Classes. The foregoing, together with the Government allowance of 150*l.* per annum, constitutes the whole of my income and emolument as Professor for the period specified.

(signed) J. Scott Porter,
Professor of Hebrew and Theology.

Belfast, 4 January 1855.

I take this opportunity of supplying an accidental omission in my Return to the Order of the 20th July 1854, as printed in the Session Paper 259, p. 8, by stating that the congregational income or stipend paid to me by the members of my congregation, amounts to 120*l.* per annum. This was duly stated in the original draught of my return, but has been omitted either by myself in copying, or by the printer.

Belfast, 4 January 1855.

Commissioners were elected under Towns Improvement Act, 3 January 1854.

Each Commissioner is qualified by holding a dwelling-house within the town, rated at 12*l.* or upwards.

In this case the Lord Chancellor has been pleased to appoint Thomas A. Shillington, Esq., a justice of the peace for the town, a Commissioner not being chairman; the Chairman at that time was John Obins Woodhouse, Esq.

John J. Marlay, Chairman.
Thomas Guy, Clerk.

Note.—The cost of the revision of the valuation in some of the counties as given in this Schedule appears to bear a higher proportion than in other counties; this arose from the circumstance that the first revision was either completed or in a forward state, under the provisions of 15 & 16 Vict. cap. 63, when the Valuation Amendment Act, 17 Vict. cap. 8, was passed, under which various descriptions of property which had previously been exempt were rendered liable to Grand Jury rates, hence it became necessary to cancel the County Valuation Lists previously made out at considerable cost, and prepare new ones for the Treasurers of the counties so circumstanced; in addition to which a large amount of property, such as buildings, railways, tolls, gas and waterworks, had to be valued for the first time, subject to appeals and the cost consequent thereon. New revised maps were also required for all the towns and closely inhabited districts, but from the perfect state of the present valuation books and maps it is probable that the cost of the annual revisions will in future be less considerable. It is to be observed that the cost of the annual revisions generally, under the present Act, is much increased by the necessity of preparing a double set of corrected Schedules arranged in separate tenements, both for the several Poor Law Unions and the County Treasurer's Office, and in some cases the County Grand Jury require that two copies of the several Schedules should be supplied to the County Treasurer.

Abbeyleix - -	30 Jan. 1852	2	{ May 1853 May 1854	That portion of the Order requiring a “Return of the Cost of each Revision of each Union” cannot be complied with, as the accounts have not been kept by unions, but by counties, and consequently I am unable to ascertain the expenditure on any particular locality from the general account with the county; in addition to which, it is not always found practicable even to charge the expenditure under the head of Revision, although it may have been partially incurred on that account, as it has frequently happened that a portion of a county first completed has been put into operation for poor rating, and in consequence a revision of that portion was required, while the remainder of the county was still in progress of valuation; and as it is necessary, in the first instance, to close the account with the county for making the valuation generally, before a revision account can be opened, the cost of revisions in all cases, as above mentioned, was included in the general account for making the valuation of the county.

REPORT.

SIR, Highland and Agricultural Society,
Edinburgh, 23d January 1855.

I HAVE now, on behalf of the Highland and Agricultural Society, the honor of submitting to the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade the results of the inquiry into the Agricultural Statistics of Scotland.

I regret having been unable to make this Report at an earlier period. The difficulties, however, by which the progress of the inquiry has been impeded, are for the most part incidental to the first introduction of the measure, and unlikely therefore to recur.

I have already, in an interim Report, dated the 20th September 1854, adverted to some of these obstructions, and I may repeat, that the difficulty of procuring accurate lists of occupants was the one most productive of trouble and delay. It was supposed that such lists might have been obtained before the end of July, and arrangements were therefore made for taking acreage and stock as at 21st of August; but, in some instances, the lists were not furnished, and consequently schedules could not be issued till towards the beginning of November.

The proceedings were further complicated by the great inaccuracy of many of these lists, persons who had left the country or were dead being frequently inserted, while the names of actual occupants were improperly repeated, which occasioned much unnecessary correspondence and annoyance, in the form of pressing applications to parties who had already made their returns, but who, from appearing more than once in a list, were seemingly in arrear.

This point may be dismissed with the observation, that the manner in which the roll of occupants has now been purged, and the means at command for revising it, are such as will in future effectually obviate a recurrence of the expense and delay which its preparation has this year involved.

With regard to the general success of the inquiry, I have it in my power to report most favorably to my Lords.

The Scotch farmers, as a body, at once recognized the importance and utility of the measure, and endeavoured to support and forward it by readily and faithfully affording the information required from them; and it is due to the small minority by whom the policy of the inquiry may have been questioned, or its objects misapprehended, to state, that they, in general, waived their objections, and abstained from interfering with the success of a measure approved of by the bulk of their fellow farmers. The exceptional instances of positive opposition and refusal have been extremely rare, and in but few of these have I experienced any difficulty in obtaining authentic information from other sources; the schedules still unreturned or unaccounted for do not amount to one fifth of one per cent of the number issued.

I have explained in the interim Report the system of agency and correspondence established over the country, by the aid of nearly 1100 tenant farmers, acting as enumerators of districts and as members of committee for parishes; and I cannot too highly eulogise their energy and perseverance, more particularly as, from the innaccuracy of the lists, the novelty of the measure, and the objections by which it was at first occasionally met, they were exposed to a much greater amount of personal trouble than was contemplated or will again be required. Many members of committee, indeed, mistaking the extent of their duties, went the length of ascertaining and reporting the exact acreage of all the crops in their respective parishes. This labour, though uncalled for, was far from being thrown away, as it afforded me the means of sometimes testing, and, I am happy to say, of confirming the accuracy of individual returns from the same localities. I am enabled, on my own knowledge, to speak as to the value and cordiality of the assistance generally rendered by all members of committee, especially in regard to reducing the arrear lists, while the enumerators of districts concur in representing the pains and anxiety evinced by their committees in estimating the averages of the crops.

The Tables appended to this Report are four in number.

Table No. 1. contains the acreage of the different crops and the amount of stock in each county. It is necessary, however, to observe that the "total" acreage is far from representing the superficial area of Scotland; it merely indicates the acreage which has been returned under the present inquiry, and which, for the following reasons, is necessarily much short of the actual area of the country:

1st. As hill farms are let, not by the acre, but by the stock they can maintain, and as the Ordnance Survey has been completed in only two or three counties, sheep farmers are frequently in ignorance or have but a very vague knowledge of the extent of land they occupy; hence, in many instances, the acreage of sheepwalks is not returned, though the stock itself is stated.

2nd. As the issue of schedules to Highland crofters, or to occupants of the smaller holdings in the Lowlands, would have been useless, it was early resolved to send them only to tenants rented at not less than 20% in Highland, and 10% in Lowland districts; consequently, Table No. 1. does not include the land occupied by such persons. In some of the northern counties, in Orkney, and especially in Shetland, the acreage so omitted is very considerable.

I have already, in the interim Report, explained that materials have been obtained from the local committees which will enable me to ascertain the extent of land in the hands of these small tenants, and the amount of their crop and stock. This information, however, I propose reserving for a supplementary report, being unwilling to retard the publication of the more important results. It is, besides, of too general a character to be tabulated with the other more detailed and exact returns.

3d. A certain number of persons have failed to make returns, consequently their acreage is not included in Table No. 1. The real extent of this deficiency, though trifling, is difficult exactly to estimate, as the mere number of outstanding schedules affords no proper criterion. In round numbers about 50,000 schedules were issued, and of these about 100 are unaccounted for, giving an apparent shortcoming of one fifth of one per cent.; but even this is subject to deduction, as some of the apparent defaulters are said to have made their returns in schedules applicable to other holdings; while the few who have really neglected or declined to give information are generally the smallest class of farmers. I have therefore reason to believe that the outstanding schedules represent only a minute fraction of a per-centage of the agricultural occupancy of the country.

It will be apparent from the foregoing observations that the stock stated in Table No. 1. is also short of the reality, in so far as relates to animals in the possession of small tenants, which have yet to be reported on, and of parties who have neglected to make returns. I should further observe, that the returns obtained cannot this year be regarded as strictly correct. Stock is frequently shifting, and the same animals may occasionally be returned by different persons, unless the whole are taken throughout the country on a given day. The term fixed upon was the 21st of August; but, for the reason already given, many farmers did not receive their schedules till long after that date, and stock may in some cases have been subjected to a double return. Strict accuracy in point of numbers has thus perhaps been interfered with, but the practicability of obtaining the information required has not the less been established.

Table No. 2. contains the gross produce of the principal grain and roots crops in 31 counties;

Table No. 3. the average acreable produce of such crops in each of these counties; and

Table No. 4. the average acreable produce of all crops estimated per districts or subdivisions of counties.

These Tables are so much interlaced that the same explanatory observations apply to all.

Table No. 4. consisting of the averages returned by the different district committees, forms the foundation of the other two. In some cases, where I had been able to give an enumerator the acreage of the different crops in each of his parishes, one average was reported for the district, but more frequently the averages were applicable to parishes; in the latter case a mean average for the district was carefully calculated, and in all cases the Scotch measure was converted to imperial.

As the averages of parishes afforded the data for arriving at that of a district in Table No. 4., so those of districts enabled a general average to be calculated for a county, as in Table No. 3.

Table No. 2. is formed by using the averages in Table No. 3. as a multiple of the acreage in Table No. 1., and exhibits the gross produce of certain crops in each county. The accuracy of the Table has been tested by calculating the produce of each district of a county by its own acreage and average, and by adding the results, which correspond with the gross produce arrived at by means of the general average and acreage.

The columns for Orkney and Shetland, in Tables 2., 3., and 4., are blank, no estimate of produce having been received from Shetland, and these from Orkney representing too small a portion of the district to warrant me in adopting them as a general average. The acreage returns for these islands should, perhaps, have also been omitted from Table 1., so much of Orkney and the greater part of Shetland being in the occupancy of persons rented at less than 20%, and therefore not represented in the Table. It was considered interesting, however, to show the crops which are raised in that county.

It will be observed that the statement of gross produce is confined to wheat, barley, oats, bere, beans, potatoes, and turnips. These constitute the principal cereal and root crops of Scotland, and it was only for these that estimates were obtained from every district, enumerators having very properly avoided estimates of such crops as are cut green for forage, or of mangold, carrot, cabbage, &c., in districts where these are not accurately known. The omissions ensure greater accuracy, and otherwise are unimportant, as the crops excluded are grown to but a limited extent. The averages, and consequently the gross produce, of potatoes, in different counties, must be taken with considerable allowance. In many parts of the country the crop was greatly diseased, and I find that the estimates in some instances refer to the gross, and in others to the sound produce. Discrepancies in turnip averages have also arisen from some estimates having been taken at a later period than others, and from the crop, in consequence of the mildness of the season, having increased during the interval.

I have already observed, that the committees intrusted with the charge of estimating produce adopted every precaution, and evinced the utmost anxiety, to arrive at sound and earnest conclusions; and I feel assured that if my Lords were fully aware of the faithful manner in which the duty was discharged they would not hesitate to accept with confidence the estimates which have been reported.

In my own office every possible care has been taken to guard against error in the calculations; some trivial inaccuracies may be detected, but none, it is to be hoped, of any moment.

In addition to the four Tables, there are Appendices 1 and 2. It was thought desirable to obtain some data for judging how far the crop of 1854 should be regarded as in excess or deficiency of an average one, and enumerators were accordingly requested to state what was considered by them and their committees to have been the average of the five preceding years. In most districts this information has been afforded; but in some, where the means of estimating retrospectively did not exist, enumerators properly made no report. The results, though interesting, are not sufficiently precise for tabulation; and, being necessarily more precarious than the carefully prepared estimates for 1854, they have been stated generally in Appendix No. 1.

Appendix No. 2. contains a list of the districts into which counties were divided, and is necessary as a key to Table No. 4. and to Appendix No. 1.

In conclusion, I would venture to express a hope that the inquiry has been conducted so as to merit the approbation of my Lords, and that the measure of success attained may be regarded by them as satisfactory.

I have, &c.

James Booth, Esq.

J. HALL MAXWELL.

APPENDIX No. 1.

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT showing how far Crop 1854 has been estimated as in excess or deficiency of the average of the five preceding years.

1.—COUNTY OF ABERDEEN.

District No. 1.—In twenty parishes the Cereals are from two to twelve bushels in excess. The excess is greatest in Oats, which in some instances are twelve, fourteen, and even seventeen bushels above the average of the last five years. The Root crop is in some cases rather deficient. No report from Kinnellor, Dyce, Newhills, Midmar, or Skene.

2.—Cereals six bushels in excess. Turnips a third deficient; and Potatoes scarcely half a crop.

3.—Cereals from one twelfth to one fifth in excess, except in Aberdour, Pitsligo, and Tyrie, where an average. Turnips generally an average.

AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS (SCOTLAND).

REPORT of the HIGHLAND SOCIETY to the Board of Trade on the AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS of SMALL HOLDINGS in Scotland, for 1854 (in completion of the Inquiry for that Year); also, TABLES of the AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS of Orkney, for 1854, received from the Highland Society subsequent to the presentation of their General Report.

I.—REPORT of the HIGHLAND SOCIETY to the Board of Trade on the AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS of SMALL HOLDINGS in Scotland, for 1854.

Highland and Agricultural Society of Scotland, Edinburgh, 20 June 1855.

Sir,

I AM now enabled to close the inquiry into the Agricultural Statistics of Scotland for 1854, by submitting to my Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade, Returns applicable to that class of agricultural occupants not included in my Report of the 23d of January.

It will be in the recollection of my Lords that it was considered inexpedient to ask information directly from the smaller tenants, from an apprehension that many of them would be unable to comprehend the inquiries made, and to complete the schedules served on them, and that it was resolved to obtain through other channels general returns in reference to other holdings. In determining the point where the issue of schedules should cease, it was found necessary to draw a distinction between the Lowland and the Highland districts. In the former it was believed that schedules might safely be sent to all persons paying a rent of 10 l. and upwards; in the latter it was represented that it would be unavailing to seek direct information from parties rented at less than 20 l.

The Tables appended embrace returns for 16,144 occupants under 10 l. in 26 counties, and for 26,085 under 20 l. in 7 counties; there is thus apparently a county in excess, which arises from Bute and Arran having been divided, the one island being placed in the 10 l., and the other in the 20 l. category.

I should further mention, that in Caithness schedules were originally served on all occupants at 10 l. and upwards, but that, owing to the nature of its crofter population, it has been found advisable to alter this arrangement, and to apply the 20 l. rule. The present returns, therefore, repeat a certain extent of acreage and amount of stock included in my former Report; and, in order to prevent an over-estimate of the statistics of Caithness, there must be deducted from the Returns in that Report 8,089 acres, and 6,202 head of stock.

Owing to the number of small occupants to be dealt with, almost equalling that of the tenantry of the country, and to the difficulty of finding the proper parties from whom to obtain information, the preparation of the Returns now submitted has involved a greater amount of time and labour than was anticipated. It is just, however, to record that under this section of the inquiry I experienced the same co-operation, and received the same assistance as I already have had occasion to report upon so favourably to my Lords; and I cannot but avail myself of this opportunity to state the obligations under which the public lies, not only to the farmers officially engaged in conducting the inquiry, but to the many proprietors, agents, factors of estates, inspectors of poor, and others, through whose assistance the Returns have been compiled.

Every precaution has been taken to make the Returns as accurate as possible. They are necessarily of a more general character than those made by schedule, and in some respects they are rather approximative to, than strictly statements of the fact. In most cases the exact number of occupiers could be correctly ascertained, and has been accurately returned; stock, also, was susceptible of a strict enumeration; acreage, on the other hand, had frequently to be estimated; in Shetland, particularly, the returns of acreage must be taken with considerable allowance. I had the advantage of obtaining from most of these islands very intelligent returns, carefully prepared by the parochial schoolmasters, and embracing valuable information; but as the land is there almost exclusively held under the "merk," a Norwegian measure of extent of fluctuating character, it was frequently difficult to arrive at correct data for determining acreage.

RETURNS RELATING TO

I have already informed my Lords that it is not proposed in the meantime to repeat these returns. The variations incidental to such small holdings, and the extent to which they could affect the general results, as regards the stock and crop of the country at large, are too immaterial to necessitate the labour and expense which an annual repetition of this section of the inquiry would involve.

James Booth, Esq.

I have, &c.
(signed) J. Hall Maxwell.

OBSERVATIONS.
First Division	-	200	658* 90	228	Ordinary - 94 Jury - 3	* There are many cases, which, being of the nature of unopposed proceedings, cannot be classed as "litigated causes," but which nevertheless do not "pass as matters of form;" e. g. applications for authority to disentail, or to grant feus of portions of entailed estates, or to charge entailed estates with sums of money or bonds of annual rent, or for authority to apply money derived from sales of portions of entailed estates, or for authority to sell portions of estates belonging to pupils or lunatics, or other estates and similar cases, the authority and power of which renders necessary in many cases much procedure and discussion, both as to fact and law, before the Court is fully satisfied that the application should be granted, or as sometimes is the result, should be refused. These cases not being in a strict sense "litigated causes," are included in the cases returned under the word "Form," being the only other class which the statutory schedule affords, although it would be altogether incorrect to say that they "have passed as matters of form." The number of final judgments pronounced in such cases is not included in the return of final judgments, these being limited by the statutory schedule to "litigated causes."

* Return not received.

Note.—This Return does not embrace the information called for with reference to the Court of Justiciary and Sheriff Courts for the year 1853; that is, the year from Whitsunday 1852 to Whitsunday 1853. On application to the Queen's and Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer at Exchequer, that officer reports that he cannot furnish the information desired to any later date, the Sheriff's accounts not being "finally audited, nor indeed wholly lodged, subsequently to 15 May 1852."

John C. Brodie,
Crown Agent for Scotland.

CRIMINAL PROSECUTIONS (SCOTLAND).

RETURN showing the Amount paid for Expenses of CRIMINAL PROSECUTIONS in each County, City, and Burgh, in Scotland, at each High and Circuit Court of Justiciary, Sheriffs, Justices, and Burgh Courts, in each Year since 1846; stating, also, the Fund from which the Expenses were paid, and distinguishing High Crimes from Minor Offences.

(Mr. Hume.)

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed, 24 January 1855.

CROWN LANDS (SCOTLAND).

RETURN to an Address of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 15 June 1855;—for,

A “RETURN showing the Gross Amount realised from the SALE of CROWN LANDS in Scotland for each Year, for Ten Years prior to the 5th day of October 1854, and from the RENTS or PRODUCE thereof for the same Period :”

“And of the EXPENSE attending the COLLECTION thereof, and how the Balances have been appropriated.”

RETURN of Gross Amount realised from SALES of CROWN LANDS in Scotland, for each of the Ten Years ending with 5th October 1854.

RETURN of the EXPENSES attending the COLLECTION thereof, and how the Balances have been appropriated.

THE expenses of the collection of the rents and produce of the Crown Lands, during the above period, have been a commission of 5 per cent. on the amounts collected in all cases, except as regards the Crown Lands in Orkney, the rents of which are collected by a Chamberlain, together with the feu-duties payable to the Crown in money and victual, at an annual salary, and allowances. Immediately preceding the year 1845, the salary, together with an allowance for a clerk, amounted to 360*l.* per annum, with the occupation of a house and 20 acres of land, subsequently reduced in 1851 to 200*l.* per annum, for salary and allowance for a clerk, without the house and land previously enjoyed by the Chamberlain. The balances of the rents, after the discharge of Minister's stipend, and all local burdens affecting the Crown lands, have been appropriated under the provisions of the 113th Section of the Act 10 Geo. 4, c. 50.

The period up to which this return is required in each year, viz., the 5th October, not being a term of payment, or charge of rent known in Scotland, the several amounts above stated are necessarily brought down to the term of Martinmas (11th November) in each year, from the same term in the preceding year, thus embracing the gross amount realised from the rents and produce of the Crown Lands within the period of each year.

James Howard,
Commissioner in charge of the Land Revenue in Scotland.

Office of Woods, &c., }
31 July 1855. }

CROWN LANDS (SCOTLAND).

A RETURN showing the Gross Amount realised from the Sale of CROWN LANDS in Scotland, for each Year, for Ten Years prior to 5th October 1854, and from the RENTS or PRODUCE thereof for the same Period; and of the EXPENSE attending the Collection thereof.

Notes.—The above Abstract is prepared from the last Annual Returns received by the Board of Supervision from the inspectors of the poor, being for the year ended 14 May 1854. Columns 2 and 3. All parishes in Scotland are not assessed, and some of those that are assessed do not levy the rate exclusively upon the rental of real property. There are no Parliamentary or other documents which can show the “ Amount of Property on which Poor Rate is levied.” The sums entered under column 2 show the annual value of real property according to Returns laid before Parliament for the year 1843. Column 5 shows the total expenditure on account of registered and casual poor, exclusive of medical relief or management.

Columns 5 and 8. In addition to their ordinary allowances, paupers in the Highlands and Islands are for the most part furnished with houses, garden ground, and fuel, for which no charge is made on the funds of the parochial boards, and of the value of which therefore no return can be made.

Column 9 shows the expenditure on “ Management,” including salaries of officials, postages, stationery, and other “ Establishment ” charges.

Board of Supervision, Edinburgh, 3 January 1855.
